Race, dinner for troops this weekend

By DUSTIN LUCA
STAFF WRITER

Around 2,000 runners are expected to turn out for Sunday's Run for the Troops five-kilometer road race — but the veterans will be the ones getting the most attention at the event.

The race is paired with a dinner and auction being held tomorrow, Friday, at the Wyndham Hotel on Old River Road. Both events benefit Homes for Our Troops, a national non-profit organization that builds homes for disabled veterans in significant need of support.

The money raised by the Andover events is being raised with an eye toward a home being built for Marine Cpl. Kevin Dubois from Rhode Island in mind. Dubois was injured while clearing out a landing area for a medical helicopter in Afghanistan's Helmand province on July of 2011. While going prone, he stepped on an improvised explosive device. He lost both of his legs as a result of the incident.

With his new home designed to accommodate his disability, Dubois has said he looks forward to starting a family with his wife Kayla.

Around 1,500 runners are already registered for the event, and the dinner has over 400 signed up with the event capped at 500 seats, according to event co-organizer Bill Pennington.

Those who either hope to register for the race early or have already registered and want to pick up their race-day attire can do so at Century Bank at 15 Elm St. Friday and Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., Pennington said.

"They can get their shirts, they can get their proper size. It makes it a lot easier than on Sunday morning," he said.

Those registering for the race the day of the run will be able to do so at the cafeteria for Doherty Middle School, 50 Bartlet St.

Before the race begins Sunday morning at 9 a.m., a ceremony will honor all present veterans "who have served, are serving or will serve," Pennington said.

Registration for the race costs $25, and the dinner is $25 as well.

Developer tour stops at Town Yard

State buses in crowd as rezoning heads to voters

By DUSTIN LUCA
STAFF WRITER

The Board of Selectmen supported a Town Yard rezoning proposal at their meeting Monday night. Less than 12 hours later, private developers gathered at the Town Yard applauded the vote as they heard about the site's future development opportunities.

A state-organized Merrimack Valley Multi-Family Housing Tour kicked off at the Town Yard early Tuesday morning. As part of the tour, around three dozen private developers from the region were bused into the Merrimack Valley to sites that may be developed or that are being developed in Andover, North Andover, Lawrence and Haverhill.

The focus of the tour's initial presentation was the Andover Transit Oriented Development District, a zoning proposal coming before Annual Town Meeting, which starts May 6. Some officials have said a successful vote to rezone the area to add mixed use development options would serve as a referendum for relocating the Town Yard, while rejecting the proposal would charge town government with rebuilding the Town Yard at its current home on Lewis Street.

The presentation was led by Town Planning Director Paul Materazzo, Town Manager

Contamination at Town Yard said to be 'no significant risk'

By DUSTIN LUCA
STAFF WRITER

An environmental expert said he believes dealing with contamination at the Town Yard site if it is redeveloped will probably cost a fraction of the amount some people have feared.

A review of the site commissioned by the selectmen for about $4,000 was presented at the board's meeting Monday, where Cooperstown Environmental President James Curtis said costs for dealing with contamination at the Lewis Street site can go as high as $1 million, but he believes that's extremely unlikely.

Of the roughly three acres of land owned by the town, 1.9 acres is restricted in use by an activity use limitation (AUL) because contamination has been found at the site over the last couple of decades, according to Curtis, an Andover resident.

The AUL on the site means it cannot be used for homes, schools or child care facilities and is "safe for today but not necessarily safe for the future... that's because

Trust may be drained

Fund could be emptied for youth center, seniors

By DUSTIN LUCA
STAFF WRITER

Town officials are hoping to empty a town trust to expand senior programming and build part of the Cormier Family Youth Center.

A Special Town Meeting will likely be called within the confines of Annual Town Meeting in May in an effort to spend the $1.29 million held by the William M. Wood Memorial Trust. The trust was created by the Andover family of Wood, who built the American Woolen empire and created Shawsheen Village in the early 20th century.

The Council on Aging and Andover Youth Center Building Committee are proposing that the money be split. Half, or $649,000, would be slated for a stabilization fund for senior citizen programs, and the remaining $649,000 would go towards the second phase of the youth-center construction, officials from both committees said Monday.

