TOWN TALK

New hires won't be named

Selectmen will no longer name new hires and committee appointees at meetings. Instead they will vote to fill the positions "as printed in the agenda."

Previously, each name was read aloud and could be heard by those attending or watching the cable recording. With the new policy comes a pledge to make the list of hires and committee appointments available at meetings and online, posted with each meeting agenda on andoverma.gov.

Selectman Jerry Stabile Jr. instituted the practice of not reading the names aloud shortly after becoming board chairman this spring, as a way to speed up meetings. The practice came official July 12 with no discussion and a 4-0 vote; Selectman Alex Vispoli was absent.

A July 8 Townsman story and editorial highlighted the change in meeting procedure, and a Web question polled residents' opinions on the issue, giving them six possible responses. More than 60 percent of readers responding to our online poll as of Tuesday afternoon chose "All names should be read aloud."

At the July 12 meeting, Stabile said he was "thankful for the attention (the issue) received," as it spurred the board to begin posting the list of hires online and make copies available at meetings.

Town watchdog Mary Carbone, who has been against the change, noted that although the list of names will now be more accessible, the salaries of each position are not included.

Dog park sidetracked

Two years after residents approved the idea, a proposed dog park for Andover seems to have barked up the wrong tree.

Key supporter and local lawyer Peter Cotch said the issue has "fallen through the cracks."

Andover voters at 2008 Town Meeting approved the plan of creating a dog park where Fido could frolic off his leash, but due to budget constraints the estimated $10,000 price tag was withheld from the warrant article. Andover lawyer Deborah Anthony and Cotch planned to raise the money, but that never happened. The two no longer work at the same law firm.

"I still think it's a great idea," said Cotch, adding he believes the Bowling Green park on Balmoral Street would be a great location.

"Mr. Wood would be smiling down, if you ask me," Cotch added, referring to mill magnate William Wood who once owned the land.

2 big projects, 1 night eyed for vote

Fall Town Meeting considered for Bancroft, town yard approval

Residents may be asked to approve an approximately $35 million new school and $22 million plan for a new town yard in one night this fall. No date has been set for a Special Town Meeting yet, but Town Meeting approval and a secret-ballot election vote will be needed to move the town yard to Dascomb Road and to build a school to replace Bancroft Elementary. The plans for both large projects are expected to be finalized before winter.

The Town Yard Task Force and School Building Committee will discuss possible dates for a Special Town Meeting in separate meetings this week.

It would make sense, both for timing and cost, to have residents vote on both projects at one Special Town Meeting, possibly in December, said Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski.

"It's possible to do both Bancroft and town yard in one meeting. It saves cost. Town Meetings are expensive events to put on," said Stapczynski.

The town's School Building Committee is in the throes of drafting a schematic design for the new school, a design due to the Massachusetts School Building Authority in mid-November. If the design is approved by the MSBA, Andover will have 120 days to receive resident approval in both a Town Meeting and ballot vote for a debt-exclusion override. Debt-exclusion overrides

Town keeping up with water use

Residents asked to conserve, 2/3 less sold out-of-town

By BETHANY BRAY
STAFF WRITER

As a sweltering heat wave hit Andover last week, the water treatment plant had trouble keeping up with demand for water and town leaders called for residents to curb their water use.

The voluntary water ban of July 7, 8 and 9 – and a soaking rain over the weekend – seems to have prevented a more serious problem.

"At the height of that hot dry spell, we were losing a foot in our main tank per day, and each foot is 400,000 gallons. As fast as we were pumping it, it was being used," said Jack Petkus, director of the Department of Public Works July 13. "Over the weekend we caught up, and now the tanks are just about full. A long, hot, dry spell like that can be an issue."

During the heat wave, Andover also cut back the amount of water sold to the town of North Reading by two-thirds, said Petkus. A contract between the two towns allows wholesale quantities of water to be sold and pumped from Andover to North Reading.

"We totally shut down one connector (from Andover to North Reading)," said Petkus on July 9. "We work for Andover first, but we don't want to put anyone in a crisis. North Reading is in a (mandatory) water ban. They're always one step ahead of us (in restricting water). The important thing is we're not shutting them off completely. We don't want to

Water Treatment Plant leader retires as investigation continues

By BETHANY BRAY
STAFF WRITER

As an investigation into possible employee misconduct at the water treatment plant continues, Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski said this week that John Pollano, superintendent of the plant, retired on June 30.

Pollano, who is in his 60s, was hired Dec. 7, 1981, according to the town's human resources department.

Stapczynski would not say whether Pollano's retirement was planned or related to the ongoing investigation at the water treatment plant.

"Pollano has retired from his position with the town," said Stapczynski July 13. "I can't make any further comments."

On June 23, Stapczynski confirmed police and the district attorney's office were investigating "alleged improprieties by an employee or employees of the town of Andover water treatment plant," but has not given any further information.

The water treatment plant on Lowell Street is one of seven divisions within the Department of Public Works.

When asked about the investigation, DPW Director Jack Petkus, said there was a closed-door personnel hearing on July 12, but he was not in attendance. Petkus said he could not comment on the hearing, saying, "I have no idea what came out of it or who was involved."

WATER: Residents asked to voluntarily reduce use as region's dry spell continues

Each year, Andover’s water treatment plant pumps and treats 2.2 billion gallons of water from Haggetts Pond, which is fed by the Merrimack River via Fish Brook.
During the summer, water use triples because of outdoor use, said Petkus, including people watering lawns and filling swimming pools. In the winter, Andover uses roughly five million gallons per day. In the summer, that number can reach 15 million gallons, he said.
“Of all the water we produce in a year, 12 percent is for residential irrigation purposes, but that occurs over three months (in the summer),” said Petkus. “It’s much better to save the water for domestic and public safety use.”

Manager addresses recent voluntary water restrictions

Town Manager Buzz Stapeczynski sent the following letter to acknowledge residents' willingness to cut back on water use during the recent stretch of blistering temperatures, and to offer suggestions on what additional steps people can take.
Editor, Townsman:
I would like to thank Andover residents and businesses for their successful efforts in reducing outdoor water use during the heat wave this past week.
Seasonal water use accounts for two-thirds of the water produced each day from mid-June until mid-September. This increase in use reflects 6,300 gallons per minute that is applied primarily to lawns by irrigation systems and sprinklers.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Andover is recognized as a Greenscapes community. As such, I encourage all residents and businesses to utilize our drinking water resources in a responsible manner. During these hot summer months, everyone can conserve by:
■ Watering only at dawn or after dusk – the best times for the health of your lawn
■ Utilizing rain barrels to reuse water on a sunny day
■ Using the ‘walk test’ to determine if watering is necessary

■ Maintaining irrigation systems to prevent leaks and waste
■ Watering plants, not pavement
For more cost-effective ways to conserve water usage, please visit greenscapes.org and be sure to pick up Greenscapes materials available both at Memorial Hall Library and Town Offices at 36 Bartlet St.
I appreciate your continued efforts to use our vital natural resource in a responsible manner, thereby protecting the quality and quantity of drinking water for all of us.

REGINALD S. STAPCZYNSKI
Town Manager

Brown grass is a badge people should be proud of. If you have a brown lawn it shows you care about your environment.”

On Monday, Town Manager Buzz Stapeczynski asked that people continue to conserve water, and water their lawns only every other day.

“It’s a not a supply problem but a demand problem,” said Stapeczynski.
Petkus said Haggetts Pond is within nine inches of being full this week.

“It’s just getting (the treated water) out the door,” he said.

Andover’s contract with North Reading allows for 1.568 million gallons to be sold per day year-round, said Petkus. For fiscal year 2010, which ended June 30, Andover took in $1,339,686 from selling water to North Reading, said Town Treasurer David Reilly.

“When that money comes in, it’s almost pure revenue. We’re producing water 24/7 already. Our marginal cost is to the chemicals to treat it and the electricity to pump it. There are no labor or capital costs” because the town is already paying those costs to treat water for Andover, said Petkus.
North Reading’s water treatment plant draws from the Ipswich River basin, which is a depleted basin, said Petkus. North Reading has a seasonal water rate, which spikes in the summer to discourage overuse, he said. Andover’s rate does not change from season to season.

MEETING: Vote may come in fall on 2 major projects

allow towns to temporarily raise taxes above the limits set by Proposition 2 1/2, to pay for specific projects.
The state would pay a minimum of 40 percent of the cost of the new school.
The Town Yard Task Force has extended an agreement through October with Brockway-Smith to purchase the company’s Dascomb Road warehouse as a site for a new town yard. Officials brought a $21.9 million proposal to purchase the 24-acre property and 274,400 square foot warehouse at 146 Dascomb Road with a debt exclusion override, retrofitting the property as a town yard, to April Town Meeting, but withdrew it from the floor.

Outgoing Town Clerk Randy Hanson said it is possible a Special Town Meeting could be held in December and with residents casting ballots for a debt exclusion overrides of Proposition 2 1/2 for the Bancroft and town yard projects in January.
“The town is very careful with the money they spend, and I anticipate they would run them together (putting Bancroft and town yard in one Special Town Meeting),” said Hanson.

Selectmen would determine how long the Special Town Meeting warrant would remain open, allowing residents to submit private articles.
The Conservation Commission is working on a third item for approval at a Special Town Meeting, said Stapeczynski. Voter approval is needed to apply for a state grant to reimburse the town for part of the $467,000 approved at Town Meeting in April to purchase 5.29 acres of land at Fosters Pond for conservation.

Bancroft Elementary, built in 1969 in a neighborhood near Phillips Academy, has structural problems.
The town yard, located on a roughly three-acre parcel off Lewis Street, has fuel pumps and a maintenance garage for town vehicles, salt and sand for winter roads and overnight parking for some, but not all, of the town’s vehicle fleet. Town leaders say the buildings, which were intended to be temporary structures, have structural problems, and the site is too small for what is needed to service the town.