"What I think we're presenting to you today is something that I think a lot of people have really been asking for over the years, and that's an opportunity," said Don Robb, Council on Aging chairman.

The stabilization fund would generate around $9,000 in interest annually, which would "help provide funding for expanded senior programs and services," Robb said.

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski provided further details on the fund, saying the town has "an intent of what we want to do. We don't want to use it for wages, utilities, operating expenses. It's supposed to be for extraordinary [senior] services and programs."

DEVELOPERS: Town Yard included on tour of sites that could be in works

Buzz Stapczynski and Selectmen Chairman Paul Salafia. It came on the heels of a Board of Selectmen recommendation to support the rezoning effort at Town Meeting. The recommendation was made in two 4-1 votes, with Selectman Mary Lyman opposing both proposals.

Her opposition was largely driven by being "not in favor of changing the purpose of the Town Yard [land]," she said. Throughout the process, Lyman has supported redeveloping the Town Yard at its current location. James Arthur Jemison, deputy undersecretary of the state's Department of Housing and Community Development, said projects tying in multi-family housing are "critical to our effort to encourage growth around the state, particularly in the Merrimack Valley."

Efforts to convert the Town Yard into a mixed use district that allows multi-family housing "are the things that keep us competitive with other states," Jemison said.

Marty Jones, president and CEO of MassDevelopment, said Gov. Deval Patrick's administration "has a goal for 2,000 additional multi-family units this year in the commonwealth. We've been thinking of ways we can support that goal and make things happen."

"The best way we know to do it is to get developers, the real people who are actually going to help us meet the goal, to see places they might otherwise not think about," she said. "Developers are very interested in being in communities where they can get a deal done." During the presentation, developers asked officials how things like restrictions on density and the numbers of school-aged children are being handled in the Andover rezoning process.

Addressing school-aged children, Salafia told developers that the town "would consider anything, but the nature of what this is, we would like to keep it down."

Comments also focused briefly on concerns over contamination at the site. Highlighting a presentation from Monday night, Salafia said the feeling is that "this is very manageable, and that we can offer this without a long, drawn-out process."

"We are ready to go," he said.

After visiting the Town Yard, the tour also took developers to Brickstone Square off York Street. Developers were then driven to the following projects in surrounding towns: the Canal District Revitalization Area in downtown Lawrence, Machine Shop Village and the Osgood Smart Growth District in North Andover, and the Downtown Smart Growth District in Haverhill. With the Town Meeting still a month away and both the Planning Board and Board of Selectmen advising voters to support the rezoning proposal, both Jemison and Jones said they're eager to see how voters handle the proposal in May.

"Until Town Meeting acts, the zoning is not in place and it won't happen," Jones said. "But if the town is interested in having something happen, the sooner people get involved and hear about the opportunity, the more likely something will happen."

CONTAMINATION: Expert predicts cleanup costs to be lower than expected

certain scenarios were excluded from that risk assessment," Curtis said. "For example, there isn't a garden on that property."

With the AUL, Curtis said the state deems the site to be of "no significant risk" to the public.

"No significant risk" is a mathematical calculation," he said. "That takes into account everybody — trespassers, visitors, workers, residents, anyone who might hypothetically be on that site."

Some of the contamination stems from previously leaking underground tanks used to store fuel, including gasoline. This includes an abandoned tank the town didn't even know existed until finding it in 2004 while doing other work, according to Curtis.

If the town removed four feet of soil from every bit of land in the AUL-affected area, it would cost the town around $925,000, according to Curtis.

"I can't imagine anyone in any universe doing that, frankly, because that would be silly," he said.

Other cost estimates thrown out to the board included $50,000 to $75,000 for testing the site for more contamination; $25,000 to $50,000 for "surgical removal" of 500 to 1,000 tons of known contaminated soil, and $25,000 to $75,000 for environmental consulting, Curtis said.

That would make the worst case scenario facing the town $1 million, including the $925,000 for extensive soil removal and up to $75,000 for environmental consulting.

It's more likely the cleanup might cost a six-figure dollar amount, but even that is less likely than the cost going below $100,000, according to Curtis. The cost could also be paid by the developer, depending on the sales agreement between the developer and the town.