HOME: Will be moved to make way for library parking

Town records show 16 Pearson St. as being assessed at a value of $257,900. But the value has decreased, Bucuzzo said, and the home is assessed at $87,770 for 2010. The home has 1,045 square feet. Shirley Schwarz said there is no bathroom or kitchen in the home.
The home’s history dates back to at least 1855. Karen Herman, chairwoman of the Preservation Committee, said the home on Pearson may be even older. Its deed is currently being researched by the committee, she said.
“It’s from Andover in the first quarter of the 19th century,” she said. “We’re just thrilled about saving the house.”
Herman plans to attend tonight’s zoning board meeting in support of the Schwarz family’s plan. The couple was recognized for renovation work done at their current property and for a home they formerly owned at 293 Salem St. in Andover. Their architect is Rob Bramhall of Andover.

“This is just a good project for the town,” Herman said.
Stapeczynski called the sale a “win-win for everybody” at the selectmen’s meeting.

Selectman Mary Lyman agreed, noting the sale will save the town the cost of having to tear down the home.
In an e-mail to the Townsman, Bucuzzo called the sale “a multiple win solution for the town.”
“It clears the structure off the parcel to make way for the parking lot; preserves a historical house within Andover; avoids the expenditure for demolition and keeps the structure on the tax rolls,” he wrote.
Selectmen voted 4-0 to approve the sale, with Selectman Alex Vispoli absent from the meeting. If all goes well at the tonight’s zoning meeting on July 15, Shirley Schwarz said the home on Pearson Street will be moved to Shaw Drive in October.

Summer Heat and Dehydration

The summer season is finally upon us. When the temperature and humidity rise, it is time to think about preventing dehydration and other heat related illnesses including heat exhaustion and heat stroke. Many people, especially the elderly, take medications such as diuretics that make them more prone to medical complications in hot weather. This summer, please take the following steps to protect yourself from the heat:

- Use an air conditioner to keep rooms cool. If air conditioning is not available, open windows on opposite ends of your home or apartment to create cross ventilations and increase air flow
  - Wear light colored, loose fitting clothing
  - Use sun block when going outside, even for a short period of time
  - Wear a hat that covers your head and shades your face
  - Wear sunglasses to protect your eyes from the damaging rays of the sun
  - Eat small, more frequent meals and avoid high protein foods such as pasta and beans
  - Slow down and avoid strenuous activity
  - Drink plenty of water to make up for the loss of fluids due to sweat. Drink water regularly during the day, even if you do not feel thirsty. By the time you are feeling the effects of thirst, you are probably already dehydrated. Avoid drinks containing caffeine and limit alcohol on hot days.
- Finally, be a good neighbor. Remember to check on your elderly neighbors to insure their health and safety, especially during prolonged periods of high heat.

Exhibit honors life, legacy of Paul Tsongas

The life and legacy of the late U.S. Sen. Paul Tsongas is celebrated in a new permanent exhibit at the Tsongas Center at the University of Massachusetts Lowell, 300 Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard, Lowell.

"A Journey of Purpose: The Paul E. Tsongas Exhibit" covers his career in public service from volunteering in the Peace Corps to returning to his native Lowell and subsequent runs for office, from the Lowell City Council to the U.S. House of Representatives and Senate. His final campaign was for the 1992 Democratic nomination for president when Tsongas went head-to-head with Bill Clinton. Tsongas died in 1997 at age 55 following complications from treatment of a recurrence of non-Hodgkin's lymphoma.

During his years of public service, Tsongas was a champion not only for Lowell and the Merrimack Valley, but also for national causes including economic reform, equal rights, peace and justice, and environmental protection. Tsongas co-founded the Concord Coalition, a bipartisan nonprofit group focused on national issues including the budget deficit.

The new exhibit grew out of the university's recent acquisition of the Tsongas Center, when Chancellor Marty Meehan determined more information about Paul Tsongas's leadership and legacy should be a permanent part of the building named for him. The exhibit, which features multimedia components including a video, replaces an earlier, smaller tribute and will be stationed near an existing mural of Tsongas in the center's lobby.

To research the exhibit, Paul

Marion, UMass Lowell's executive director of community and cultural affairs, who knew Tsongas, worked with the university's Center for Lowell History, the National Park Service and others in the community who were friends and colleagues of the late senator. Local firms Higgins and Ross and DGI-Invisals designed and built the exhibit.

Among those scheduled to attend the opening are Meehan, U.S. Rep. Niki Tsongas, university representatives and members of the community.

Silberstein endorsed by Mass chapter of NOW

Democratic candidate for State Senate Debbie Silberstein announced that she has been endorsed by Mass. NOW PAC, the political arm of the Massachusetts chapter of the National Organization for Women. Mass. NOW PAC endorses candidates who share their commitment to social justice and economic and reproductive rights for women.

"I am proud to have the endorsement of Mass. NOW PAC, an effective grassroots organization with a strong track record of advocacy on behalf of women and families" said Silberstein. "I am committed to using my skills and perspective not only as a community activist and lawyer but those gained as a mother to collaborate with others in crafting new solutions to the problems facing the people in this district."

Debbie Silberstein is a lawyer, small business owner, wife, mom and community activist. She is a former Finance Committee member and School Committee chair from Andover. Silberstein has a background in economics and a Ph.D. in social policy. She is seeking the Democratic nomination to replace retiring State Senator Susan Tucker, D-Andover. Her campaign has been endorsed by the Massachusetts Women's Political Caucus and the Massachusetts Chapter of the National Organization for Women.

Get help finding your passion, July 22

Northern Essex Community College's Life Long Learning Program will present a talk about finding your passion on Thursday, July 22 at 2 p.m. on the Haverhill campus in the Technology Center, Room 103. Admission is $2.

Local guest speaker William Bond, of Haverhill, will be on campus to talk about the journey of finding your passion. The process is very easy, according to Bond, who says "First you have to know your passion, and then you can pursue it. If you keep learning different things you can then take inventory of your passion."

Come listen to Bond speak and organizers say you will learn new ways to look at your talents, hobbies, or jobs. You may even want to write your own story of finding your passion. "After Bond's talk you will leave realizing that everyone has a story to tell and that it is never too late to pursue your passion," says a release.

New Works plays due July 18

The 2011 New Works Festival Committee is looking for new works by New England area playwrights and will accept full-length, one-act 30 to 60 minutes and 10-minute plays. The Firehouse Center, located in Market Square, Newburyport will run the four-day festival over two weekends, Jan. 21-22 and Jan. 28-29, 2011.

All works will be judged by a panel of five judges who are selected from the New England theatrical community. The festival will then be comprised of a combination of shorts, one act plays and full lengths selected from the submitted plays that are deemed strongest by the judges. During the festival the full-length plays will be staged readings while the others will be memorized. All submissions must be post-marked, or hand-delivered to Firehouse Center, Market Square, Newburyport, MA 01950; or e-mailed ONLY 10-minute plays may be e-mailed please! to info@firehouse.org by July 18, 2010. Prizes will be awarded for those plays selected as Best Full Length $150, Best One-Act $75, and Best 10-Minute $75.

For more information and to download submission guidelines and an application go online at firehouse.org.

Groups seek to recreate town's historic ballroom

Beginning this fall, The Crystal Ballroom, a historic town landmark, will be recreated at Old Town Hall, 20 Main St., Andover.

The Andovers Village at Home group and the Andover Senior Center say they "are urgently seeking photographs of events that took place at The Crystal Ballroom" to help with the effort.

For more information contact Judy Trerotola, the Andovers Village at Home at 978-623-0070.

July health clinics

The Andover Health Department will offer mini clinics on Monday, July 26, from 1 to 2 p.m. at Frye Circle. Senior-center clinics will be held 2 to 3 p.m. each Wednesday, July 21 and 28. No appointment necessary.

Y sweet on 'pickle ball'

Adult pickle ball is new to the Andover/North Andover YMCA on Haverhill Street in Andover. This sport is a combination of table tennis, badminton and tennis and is played in the gymnasium. Residents can come and watch. The game is easy to learn and fun, according to the Y. Sessions are Tuesdays from noon to 2:30 p.m. and Sundays from 5 to 7 p.m. For more information, contact Amy Quinlan at 978-685-3541.

Being on stage one of her favorite things

Andover's Katherine Hall in 'Sound of Music'

By BETHANY BRAY
 STAFF WRITER

Eleven-year-old Katherine Hall's summer is alive with "The Sound of Music."

Katherine, who will start sixth-grade at Doherty Middle School in August, is playing Marta Von Trapp in the Ogunquit Playhouse's summer run of the classic Rodgers and Hammerstein musical.

The experience combines two loves for Katherine: being on stage and summers in the Pine Tree State. The Hall family summers in York, Maine.

"I like the beaches in Maine. My family has been coming up there for a long time. My favorite thing to do is to go to Pebble Beach," said Katherine.

Although she's been in numerous musicals, this is Katherine's first experience with "The Sound of Music." Her favorite scene, she says, is when Maria and the Von Trapp children sing "The Lonely Goat Herd."

"It's different from the movie. There's no puppet show. It's during the thunderstorm. It's really fun to sing, and has fun movements to it too," she said. "I just love being on the stage. I just love singing and dancing, and meeting all the people (in the cast)."

All of the other Von Trapp children are from Maine, said Katherine, except for North Andover resident Nathan Ladd, who plays Kurt.

Nathan, 11, is going into sixth-grade at Andover School of Montessori. He has done shows with the local Acting Out Theatre Co. and is a veteran of the Ogunquit Playhouse, having done 10 shows there.

Nathan and Katherine's mothers are close friends and both families spend summers in Maine. The two budding actors have become friends through "The Sound of Music," said Katherine.

The show runs through July 24 at the Ogunquit Playhouse in costal Southern Maine. Captain Von Trapp is played by Rex Smith, who played Danny Zuko in the original Broadway debut of "Grease." Maria is played by Gail Bennet, who just finished a national tour of "Mary Poppins" as the title character.

As she started rehearsals mid-June, Katherine was impressed at how fast the professional production came together.

"The director (Gary John La Rosa) is really good. Usually my plays take a lot longer than two weeks to put together. It's really amazing how the director did it," she said.

Katherine is the daughter of Mary and Eric Hall. Besides musical theater, she likes to play soccer and the piano, dance and do taekwondo.

Jane Cairns of the Andover Historical Society speaks to a group of more than 50 at first of three 'Stories From the Trails' historical hikes on Sunday, June 27 in the AVIS Skug River Reservation in Andover. Here Cairns shares the history of the Jenkins mill and soapstone quarry site along the Skug River. The next 'Stories From the Trails' hike is scheduled for July 25 at 1 p.m. in the AVIS Goldsmith Woodlands on Route 28 in Andover.

Trails series continues July 25

The Andover Trails Committee and the Andover Historical Society are teaming up this season to create a three-part hike series in Andover called "Stories from the Trails."

"Each hike in this series will feature both the natural beauty and unique geology of the featured property, as well as the colorful stories of the history specifically related to each property," according to David Bunting of the trails group. The series, which is free and open to the public, began Sunday, June 27 at the AVIS Skug River Reservation in Andover and will continue with hikes on July 25 at the AVIS Goldsmith Woodlands Reservation and on Sept. 12 at Andover's Pole Hill Reservation. For more information, e-mail David Bunting, Andover Trails Committee member at dbunting@andovertrails.org.

Teen Shakespeare program travels to Valley

Rebel Shakespeare's Teen Intensive program is touring the North Shore and Merrimack Valley once again this July presenting "Othello," Shakespeare's classic tragedy examining themes of race, love, passion, jealousy, betrayal, murder and revenge.

All productions are free to the public. Picnics, folding chairs or blankets are recommended.

The program brings high school aged students from around the region together, where they have just a few short weeks to learn the play, discuss, block and rehearse it, before taking the show on the road. Some actors are new to the program, others have had many years with Shakespeare's works, starting as young campers with Rebel Shakespeare and working their way up through the program.

Ten shows are scheduled across the North Shore and Merrimack Valley from July 23 to Aug. 1.

Gold standard in ceramics

Olivia Li wins national recognition

Andover teenager Olivia Li was recognized recently as a National Gold Medal winner in ceramics by the Alliance of Artists and Writers from New York's Scholastic Magazine, said Jim Batchelder, Andover High School art teacher.

Li received her award at Carnegie Hall. One hundred sixty-five thousand American teenage artists and writers competed, and 700 students and teachers received gold medals. Li's was in ceramics.

Li also won a certificate and gold medal from a Boston newspaper's art competition this year.

Li is now a student at the School of Visual Arts in New York City, reports Batchelder.

She is the daughter of Peter and Jean Li of Copley Drive in Andover.

Andover YMCA is located at 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

Art wanted by Firehouse Center Gallery

The Firehouse Center Art Gallery is calling for submissions from artists for work to be exhibited in the gallery between March 15, 2011 and February 2012.

Submissions are now being accepted and the deadline is Aug. 16, 2010. The final selection of artists will be made by the Firehouse Visual Arts Committee by Oct. 30, 2010.

Artists may submit proposals for exhibition of two-dimensional work in any medium. Each exhibit will consist of 1 or 2 people, group or themed shows, and typically run for six weeks.

Submissions should include artist's statement and resume, 10 to 20 digital images of work indicative of the current style of the artist, a self-addressed stamped envelope for return of materials, $20 submission fee check made payable to Firehouse Center for the Arts, and a cover letter with name and contact information. Printed guidelines are available on the Firehouse Web site at firehouse.org.

The first floor gallery accommodates 18 average size, 18" X 24" art works. The Firehouse Visual Arts Committee reviews all submissions and selects artists for exhibition. The Firehouse Center Gallery has been displaying the work of New England artists since 1991.

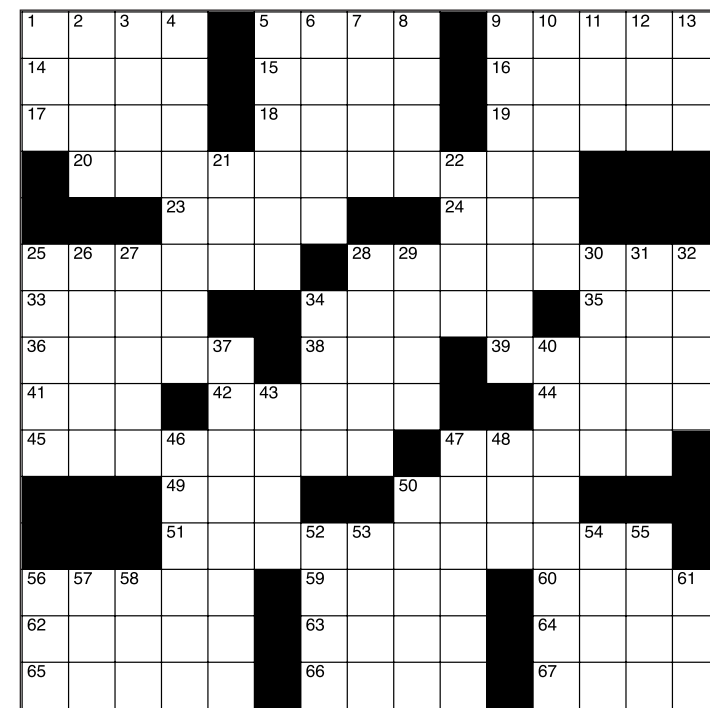

Submit all materials, including payment, by mail to the Firehouse. Art also may be hand-delivered to the box office addressed to:

Judy Hallberg - Gallery Submissions
Firehouse Center for the Arts
Market Square
Newburyport, MA 01950

The Firehouse Center Gallery hours are Wednesday through Sunday, noon to 5 p.m. For more information about the gallery, call the Firehouse box office at 978-462-7336.

Phyllis E.J. Ruggiero, 83

TEWKSBURY — Phyllis E.J. Ruggiero, beloved wife, mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, 83, of Tewksbury, a former employee of Andover's Phillips Academy, died Wednesday, July 7, 2010 at the Lahey Clinic Medical Center in Burlington.

She was the beloved wife of Michael Ruggiero, with whom she had celebrated a 64th wedding anniversary this past Sept. 17.

She was born in England, June 22, 1927, the daughter of the late Nathaniel and Mabel (Simmonds) Webb. She met her American born husband during his World War II Army posting in England while preparing for the D-Day invasion of Normandy. They married in 1945, and she emigrated to the U.S. at the end of his Army career in 1946.

They moved to Andover where they raised a family, and eventually retired to the Eagles Landing community in Tewksbury in 1999. She was a communicant of St. Augustine's as a resident of Andover, and most recently, St. William's in Tewksbury.

She worked full time as a wife and mother, and part time as a secretary at Andover's Phillips Academy. She enjoyed reading and 'in her day' it was common for her to read up to three books or novels per week.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Jacqueline Berube and her husband Richard of Cape Porpoise, Maine, and Janet Burgess of Portland, Maine; a son, Michael C. Ruggiero and his wife Deborah of Westford; six grandchildren, Jayne Berube, Jared Berube, Morris Burgess, Rachael Burgess, Kaitlyn Ruggiero and Emily Ruggiero; one great-grandson, Kyle Berube; and several nieces and nephews. She was also sister of the late Frederick "Jack" Webb.

ARRANGEMENTS: Relatives and friends were received Thursday, July 8, from 6 to 7 p.m. in the Tewksbury Funeral Home, corner of Dewey and Main Streets (Route 38), Tewksbury Center. Her funeral was Friday at 10:30 a.m. from the funeral home, followed by a funeral Mass at 11:30 a.m. in St. William's Church, 1351 Main St. (Route 38), Tewksbury. Burial followed at Tewksbury Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorials to Boys Town, Donor Services, P.O. ## For whom the bells toll? Academy boys lost in World War I

Andover Stories

Gail Ralston

Approaching the Phillips Academy campus, the first image most people see looming in the distance is the Memorial Bell Tower. The tower was originally named for Samuel Fuller, class of 1891, who donated $75,000 for its construction. It stands as a memorial to the 85 Phillips Academy men who died in service to the United States during World War I.

Architect Guy Lowell designed the bell tower in 1919, based on the steeple of Boston's Old South Meeting House. The original idea had been to place it on the west side of Main Street, where the main academy buildings were first constructed. When trustees decided in 1921 to design for the campus on the east side, where the Andover Theological Seminary once stood, the tower location was moved to its present spot. This is notable as the site of the Old Training Field where the young men of Andover prepared for some of the nation's early battles, including the American Revolution, the War of 1812 and the Civil War. The cornerstone was laid in a special ceremony following commencement exercises on June 16, 1922.

Over the years, many in Andover fondly recall Sunday afternoon carillon recitals, and then summer concerts, at which families would bring a picnic supper and sit on the Great Lawn. Lucky ones even participated in "open tower" sessions, at which time intrepid souls braved the 112 riser-less wooden stairs to the keyboard level.

In contrast to its physical beauty, the engineering flaws of the original tower forced a full restoration in 2005. Built originally of steel encased in brick, water easily penetrated the porous brick, and the steel began to rust and crack. A $5.15 million campaign provided the funds to rebuild the structure, brick by brick, from the ground up. The entire campus and town community watched the process with great interest.

Part of the effort turned its attention to the tower's beloved carillon. Originally, the memorial tower was to hold a set of bells to chime the hours, not a carillon. But during construction, school officials had traveled to Gloucester, England and were so taken with the Gloucester carillon, they decided to add one to Andover's tower. Andover's 37-bell carillon, completed in 1926 and one of the largest in the country, was produced by John Taylor Bellfoundry of Loughborough, England. The restoration project involved the cleaning and tuning of the English carillon bells, the addition of another series of bells from the Netherlands and the installation of an electronic carillon system with remote keyboard. Today's carillon combines 19 of the Taylor bells and 30 bells cast by the Royal Eijsbouts foundry in Astén, The Netherlands.