For the past year, the Board of Selectmen and Planning Board have been developing a rezoning proposal for the site, which would become known as the Andover Transit Oriented Development District. The plan aims to add more options for development at the site and has been viewed by some as a referendum to relocate the Town Yard off-site if approved. Two articles at this year's Annual Town Meeting, scheduled for May 6-8, deal with the proposal.

The site is believed to be worth around $3 million if mixed use — residential and commercial development — is allowed. Fears about the expense of cleaning the site have been part of the conversation, with officials concerned about how developers might view the contamination when making their offers to the town.

But if a developer has "a $25 million development, [contamination remediation] is just a line item for hazmat in a development project," Curtis said. "There is a whole raft of people who are actually looking for sites, and they think they can get them for cheap."

Referring to other contaminated properties throughout the state, Curtis said the Town Yard site "is nothing compared to a lot of the sites that are redeveloped every day. Pretty much every site in Boston seems to have contamination."

Wetherfield Drive resident Keith Saxon, who owns an environmental services firm, said he considers the site to be "pretty bland, low level" after reviewing state data.

"We're not talking chlorinated solvents. We're not talking highly contaminated groundwater," he said. "I don't think there's a huge issue with off-site contamination. It seems it's just the [contamination] in the soil."

Journeys in Home Care

Dee Carlson, M.Ed, CCC, SLP

Dominic starts speech and swallowing therapy.

I arrived at Dominic's home as his home health aide was leaving; she reported he was getting around the kitchen and making his lunch needing little help. Dressing and showering were still a challenge. Now, he was anxious to begin speech therapy to help with his speech and difficulty swallowing.

I began my visit by doing an assessment of his muscles in the mouth and throat to determine how to help. While Dominic was still slurring his words, of more concern was his problem swallowing because food can easily go into the lungs when it is hard to swallow. Food in the lungs can create serious health problems, such as pneumonia, slowing down his rehabilitation, and possibly sending him back to the hospital. Swallowing is very complex and many different muscles have to work together.

I showed Dominic a video on my iPad of the muscles used in swallowing, and the exercises that would help him swallow without danger. I also showed him strategies that would help him protect his airway when drinking, and how important it is to have good oral hygiene so bacteria does not go down the airway.

I left instructions for his daughter and asked that she be at our next visit to learn how to help Dominic with his exercises and swallowing strategies. The home health aide will also be trained. Recovery takes a team!

It was a great visit, and Dominic now realizes how important swallowing safely is to his recovery. Our goal is to keep Dominic home and healthy, free of infection, ready to hold that new great granddaughter.

Next week: Does Dominic hold his great granddaughter?

EDITOR: Vartabedian named to lead Townsman

its residents. Joining the award-winning team at The Andover Townsman offers a great opportunity to further that commitment."

She wants The Townsman to continue to be local residents' source for all things Andover.

"I'm hoping to spotlight everything from the triumphs of the town's Little League teams, the benevolent work of its civic groups and what's new and trending in the dining and arts scenes to the latest developments in town government affecting taxpayers. My hope is to fill The Townsman's pages each week with stories and photos about the people of Andover," Vartabedian said.

In the coming weeks, she will introduce herself throughout town and get to know more about Andover. "Also, I want to hear about what people would like to see in the Townsman's pages. I truly believe this is Andover's newspaper, and I want it to deliver the news and information its residents most desire to read," she said.

Vartabedian has spent most of her career at The Daily News, arriving in Newburyport in 1990. She spent her early years at The Daily News as a reporter covering Amesbury and later Newburyport. In 1995, she took over as features editor, and in 2010, she was named city editor. She is also the editor of the award-winning Newburyport Magazine.

A Haverhill native, she said she inherited her passion for community journalism from her father, Tom, who spent 40-plus years as a reporter, columnist and photographer for the then-daily Haverhill Gazette. He retired in 2006 but still writes a weekly column for the Gazette.

Vartabedian, 47, majored in journalism at Northeastern University, graduating in 1988.

She and husband, Pasquale Sico, live in Amesbury.

Karen Andreas, regional publisher of the Townsman and its sister publications in the North of Boston Media Group, said Vartabedian is committed to quality local news.