At noon on May 3, 2006, the bell tower sang out to the community after being silent for over a decade. While the old carillon rang the familiar Westminster chimes on the quarter hour, a campus committee selected the Parsifal chimes for the sense of newness it would bring the "new" tower in a new century.

"Andover Stories" is a weekly column about interesting local people, places and events, told in anticipation of the Andover Historical Society's 100 anniversary in 2011.

Benefits flow from town's water supply

Andover became a great town for many reasons. Its nearly unlimited water supply was one factor that helped it build a business tax base and allowed for the farming town to grow into a wealthy, expanding suburb. It's a benefit Andover people must always protect.

Water from the Merrimack River can be brought to the town drinking water supply, Haggetts Pond, through Fish Brook. Because of this ability, the town does not have a water shortage during times such as the difficult heat wave the region has been experiencing. While other communities must enact strict water bans, Andover this past week had a brief, voluntary ban on outdoor water use. It also continued to sell water to neighboring North Reading, although it did sell less than usual to ensure Andover water users would not have limited access.

Andover can sell water and use the revenue to offset its infrastructure maintenance. Its water availability allows for residential and business growth that keeps residents' property taxes more moderate than they otherwise might be. That has allowed Andover residents to approve projects other towns might not have been able to afford.

These are among the reasons that Andover must continue to do what it can to protect Fish Brook and other areas that affect the town water supply. Properly capping the town landfill and keeping highway salt out of the area must remain high priorities. Although we rarely think about it when we turn on the taps, Andover's water supply is one of its above-average assets.

Keeping honor in honor roll

The ship sailed long ago on the idea of reversing grade inflation. As and Bs are easier to come by at every place from Harvard University to the neighborhood schoolhouse than they were a few decades ago. Still, it's always shocking to note the number of students each semester who are credited with making the honor roll at local schools.

About 1,800 students attended Andover High School last year, and just over 1,000 were named to the honor roll for the spring term. Statistically that means that even some below-average students made what the school system calls the honor roll. Brooks School, a private school in North Andover attended by dozens of Andover students, now lists honors, high honors, and students who make "highest honors," which at least gives a special recognition to those few students who are reaching a rare academic plateau. Highest honors is for students with a grade point average of 92 or above, out of 100.

Making the honor roll is still an accomplishment at any school, and often comes from hard work, but certainly it is considerably less of an accomplishment now that more people make the honor roll at some schools than do not. Unfortunately, while the higher grades may help students get into the college they seek, students do not have a true idea of how well they are performing.

Perhaps in the future one of the town's honor roll students will find a way to alter the attitude pervasive in American education so that gaining honor-roll status can become a truly great honor once again. Then, students will have a more realistic idea of just how well — or how slightly below average — they are performing. If the idea of education is to prepare students for the real world, that would be a step forward.

WEB QUESTION

What should be superintendent's focus?

Read the names

Selectmen recently stopped reading the names of hires aloud and started approving appointments in one batch. The majority of responders to our poll do not agree with the new procedure.

As of 11 p.m. Tuesday night, the top choice, with 63 percent of the vote, was "All names should be read aloud."

Second choice, with 13 percent, was "Make the list of names more accessible, but don't take time reading the whole list."

"It doesn't matter to me" received 12 percent.

"Names unnecessary, but should note aloud which positions are being filled" received 10 percent.

"None of the above" received one vote.

The option "No names needed, just vote to 'approve list as printed,'" as the Board of Selectmen is doing, did not receive any votes.

This week's question

Andover's new superintendent, Marinell McGrath, started work on July 6 and says she'll be conducting a "listening tour." What do you believe she should focus on?

■ Communication with parents and the public

■ The new Bancroft Elementary School building project

■ Meeting staff and team-building

■ Upgrading classroom technology

■ Trimming the school department budget

■ Consolidating school and town departments (technology, business)

■ Saving money in the teachers union contract

■ Making sure teachers get adequate raises and benefits in their new contract

■ Working well with the school committee

■ None of the above

■ I couldn't possibly give her advice!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Tabit's hard-working, leaner approach needed

Editor, Townsman:

With the fall elections quickly approaching, I notice many of your readers stepping up to the plate to share their views, opinions and concerns. It's great to see the voters engaging in the political process. One of the many choices we will have come September will be to select an individual to represent the 17th Essex district in the Massachusetts House of Representatives. Among the host of candidates seeking to fill this important seat, there is one individual who clearly stands out. With this rare chance to send some fresh eyes and new energy to Beacon Hill, I see in this House race a real opportunity for the voters. We must seize it by electing Sal Tabit to represent us at the Statehouse.

I had the good fortune of growing up in town, and now my children are enjoying that same privilege. Through the years I've witnessed this town grow and prosper. Although Andover like many other cities and towns in the Commonwealth is faced with a host of fiscal and other challenges, I believe with the right leadership we can emerge better — perhaps even stronger. We folks have a long tradition of doing just that. Current challenges demand a fresh approach from people with sound business and life experiences and from people with strong convictions. In Tabit we have that balance.

Just like me and most of the folks in this town, Tabit wakes up to an alarm clock every day. As a local attorney operating his own practice, he knows how to honor a budget and make the most of every hard-earned dollar. As a parent of children enrolled in our public schools, he has a pulse on the issues facing our educators here in town. As a homeowner and taxpayer, he knows firsthand what it means to meet the commitments of a mortgage while bearing the burden of out-of-control taxes and increased government intrusion. Just like me and most of the folks in this town, he has had enough of government waste and incompetence on Beacon Hill. As a result of this frustration Tabit has made the honorable decision to put his life on hold, and to try to make a difference. If elected, he will use the privilege of representing the folks in the 17th Essex district to fight for a leaner, more efficient government, to put an end to the customary tax increases and most importantly to listen to the people who elect him. Sounds like good old fashioned common sense to me.

Sal Tabit is a hardworking guy with a wealth of energy, strong values and an unwavering commitment to this community.

Rep. candidate Adams: I only want to serve

Editor, Townsman:

My name is Paul Adams and I am a Republican candidate for state representative in the 17th Essex district. My family and I have resided in Andover the past 18 years, though our ancestors stretch back to the founders of our great Commonwealth.

Through my work as a public policy consultant, an elected member of the Mass. Republican State Committee and an activist for sensible spending restraint, I have a record that has consistently challenged the status quo and provided alternatives. I have been a fearless defender of taxpayers and have been endorsed by officials throughout our district and state because of my commitment to fiscal responsibility and common sense solutions.

State spending has increased 32 percent since 2000 despite two recessions and very modest population growth statewide, yet our government continues to raise taxes, expand entitlements and perks for the politically connected and cut core services to our communities. This has been the Golden Age for lobbyists and special interests, and they thrive on Beacon Hill as well as in the 17th Essex district.

Working alongside dozens of elected officials across our state, I have seen many opportunities to streamline government services and save taxpayer dollars. Many state employees and elected officials I have met agree on effective solutions, but time and again, inertia and a one-party system on Beacon Hill stymie constructive change. With your help, I will challenge the status quo and do all in my power to return effective government to you.

I seek nothing more than to serve the people. I will not be influenced by lobbyists and special interests, and I promise to represent you full-time with honesty, integrity and selflessness. I humbly ask for your vote in the Republican primary election on Tuesday, Sept. 14 and again in the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 2. It is time for a new generation of leadership on Beacon Hill.

Finegold devoted to supporting autistic

Editor, Townsman:

For those of you whom may not know Barry Finegold personally, I would like to describe his devotion and dedication to not only all of the citizens in his district, but especially to all families and individuals dealing with autism.

Autism is a behavioral and developmental impairment affecting 1 in 110 children today. It is with great honor and pride that I am able to work with children diagnosed with autism on a daily basis. As a behavior therapist, I see the hardships, first hand, that this diagnosis can have on the individual and their respective families. Early intervention and continuing services are essential to these children and their families. However, the cost of this detrimental treatment can be extremely high. Therefore, children who need these services are being left out because families are not able to afford needed services.

I have known Finegold, both professionally and personally, for over 7 years and his extreme devotion to our state and what is right for our people is prominent in his everyday encounters. He has been working endlessly to get our state's ARICA bill into law. Along with this law, he is a supporter of Rep. Barbara L'Italien's proposed law that will consist of a team of individuals working with individuals and families with autism spectrum disorders to ensure families are receiving proper treatment and services.

The proposed ARICA law, which is in its final stages in the Statehouse, will make it mandatory for insurance companies to cover research based and proven intervention strategies, such as applied behavior analysis. This law is crucial for these amazing children to learn life skills and to have the opportunities that so many others already receive. I am a member of the Massachusetts Association of Behavior Analysis and have provided services to children here in Massachusetts and in California. I know how this law would change the lives of so many individuals diagnosed with autism spectrum disorders. Every child deserves the right to a brighter tomorrow and with Finegold's help as our next state senator, I am certain these children will see a brighter future.

Candidate says he offers different approach

Editor, Townsman:

Anyone who has ever lost a job, or seen a friend or family member do the same, knows how important jobs really are. Knowing that you are providing for your loved ones and making a positive difference that someone is willing to pay you for is immensely important for our self-esteem and happiness.

Because jobs are so important, our legislators should follow the Hippocratic Oath when it comes to the economy: first, do no harm. Don't pass laws that humiliate, degrade and impoverish our people by destroying jobs.

That may seem obvious, but one of the most important reasons I am running for state representative is that our current representative, Barbara L'Italien, has needlessly voted against our district's economic self interest.

The 18th Essex District is uniquely impacted by our proximity to sales tax-free New Hampshire. Our local businesses compete against companies minutes away in New Hampshire that can offer lower prices for the same goods due to their lack of a state sales tax. The worst idea for our particular district is thus increasing the sales tax and encouraging shoppers to drive right by us to spend their money in New Hampshire.

Ignoring this basic economic fact, L'Italien voted to increase the state sales tax by 25 percent in the middle of a recession. She also voted to impose the sales tax on previously exempt beverage sales that are already covered by a state excise tax, further hurting local businesses. Does this sound like good economic policy for our district to you? Not me.

I believe in letting people keep more of their own money, but even if I wanted to increase taxes, I would never do it in a way that gratuitously hurts the district I represent.

I advocate creating a business-friendly environment to keep and expand good jobs. Reduce the Massachusetts sales tax from 6.25 percent to 3 percent. End the double taxation on beverage sales. Cut the overall business tax rate from 8.75 percent to 5 percent.

Create a stable regulatory environment so that businesses can plan ahead effectively.

Finegold helped with my group home

Editor, Townsman:

I've known Rep. Barry Finegold since we attended Andover High School together, years ago. Since then, he's proved to be a very good friend to me. About eight years ago, my friends and family wrote letters to Barry, asking him to help us organize a group home for people with special needs. He helped us find a home in Andover for me and three of my friends to live in.

Also, I've been working at Phillips Academy in the dining hall for over 20 years.

Since then, I've moved out of my parents' house and into the group home. I've learned a lot in these past eight years, like how to clean and cook and keep a home. We've been learning and working together. I like living with my friends because they understand me.

His responsiveness and generosity helped make our dream of a group home a reality and I know he will continue to be just as helpful as our next state senator.

I hope you join me in supporting Barry Finegold in his campaign for state senate.

First Amendment's power has changed

Editor, Townsman:

Ken Paulson errs in describing the scope of the First Amendment (Townsman Opinion page, July 8). Slavery was abolished only after the Civil War by the Thirteenth Amendment, due process extended in the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments, and women's suffrage by the 19th Amendment, the latter passed only in 1920. Black folks' right to vote was only granted constitutionally in the Fifteenth Amendment, and practically by the Voting Rights Act of 1965. And even with respect to freedom of speech, the First Amendment was only construed in the 20th century to apply to all political speech; prosecution and imprisonment for 'seditious' speech continued through World War I.

In a time when activists on left and right refer with passion to their quite different interpretations of the Constitution, it's important to be as accurate as possible with respect to its widely agreed upon content. Amendments and jurisprudence have extended it and changed it since 1787, for better or worse, as times have changed. That said, I agree with his views on the importance of the First Amendment, and wish him and I For All every success. I proudly carry the membership card of the American Civil Liberties Union, which, since its founding in 1920, has defended the First Amendment, often in cases where the speech in question is profoundly distasteful and disquieting.

Giannoccaro new advertising manager for Townsman

Cathy Giannoccaro has been named the new advertising sales manager of the Andover Townsman.

North of Boston Media Group has also named her as the sales manager of the Derry News and Let's Go, which means she will oversee the advertising staffs at the Derry News and Andover Townsman. She replaces Mark Miller, who relocated to Florida.

"We are thrilled to have Cathy leading the advertising sales efforts in Andover and Derry," publisher Al Getler said. "She is one of the sharpest and most customer-minded people I know in sales. Her knowledge will give our advertisers the edge over their competitors."

Giannoccaro has been with the company for six years. She has held positions of sales representative at The Eagle-Tribune and, most recently, advertising sales manager for The Daily News of Newburyport and Newburyport Magazine.

"I know the Townsman is a strong force in Andover. It will continue to be one," Giannoccaro said. "Our products will continue to deliver results as they have in the past."

Giannoccaro has lived in New Hampshire since 1980 and currently resides in Nashua. Prior to coming to the North of Boston Media Group, she was a classified advertising manager for the Nashua Telegraph.

"I'm looking forward to getting out and meeting the people in the community," Giannoccaro said. "I'm willing to hear from the readers, from the advertisers. I'm willing to meet and I'm open to new ideas. I'm very excited to get to know the community and get involved."

Andover native's film opens to Oscar buzz

A little bit of Andover will hit the silver screen as "The Kids are All Right," starring Annette Bening and Julianne Moore, hits theaters this week. Andover native Kumal Sharma plays Jai, a teenage love interest to the daughter of Moore and Bening, a lesbian couple.

The film has been well-reviewed and created Oscar buzz for director Lisa Cholodenko. "The Kids are All Right" was screened at the Sundance Film Festival in January and has had a limited release in theaters this month.

Sharma, 22, moved from Andover to California at age 16 to pursue an acting career. He has appeared in several television series and played a lead role in the Disney movie "The Cheetah Girls: One World." A profile of Sharma and his blossoming career ran in the Feb. 11 issue of the Townsman.

Zahka studies in cloud forest

Andover resident Joe Zahka, a high school physics and engineering teacher at Bedford High School, was living in the clouds earlier this month.

Zahka joined an Earthwatch research team for an 11-day expedition in an Ecuadorian cloud forest to help scientists understand the effect of climate change on that sensitive environment.

From June 24 to July 4, Zahka joined eight other Earthwatch volunteers from the United States and United Kingdom for the "Climate Change, Canopies, and Wildlife" project on the western slope of the Andes in Ecuador, north of Quito. The cloud forest's unusual environment produced consistent 70-degree temperatures during his visit even though it is at the equator, said Zahka.

Wipff dubbed state's outstanding teen

Kendall Wipff of Andover, a 17-year old senior at Andover High School has been named the 2010 Miss Massachusetts Outstanding Teen. She will have the opportunity to compete in the "Miss America's Outstanding Teen" pageant to be held in August in Orlando, Fla.

Kendall Wipff

As Miss Massachusetts Outstanding Teen, Wipff will receive a $2,000 scholarship and various awards and gifts from pageant sponsors.

She is the daughter of Debbie Zapella of Andover and Doug Wipff of Haverhill.

At Andover High School, she is a member of the National Honor Society and has achieved high honors/honor roll status for the past six years, and is a three-year recipient of the Special Recognition Certificate for Outstanding Academic Excellence.

Wipff has held several leadership roles in the student government, is a four-year tutor/mentor at the Boys and Girls Club, and is a student ambassador. She is the founder and organizer of "Singing for Seniors" and performs regularly at local senior centers. She also organized and coordinated a "Neighbors in Need" can drive for the past three years.

Wipff performed a vocal presentation to "Defying Gravity" from the musical Wicked for her talent at the state competition. The platform issue that she will support this year is entitled "The Kindness Campaign," a program to encourage youth volunteerism.

Over 600 kids took part in the camp, practicing on Merrimack College fields. For one hour each day, Matt Light and other Patriots players stopped by the Rogers Center for the Arts at Merrimack to sign autographs for the campers. All proceeds from the camp went to The Light Foundation, which has raised over $1.2 million to fund programs including a character development football camp, a financial literacy program and academic scholarships.

New town clerk starts Aug. 1

Selectmen approved Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski's appointment of Lawrence Murphy, town clerk and town attorney for West Newbury, to succeed retiring Town Clerk Randy Hanson.

Murphy, whose previous experience includes running his own law practice, serving on a town planning board and working as an Essex County assistant district attorney, will start Aug. 1 at an annual salary of $88,973.

"I am looking forward to working with you all," said Murphy to selectmen after their July 12 vote.

Keep citronella candle handy

Although mosquitoes in neighboring North Andover have tested positive for the West Nile Virus, Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski assured residents there is "no intention of spraying (for mosquitoes) anywhere in Andover" at the July 12 selectmen meeting.

North Andover will spray anti-mosquito pesticides this week in the area of their DPW yard, where the infected mosquitoes were found.

Yard signs starting to bloom

Supporters of John Thorlin, Republican candidate for the 18th Essex district seat in the House of Representatives, seem to be among the first to put out yard signs in what is sure to be a robust race toward state primaries Sept. 14. Several blue and white Thorlin yard signs have been spotted in Andover during the past few weeks.

Thorlin, a student at Harvard Law School, faces fellow Andover Republican Jim Lyons Jr. in the race to oppose Democrat Barbara L'Italien, who has held the 18th Essex seat since 2003. The primary, which also includes races for Andover's state senate and second house seat, the 17th Essex district, will be Tuesday, Sept. 14. The general election will be Nov. 2.

Female votes targeted

Deb Silberstein may have received support from the state chapter of NOW, but for Rep. Barry Finegold, who is running for Sue Tucker's senate seat, is targeting female voters by mixing fashion and politics at a July 22 fundraising event. The invite to the event includes some 100 names of female supporters including the candidate's wife, Amy Finegold, who runs the women's clothing store, dress-code, on Main Street. For $40, supporters would get a fashion show and a reception at a private home.

Deal me in

Jack Hoyt of Andover, a 12-year-old West Middle School student, has won a national competition for a trading card game called Yu-Gi-Oh. The competition was just held in Minneapolis, Minn. Athletes may like to go to Disney World after a big win, but Hoyt won a free trip to Japan for his card mastery. The Yu-Gi-Oh Web site said Jack had "some amazing plays" during the final duel and his trip to Japan awaits.

Family camping

Novice campers who have always wanted to learn how to camp, will be able to join what organizers are calling a "fun-filled Becoming an Outdoors Family Camping Weekend" at Harold Parker State Forest in Andover on Aug. 7-8, 2010.

Tsongas introduces oil-spill act

Fifth District Congresswoman Niki Tsongas has introduced the Oil Spill Preparation and Protection Act, legislation that would require oil companies that seek to drill in United States coastal waters to submit detailed plans on how they would contain and cleanup a worst-case scenario oil spill, like the continuous spill now taking place in the Gulf.

The bill is being introduced as the Natural Resources Committee, on which Tsongas serves, is crafting a legislative response to the Gulf oil spill to ensure that such an event cannot happen again.

Tsongas views the inclusion of language forcing oil companies to account for a worst-case scenario as an essential component of that legislative response.

"The BP oil spill in the Gulf is the worst environmental disaster in our nation's history and represents a failure by the oil industry, a failure of government to oversee that industry, and also a simple failure of imagination," said Congresswoman Niki Tsongas, who represents Andover. "Drilling for oil miles below the earth's surface in ocean depths of 5000 feet is an inherently risky undertaking. As such, it is essential that all necessary safety precautions are taken and all scenarios are planned for appropriately, especially when an accident can hold such dire consequences for our environment and our economy."