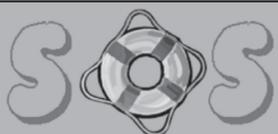

"Sonya is one of the very best community journalists I know. She is smart, experienced and very personable, so I'm confident she's the right person to lead the Townsman," Andreas said. "Sonya understands local news and the importance of community. Along with stories about how your tax money is spent and the goings-on of town government, Sonya will ensure the Townsman is a reflection of the community — with news and photos about kids, shopping, restaurants, youth sports and the like. Local is key."

Andreas praised Fater for his outstanding career with the Townsman.

Fater started at the weekly newspaper in 1993 after graduating from Tufts University. As a reporter, he won numerous awards from the New England Press Association and launched the Townsman's Arts & Entertainment page. He was named editor in March 2000.

The Townsman won 10 NEPA awards in competition with weeklies across New England during his first year at the helm, and it has continued to receive yearly recognition from national and regional media organizations. Community Newspaper Holdings, Inc., which owns the Townsman, named it the group's best non-daily paper in 2009 and 2011. Fater was individually recognized as CNHI Editorial Writer of the Year for 2012.

Fater, an Andover High School graduate, lives in Haverhill with his wife, Rebecca, and their three children, Neil, Gwen and Paige.

Andover Housing Authority to replace windows with $300,000 from state

The Andover Housing Authority has been awarded $306,590 in "formula funding" from the Massachusetts Department of Housing and Community Development for fiscal year 2015. Chairman James Cuticchia reports the money will be used to replace all Frye Circle apartment windows.

Frye Circle is a town property located at 256 North Main St. There are 96 apartments and each apartment has two large windows. The 192 windows will be replaced with vinyl clad double hung windows and it is expected that the work will begin in April 2014.

The Andover Housing Authority also has been awarded $25,500 for trimming trees and removing some trees on all AHA properties, replacing iron handrails in Chestnut Court and replacing main door units and thresholds in the double decker buildings of Chestnut Court, according to a release. Work on these items is expected to commence sometime during April.

2013 rabies clinic

The Andover Animal Hospital will conduct the annual rabies vaccination clinic for dogs and cats on Saturday, April 13 from 8:30 a.m. to noon at its office at 233 Lowell Street.

The cost of the vaccination will be $10 per animal. All animals should be leashed or restrained.

Rabies vaccinations will be good for three years if you bring proof (current rabies certificate) that your pet has been immunized within the past year.

Otherwise, the vaccination will be good for only one year. State law requires that all dogs and cats must be vaccinated against rabies by six months of age and must be three months of age before they can be vaccinated.

If residents have not yet licensed their dogs for 2013, contact the Town Clerk's Office for further information at 978-623-8255.

Free community head and neck cancer screenings

Holy Family Hospital is offering a series of free head and neck cancer screenings during the month of April.

Morning and afternoon screenings are available on Thursday, April 11 and Tuesday, April 16 through Friday, April 19.

Appointments are required and will take place at the following locations: Andover Ear Nose & Throat Center, 198 Massachusetts Ave., North Andover; Colden Seymour Ear, Nose & Throat, 200 Sutton St., Suite #100, North Andover; Holy Family Hospital's Cancer Center, 70 East St., Methuen.

Individuals who can answer yes to any of the following questions are encouraged to be screened: Do you smoke or chew tobacco? Are you more than a 'social' drinker? Do you have a history of head and neck cancer? Do you have a lump in your mouth, throat or neck that won't heal? A sore that will not go away? Or have difficulty swallowing?

Appointments are required and can be made by calling Holy Family's DoctorFinder service at 800-488-5959. Location will be confirmed at the time your appointment is scheduled.

Cholesterol screening for town residents

The Andover Board of Health is holding a cholesterol screening clinic on Thursday, April 11, from 9 a.m. until noon. An appointment is necessary. The clinic is for Andover residents only.

The simple finger stick test costs $5 and does not require fasting. For an appointment call the Andover Health Department at 978-623-8295.

This program is made possible through a grant from the Andover Home for Aged People.