Colorful Kaleidoscope program enters 30th summer

BY NEIL FATER
STAFF WRITER

A boy dropping off his medical form to attend the Kaleidoscope summer program stopped to share some information. "My doctor went to Kaleidoscope," he said.

That's the type of thing that Director Janis Baron says she hears all the time.

Kaleidoscope, a non-profit enrichment program in Andover, began its 30th summer of offering one-week courses, and thousands of children have been through the program. Kaleidoscope offers "creative learning for children ages 3-13" and often former participants in the program, such as 14-year-old assistant Kristina Doucette, help teach once they are too old to attend themselves.

Kaleidoscope has a mother and son and a mother and daughter teaching this year, and the younger teachers used to attend the program, said Baron.

More than 820 children are enrolled this year.

"They come from 40 different towns. We have a kid coming from Saudi Arabia and from Russia - they have family here. Certainly most are from Andover, but they come from all over," said Baron.

On Tuesday, kids were introduced to tide pool animals such as starfish by the New England Aquarium. The program is held at the Pike School on Sunset Rock Road.

Max Kelly, 11, of North Andover, works on a project in the Domino Physics class at Kaleidoscope held at the Pike School.

Alex Wang, 4, reacts as he looks at tidal pool brought by the New England Aquarium. Kristina Doucette, 14, a teacher assistant, monitors the children as they look. Doucette has been coming to Kaleidoscope kids camp since she was 3.

Fun and fear in '55

Bill Dalton

The summer of '55 was a season of fun and fear in town.

Andover Little League, in its fourth year, put together an all-star team that made front page headlines. Al Carpentier and Lafayette Stickney were the team's managers, and this was fitting. In the first year of Andover Little League, Mr. Stickney had been the manager of the only Little League team in Andover, the Cardinals, and was still coaching them. In the fourth year, Mr. Carpentier managed the Yankees, the best team in town. By the fourth year there were four major teams and two minor league divisions. Little League was a permanence.

There were high, unrealistic expectations for Andover's first Little League All-Star team, and the front page headline in the July 21, 1955, Andover Townsman was: "Little League All-Stars To Play In Tournament Game." The subheading read: "Must Win Eight; Play Haverhill All-Stars Tuesday." Winning eight would get us to the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa. Winning eight consecutive games is uncommon in baseball and very rare in playoffs. (Think how unbelievable it was when Red Sox did it in 2004.)

There were high expectations and big crowds. The players were Walt Blezinski, Mike Costello, Kent Damon, Geoffrey Davis, Billy Gallant, Rusty Hutchins, Bennie Kiernan, Al Lefebvre, Tommy Matton, Dave Murphy, Brad Richards, Paul Seamans, Grant Whitman and me.

Bill Gallant and I were in our fourth year of Little League, having been there from the beginning. Billy and I also played sandlot ball. I never see kids playing sandlot baseball anymore, just organized ball. Sandlot baseball was more fun, but Little League was good, and it gave us a chance to meet kids from other parts of town.

Our All-Star team did well. We beat Haverhill, Newburyport and Danvers, and I think lost the fourth game. The game against Danvers was played on a neutral field - Methuen. In those days, Methuen and Andover were avid rivals in everything, and playing in Methuen was like being in enemy territory. Manager Carpentier was thrown out of the game for arguing a call at first base. I didn't think he deserved it, but we won the game anyway. I'm sure the umpire was from Methuen.

My dad later told me that he half hoped we'd lose so we could go on vacation on schedule. He only took two weeks of vacation a year - like most people back then - and it was into August when the season finally ended.

If anyone has a picture of the team and more details, I'd like to receive them for a follow-up. There is a picture in the microfilm of the Andover Townsman, but the shading makes it unusable.

Fear in '55

At the other end of life's spectrum, 1955 was the polio summer. No one was immune to worrying about it. Andover, overall, was lucky with only 11 cases. Much of the rest of the state had it worse. Punchedard's first football game was postponed because Danvers, the opponent, was delaying the

The question as to whether or not the much-disputed billboard in Shawsheen Square will have to be torn down now remains in the hands of the Board of Public Works at Boston, R.L. Devine, supervisor of outdoor advertising, stated in a letter to selectmen this week. The selectmen the first of the month sent a letter to the supervisor "strenuously objecting" to the sign in Shawsheen Village.

The American Woolen company is still the town's heaviest taxpayer with its total real estate and personal amounting to $69,352.92. Second is the Lawrence Gas and Electric company with a total bill of $28,207.93. Andover-Shawsheen Realty is third with $19,331.86, while Textile Realty has a bill of $12,918.81.

William McDonald of Chestnut street and William Harnedy of Summer street are home after a cruise of several weeks through the Caribbean sea.

The Tyer Rubber company this week received another government order. The local concern was awarded a contract to furnish 12,250 pairs of rubber boots for the C.C.C.

Andover's oldest resident, Mrs. Rhoda (Parkhurst) Davis, who turned 99 last February 25, passed away late Sunday night at the family home, 67 Salem St.

50 Years Ago- July 14, 1960

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff reported to the selectmen Monday night that Sidney P. White is in the process of completing work at his dairy bar and plant on Andover Street. The selectmen indicated that they wished to cooperate with Mr. White, but that he should also be cooperative with them in completing his project.

A spectacular three-community chase wound up on High Street last Saturday night, when the fleeing driver crashed into a parked car and was arrested by local officers. Andover policemen Warren Maddox, Henry Giaino and Arthur Manock took the defendant into custody after the car he was driving allegedly hit the parked car of Harold F. Baker, 84 High St.

The School Committee appears slated to choose a new secretary at its meeting July 19, following Secretary William A. Doherty's announced intention to relinquish the duties. Mr. Doherty has, on several occasions, been critical of board members when they wanted to change the wording of minutes. And when Chairman Milton J. Meyers and Member John S. Sullivan wanted to correct one line in the minutes, Doherty said he would not keep the post. The explosive situation developed at a special meeting July 8.

DALTON: Polio causes scare

start of school because of polio. Andover previously had averaged one case of polio a year. Doctors were overwhelmed by anxious parents whose children showed the slightest symptoms of anything irregular. Several kids, including one of my next door neighbors, contracted polio and it changed their lives. My neighbor spend years in a wheelchair.

One Andover resident, an adult, died from polio. Another adult, Bruce Dodd, had bulbar polio, a devastating form of the virus. His wife, Lee Dodd, who became a well known Andover retractor and personality, is quoted in "Andover, A Century of Change, 1896 - 1996" (Eleanor Motley Richardson, published by the Andover Historical Society, 1995). Lee said, "When I got to the hospital, [Bruce] was in an iron lung... When he recovered, he was completely paralyzed, except he could turn his head and one hand.... Bruce was in the hospital for a year and when he came home he spent all his time on a rocking bed with a respirator. We decided to make our house a place of welcome. My kids would bring in their friends to show off Bruce."

Bruce Dodd was 34 when he got sick, and he lived 20 more years, much of that time inside an iron lung. With help of a loving family, Bruce lived a worthwhile life by being an inspiration to many of us, and he lived with dignity and grace.

By the summer of '55, Jonas Salk had created a vaccine that required two shots, and many Andover children had received the first shot, but the second shot was needed for the vaccine to work. The second shot was given that fall. (Dr. Salk's vaccine is still used by most countries. The United States now uses an oral vaccine developed by Albert Sabin and put in use in 1962. Polio has almost been eradicated.)

Bill Dalton writes a weekly column for the Andover Townsman and enjoys receiving e-mails at billdalton@andovertownie.com. Last week's column should have said that the high school was first occupied in 1957.

IN THE MILITARY

Provençal mobilized, to be deployed by Army

Army Reserve Pvt. Shayna E. Provençal has been mobilized and activated at Fort Dix, N.J., in preparation for deployment to serve in support of either Operations Iraqi Freedom or Enduring Freedom. Provençal has served in the military for two years and is a member of the 94th Military Police Company, Londonderry, N.H.

She is the daughter of Susan J. Coldwell of North Main Street, Andover, and Roger K. Provençal of Crestwood Circle, Lawrence. The soldier graduated in 2006 from Greater Lawrence Technical High School, Andover.

Soldiers are normally activated from Army Reserve or Army National Guard units from throughout the U.S. They go through a series of in-processing procedures and training classes that prepare them for skills and situations they may face in their deployed environment.

Pollack completes Coast Guard training

Coast Guard Reserve Seaman David A. Pollack, son of Deborah A. and David A. Pollack of Andover, recently graduated from the U.S. Coast Guard Recruit Training Center in Cape May, N.J.

Pollack is a 2007 graduate of Greater Lawrence Technical High School of Andover.

During the eight-week training program, Pollack completed a vigorous training curriculum consisting of academics and practical instruction on water safety and survival, military customs and courtesies, seamanship skills, first aid, fire fighting and marksmanship, according to a military release. A major emphasis is also placed on physical fitness, health and wellness.

Pollack and other recruits also received instruction on the Coast Guard's core values honor, respect and devotion to duty and how to apply them in their military performance and personal conduct. Pollack will join 36,000 other men and women who comprise Coast Guard's force.

Men and women train together from the first day in the Coast Guard just as they do aboard ships and shore units throughout the world, according to the Coast Guard.

To reinforce the team concept, Pollack and other recruits were trained in preventing sexual harassment, drug and alcohol awareness, civil rights training, and the basics of the work-life balance, as well as total quality management.

ENGAGEMENTS

Lindsay Hanna and Eric Landry

Kim and Patricia Hanna, of Tiverton, R.I. and formerly of Andover, are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Lindsay Duncan Hanna, to Eric Scott Landry, son of Gary and Deborah Landry of Meriden, Conn.

Lindsay graduated from Phillips Academy in 2001 and earned a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Rice University in Houston, Texas and a master's and doctoral degree in mechanical engineering from Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, Pa. She is employed as an engineering consultant at Veryst Engineering in Needham.

Eric graduated from Maloney High School in Meriden, Conn., in 2001. He earned a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Connecticut and a master's and doctoral degree in mechanical engineering from Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, Pa. He is a research-and-development project engineer at Lytron Inc. in Woburn. The couple reside in Newton.

The wedding is planned for July 24, 2010 in Riverside, R.I.

Sarah Muller and Brian Kilpatrick

Richard and Ann Muller of Andover are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Sarah Payne Muller, to Brian James Kilpatrick, son of Thomas and Sharon Kilpatrick of West Bridgewater.

Sarah is a 1998 graduate of Andover High School and earned a bachelor's degree in finance from Lehigh University in 2002. She works as an analyst/portfolio manager at Income Research and Management in Boston.

Brian is a graduate of West Bridgewater High School and earned a bachelor's degree in economics from Rollins College in 2000. He works as a vice president, sales at Tradeweb of Boston. An October 2010 wedding is planned.

COORDINATED EFFORT

Real estate agents are witness to numerous unfortunate instances in which homebuyers have locked into an interest rate, but are unable to close their loans because sellers find themselves in the position of still finalizing their own deals. There are also a number of other possibilities that can cause delays, including scheduling conflicts, title and homeowner's insurance problems, and even personal conflicts. The fact is that locked-in loans expire on purchase due to a lack of coordination and communication among the parties involved. In such cases, an experienced real estate agent can anticipate and circumvent potential problems by coordinating the terms of the buyer's and seller's contracts. A detail-oriented real estate professional leaves nothing to chance.

It is important for home buyers to work with an agent experienced in all aspects of a real estate transaction. For knowledgeable assistance every step of the way, come to STONE WALL REAL ESTATE PROFESSIONALS, 89 N. Main St. Call (978) 815-1336 or drop by and talk with us. Specializing in the Andover, North Andover, and the Greater Merrimack Valley region, we've provided friendly and experienced professional service for over 7 years. We can show you any home in the area. One call does it all.

HINT: Upon locking in a rate, buyers should promptly order a title search in order to avoid unnecessary delays.

Youth foundation buys back AYS van traded in by town

BY BETHANY BRAY
STAFF WRITER

The private Andover Youth Foundation will buy and give back to the town an 18-passenger van that was town property less than one year ago.

The van, a 2001 Ford with 86,000 miles on it, was used by Andover Youth Services until it was traded in as the town purchased a 15-passenger bus for AYS last fall.

As it was traded in, the private Andover Youth Foundation approached the dealer, asking if they could buy it before it was put on the lot to be resold. The dealer agreed to sell it to the foundation for the same price he gave the town for it as a trade: $2,500.

On Monday, July 12, selectman approved Andover Youth Foundation’s request give the 18 passenger van to the town for the sole use of the Andover Youth Services Green Team, a youth employment and volunteer program.

AYS Director Bill Fahey told selectmen his department intends to take the seats out of the van and use it for hauling equipment used on jobs by Green Teamers, who do odd jobs around town. Andover Youth Foundation will pay for the van’s insurance, maintenance and gas.

“Nine times out of 10 we trade in (town) vehicles ... Typically, we do not reuse old vehicles. This is quite an exception,” said Town Manager Buzz Stapeczynski. “(The van) will be limited to in-town use for hauling equipment for the Green Team, not hauling young people long distances. It has some additional miles (left in it) for in-town use. It’s really a limited service vehicle.”

The new AYS vehicle, a black 15-passenger bus, was ordered in October 2009 and delivered in spring 2010. It was purchased specifically for AYS at a net price of $44,446, which is the cost of $46,900 minus the $2,500 for the trade-in of the 2001 van, said Stapeczynski.

Andover Youth Foundation also pledged to cover payroll for the AYS Green Team, which was previously subsidized by a state grant.

Started in 2007, the AYS Green Team connects high school-aged youths with different mentorship, job and job-shadowing experiences. Teens volunteer for their first 20 hours on the Green Team and collect a paycheck after that for jobs they are hired to work.

The Green Team helped paint and install the fence at Wood Park, paint numerous benches on town property, repainted basement floors in Andover public schools, assisted with Zero Waste Day, helped build a handicapped-accessible garden at the senior center and completed numerous projects for private citizens.

Besides the handyman skills they’ve gained, the teens learn work ethic, responsibility and entrepreneurship, say supporters.

“We think the work of the Green Team is very important,” said Fahey. “It’s planting that seed of giving back.”

Proverbs show all people are in the same classroom

Ken Seifert

One of my friends challenged me on the statement "we are more similar than different." Just by coincidence, the following day, I was skimming one of my favorite old books "The New Book of Unusual Quotations" by Rudolph Flesch, 1957. I noticed a large number of proverbs. Proverbs are part of every spoken language.

Most proverbs have their origin in oral translations. They were usually intended to form codes of behavior and to transmit wisdom.

Through the centuries we have been very creative in making new proverbs out of old ones. Hammurabi, from Babylon, was credited with saying, "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." The Nandi tribe from East Africa would say, "A goat's hide buys a goat's hide, and a gourd a gourd." I wonder who said what first.

Abe Lincoln gets credit for "Don't swap horses in mid-stream." I don't think it was an original thought. Even King Solomon in the Bible, Book of Proverbs, contained most of his wisdom that came from earlier compilations. "If the shoe fits, wear it" had its origin from "If the cap fits, wear it." The cap referred to was a medieval dunce cap.

Listed are a few proverbs. They have been taken from national and regional groups. Here are some warm ups.

"Hell is full of dirty housewives." [Japanese]

"If men could see the future, they would still behave as now." [Russian]

Now it's your turn. There are no precise correct answers because we cannot be sure of their origins. We have to trust Mr. Flesch. It does remind us, as people of the world, we have much in common.

Guess the origin

1. There are always two sides to a prediction.
2. All my children are prodigies.
3. Do not stand in places of danger, trusting in miracles.
4. With a woman, first thoughts are best. With a man, second thoughts.
5. God, defend me from myself.
6. He that takes medicine and neglects his diet, wastes the skill of the physician.
7. There are many dusty bibles, more than dusty books of pornography.
8. Friendship with a fool is like the embrace of a bear.
9. Advise and counsel him. If he does not listen, let adversity teach him.
10. All gamblers go broke.

After 300 years of service, golden years begin

One dozen teachers retired from Andover schools during or after the 2009-10 year, and combined they gave the district nearly 300 years of service. For the majority, their last official day at work was June 30, about a week after students left for summer break.

The longest-serving teacher was South Elementary School reading specialist Elly Seavey.

"I've had an incredible career working in the town of Andover. I've truly loved teaching young people and being connected to their families," said Elly Seavey, who is retiring after 41 years. "I'd also like to pay tribute to the many selfless and dedicated colleagues with whom I've had the pleasure of working with over 41 years."

As she has for years, Seavey will continue to direct the Summer Theater Ensemble in Andover and work in the Department of Community Services' after school enrichment program in the fall.

"I will still be involved with young people. It keeps you young," said Seavey, chuckling.

First on her list in retirement? Travel, time with friends and visiting her daughter in North Carolina. This summer, Seavey and her husband will be renting a house with some friends for one month in Provence, France.

Scholarship already endowed in name of Andover trooper Shanahan

A Lawrence woman said to have "the same spirit of determination and devotion to law enforcement as the late Lt. Col. Michael B. Shanahan," a former state trooper who lived in Andover, is the recipient of a scholarship in Shanahan's name.

Awilda Pimentel, who will be a senior at the University of Massachusetts Lowell this fall, is a criminal justice major known not only for her dedication to her education, but her commitment to her community and family, said the school. Pimentel juggles being a parent and a student while leading efforts in her hometown including helping neighbors displaced by fires, organizing holiday meals for those in need and hosting benefits such as "Lawrence for Haiti," which raised more than $6,000 in two hours for earthquake relief.

The Lt. Colonel Michael B. Shanahan Memorial Scholarship is the first at UMass Lowell specifically for criminal justice majors. It was established in 2008 by Shanahan's wife, Diane, and children, Michael, an Andover police officer, and Christina. The scholarship fund reached the status of endowment in less than a year, placing it in perpetuity and creating a lasting tribute to the late trooper.

The 2010 scholarship is the second award in the fund's history.

Posing are, from left, Eve Buzawa, chairwoman of the Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology; Christina Shanahan, daughter of the late Lt. Col. Shanahan; UMass Lowell Chancellor Marty Meehan; scholarship recipient Awilda Pimentel; Diane Shanahan, wife of Lt. Col. Shanahan; Michael Shanahan, son of Lt. Col. Shanahan; and Col. Marian J. McGovern, superintendent of the Massachusetts State Police.

Pimentel said the news she would receive the scholarship "brought her to tears."

"I am so honored and humbled to receive this award. Lt. Colonel Michael B. Shanahan was a hero, a true legend. I can only dream to be like him. I will always do my best to continue the legacy of your honorable husband,"

Pimentel told Diane Shanahan after the honor.

Lt. Colonel Michael B. Shanahan, a 1985 graduate of UMass Lowell, was a member of the U.S. Marine Corps, serving two tours of duty in the Vietnam War and earning the rank of sergeant. He received numerous awards and was honorably discharged in 1970. In 1971, he joined the State Police and attained the rank of lieutenant colonel before retiring after 25 years. He joined Bank of America as a senior corporate security investigator/manager in 1998. Shanahan, who fought a valiant battle with cancer, succumbed to the disease in 2006, according to the family.

"I am so touched that Mike's legacy will continue to motivate students in the field of criminal justice," said Diane Shanahan, who worked with University Advancement to establish the scholarship. "The recipients we have chosen truly exemplify who Mike was: accomplished, dedicated and hardworking. Our family wishes them continued success."

"Our faculty and students are extremely impressed with Diane Shanahan and her dedication to the memory of her husband and to our department," said Eve Buzawa, chairwoman of the Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology, in a release. "Thanks to Diane's commitment, our department now has not only the first scholarship, but its first endowed scholarship. We are deeply indebted to her for her generosity."

Pimentel came to UMass Lowell after graduating magna cum laude with an associate's degree from Northern Essex Community College. She dreams of becoming an FBI agent and earned a perfect score on the Massachusetts Law Enforcement Exam, said the school.

The 2009 recipient of the scholarship was Steve Parent of Leominster, the first in his family to earn a college degree. He is pursuing a master's degree in criminal justice.

Zhang delivers in clutch for Andover Americans

Dylan Zhang stepped to the plate with the chance to be the hero for Andover American.

North Andover chose to intentionally walk No. 3 hitter Brandon Marti, who had already hit a pair of home runs on the game, to pitch to cleanup hitter Zhang.

And the youngster delivered, blasting a three-run triple to right field to give Andover American a 9-8 walkoff victory over North Andover West in the District 14 Little League tourney on Sunday.

"He's a great line drive hitter," said American coach Don Hunt. "We have him batting fourth because often times people will walk Brandon."

"It was a really big hit. We were down by two runs and it was a 2-2 count. (Zhang) gets up and rips the ball."

Zhang was also the starting pitcher, going 3 2/3 innings. E.J. Perry threw one shutout inning and closer Cam Jhost came on to earn the win.

"I've been doing this for nine years and this was the most exciting game," said Hunt. "It was back and fourth."

Andover American dropped its first game in pool play, 13-2 to Tewksbury American on Monday. Still, with a 3-1 record, Andover advanced to the next round.

Tewksbury, with two runs in the first inning and five runs in the second, pulled away quickly in the five-inning game.

Dylan Zhang delivers a pitch on Sunday. He was the starting pitcher and turned in the key hit for Andover American, which claimed a 9-8 win over North Andover West in Little League action.

ANDOVER NATIONALS

The Andover National Little League squad stood 1-2 in pool play heading into Monday after a heartbreaking 7-3 loss in extra innings to Billerica on Saturday.

Andover held a 1-0 lead going into the top of the sixth behind the stellar pitching of Andrew Selima, who had pitched nine scoreless innings. Billerica pushed across three runs in the top of the sixth to go up 3-1. Andover then scored two runs to tie it up with a clutch two out hit by Griffin Clark. With Selima at second representing the winning run, Jack Finn delivered a solid line drive single which the Billerica center fielder gunned to the plate to nab Selima. Greg Partyka, Kelan Mahan and Griffin Brosnan also contributed key hits for Andover.

Andover was close in every game, getting solid pitching from Anirudh Murali, John Muldoon and Josh Lang. The duties behind the plate have been shared by Drew Manning and Selima and Peter O'Connell and Jack Hughes each chipped in with key play.

Brandon Marti is mobbed at the plate as he scores the winning run for Andover American in a walkoff victory over North Andover West. He scored on a three-run triple by Dylan Zhang.

Walsh erupts at the plate, propels Andover

LEGION BASEBALL

No. 9 hitter Jimmy Walsh looked more like the cleanup hitter with a career performance, going 3 for 3 with a double, a pair of runs and three RBIs as Andover took a key 11-1 drubbing of Methuen on Sunday.

"I don't think a lot of people had us in the hunt," Andover coach Joe Iarrobino said. "We're working towards our goal of making the playoffs, and if we don't make it we'll be very disappointed."

Leadoff hitter Christian Lightner added three hits and scored a run and John Hennessy had a three-run triple, scored on a wild pitch and added another RBI on a sacrifice fly. Adam Risman added two RBIs and Sean McQuillan drove in another.

Andover starter Tom Paleschi outdueled his Phillips Academy teammate Tom Hamel. Paleschi allowed only one run in 4 2/3 innings and added an RBI.

Bennett Deady dominated, throwing a complete-game six-hitter to lead Andover to a 7-2 win over Swampscott last Friday. Deady walked just two and struck out six.

"He pitched very well," Andover coach Joe Iarrobino said. "He was around the plate and got out of one (bases-loaded) jam. He got stronger as the game went on and had a very good breaking ball."

Brothers Sean and Mike McQuillan led the Post 8 attack. Mike was 2 for 4 with a double and three RBIs while Sean added a pair of hits and drove in a run. Christian Lightner chipped in with a double and scored twice and John Hennessy had two hits and an RBI for Andover.

Dan Gusovsky's three-run triple sparked a 10-run fifth inning that led Andover to a 17-4 drubbing of North Andover last Thursday.

Brian Charlebois, Jake Ponti (3 RBIs) and Sean McQuillan each tallied three hits and Christian Lightner added a pair of hits for Post 8.

Jon Levenson struck out seven in 5 1/3 innings, and Colin Norris retired all five batters he faced to close out the win.

Tom Paleschi continued to shine on the mound, allowing just two hits — both singles — and struck out eight as Andover topped Gloucester 5-0 last Wednesday.

Dan Gusovsky tallied a pair of hits and drove in two runs while John Hennessy tripled home a run and Post 8 played some small ball, with Adam Risman and Jimmy Walsh each plated a run with textbook safety squeeze bunts.

Dan Gusovsky knocked a three-run double to lead the Post 8 All-Star squad to a 5-0 victory over District 5 last Tuesday. John Hennessy was also a member of the squad from Andover.

Dan Gusovsky continued to star with a pair of hits, but Andover fell short to 4-1 to Middleton on Monday.

Jake Ponti chipped in with a hit and an RBI and Colin Norris allowed just a single earned run and three hits with three strikeouts and one walk in four innings for Post 8.

TRACK

Elder McConnell still a spring champ

Anyone curious where recently-graduated Andover High legendary sprinter Christopher McConnell got his speed need no longer wonder.

McConnell's father, 53-year-old Chris McConnell showed he had speed of his own, winning the 100 with a 12.34 and the 200 with a 25.84 at the Bay State Games on Saturday.

Andover's Jimmy Walsh is congratulated by teammates after crossing the plate. Walsh had three hits and three RBIs to lead Post 8 to a win over Methuen.

Andover's towering Tom Paleschi fires a pitch against Methuen on Saturday. Paleschi threw 4 2/3 stellar innings and drove in a run to lead Andover to an 11-1 win.

Shock finish electrifying 25-1-1 season

The U12 Girls Andover Shock completed 25-1-1 record for the year, losing its lone game in the semi-finals of the Mass Tournament of Champions state playoffs in Lancaster on June 27.

The Shock won the U12 Girls Division 1 championship at the Essex County Youth Soccer Association Pingree Tournament, becoming the first Andover girls division 1 U12 champion in the more than 30 years of the tournament.

The team was quite successful, scoring more than 70 goals while conceding fewer than 20 goals for the season. One statistic that head coach Nat Boughton was extremely proud of was that "every girl on the team scored at least one goal this season."

The Shock won the 2009 North Andover Columbus Day weekend tournament to highlight the fall season's efforts.

SPORTS FROM THE COMMUNITY

Esdale competes as ultimate all-star

In front of more than a crowd of 100 enthusiastic people on an 86 degree afternoon at Dilboy Stadium, high school Ultimate frisbee players exhibited their sport recently in all-star game, between Green and Blue teams. Multiple Massachusetts Green stars dominated play at the game that featured star players from 21 of the 85 Boston Ultimate Disc Alliance Massachusetts High School league teams.

Andover's Dillon Esdale and the Green took a three-goal 8-5 first half lead thanks in part to Esdale's fine passing, according to a release from the organizers. The Green team went on to beat the Blue 15-8.

Engage in fencing

Some residents this week have started to learn the basic fencing skills of footwork, blade-work, and bouting at the Old Town Hall.

Beginning this Monday, July 12 and running through July 22, Molly Sullivan, an 1988 and 1992 USA Olympic team fencer has been instructing the sessions open to beginner through advanced. The hour-long lessons are running Monday through Thursdays with beginners meeting at 10 a.m., intermediate students at 11 a.m. and advanced students at 8 or 9 a.m. Students will be fencing by the end of class. Advanced levels requires the approval of the instructor.

The fee is $120 for residents, $130 for non residents. Register online at andoverma.gov/dcs or call Andover Department of Community Services at 978-623-8274.

Field hockey clinic

The second annual Lauren Ciampa Memorial Field Hockey Clinic for girls in grades 4-12, benefitting The Jimmy Fund at the Dana Farber Cancer Institute will be held on Monday, Aug. 9 and 10 from 8 a.m. to noon at the Andover High School varsity field.

The clinic is being held in memory of Lauren Ciampa, an Andover High School field hockey player who lost her battle with cancer a little over a year ago. The clinic is run by the Andover High School field hockey team and coach, as well as Lauren's family, friends and a host of volunteers.

To register go to the Web site leclinic.info. A tax deductible registration fee of $60 goes directly to patient services at the Dana Farber Cancer Institute, according to organizers.

Andover Soccer Travel Spring 2010 results

The spring 2010 Andover Soccer travel season completed in late June with a number of teams reaching the Essex County Youth Soccer Association Pingree Tournament. Eight of 26 travel teams qualified, with five teams just missing the tournament based upon final weekend results.

"The success of these travel teams is a testament to the commitment of the players and volunteer coaches over the last 12 months," Carl Grygiel, Andover Soccer vice president and travel director said in a release.

Over 1,600 players took part in both in-town and travel-league play this spring in Andover. Andover Soccer is still the largest youth sports program in town, and the third largest in the state of Massachusetts.

Andover Soccer reports that it is "looking forward to connecting even more closely with the Andover High School boys and girls soccer programs this fall, to help link the youth players with the varsity athletes." Both the boys and girls programs will host one-day soccer-skills clinics in the fall and are planning Andover Soccer game nights to drive interest and attendance at the varsity and junior varsity games.

"The World Cup happens every four years; there is great soccer happening in Andover every year at the high school, more importantly, these student-athletes represent tremendous role models for our youth players to see and emulate," commented Grygiel.

Andover Soccer has also forged strong relationships with the professional teams, the New England Revolution and the Boston Breakers. Training programs and game-day activities and more information can be found at Andoversoccer.org.