LGH CEO named to State Health Policy Council

Dianne J. Anderson, CEO of Lawrence General Hospital, was named to the Health Policy Commission Advisory Council by Health Policy Commission Executive Director David Seltz.

The Council brings together a wide range of health care leaders from an array of fields to guide the HPC's implementation of the state's landmark health care cost containment law.

HPC's Advisory Council will advise on the HPC's overall operations and policies, and is charged with implementing a new health care cost control law, developing policies to reduce overall cost growth, and monitoring health care delivery.

Budget forum moved to April 10

The League of Women Voter's budget forum has been changed to Wednesday, April 10. The League of Women Voters of Andover/North Andover encourages residents to prepare for Annual Town Meeting by attending the forum at 7 p.m. in the School Committee Room, 36R Bartlet St., second floor of the School Administration Building.

The forum is expected to bring together leaders of town government to discuss issues and answer citizen questions about the FY 2014 budget. The forum will be televised live and taped for Andover TV, Comcast Channel 99 and Verizon Channel 43.

AHS students in virtual college classes

BY DUSTIN LUCA
STAFF WRITER

A group of students at the high school are taking a crash course in college life — and getting high school course credit for it.

Thirteen Andover High students are enrolled in courses at “edX,” an online, non-profit education venture that brings students, professors and ideas together in a framework of free courses for which anyone can register.

The organization developed a partnership with Andover High School to study how high school students engage college-level content through David Birnbach, a School Committee member with connections both at edX and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, one of the schools in edX.

With the world becoming more digital and web-based, “the best learning will be learning online in concert with more project-based learning going on in a classroom, where the role of the teacher will change but be as important as ever,” Birnbach said.

The current method of teaching — students focused on the teacher at the front of the classroom during the day, and sitting at home leafing through textbooks at night — is only “one method of the learning experience,” according to Birnbach.

Web-based learning “will grow to be a bigger component of learning at Andover High, and learning in general,” he said.

The students are all enrolled in at least one of three edX courses: Justice and The Ancient Greek Hero, both offered by Harvard, and Introduction to Biology, offered by MIT, according to AHS Assistant Principal Luz Valverde.

Completing a course nets the enrolled student a certificate, which earns him or her one course credit at the high school, Valverde said.

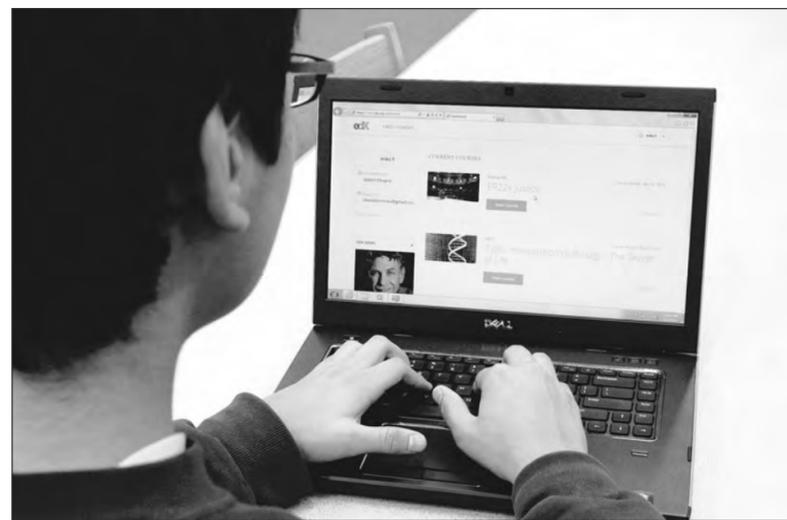

But if you ask the students what they’re getting out of the program, they give a different response.

“It’s more for enrichment of your mind and understanding rather than an academic boost,” said 16-year-old Nikhil Chopra, a junior. “A program like this is really important for delving into what you’re going to be learning in college.”

Completing an edX course doesn’t offer a GPA boost. The courses offer certificates for completion instead of weighted letter grades, making grade translation impossible, according to Duclos.

Nikhil, chewing through content for the Ancient Greek Hero and Justice courses, said he thinks it is better that way.

“If you’re letting it just be something you can learn from and enrich yourself with, it’s more effective than an academic goal,” he said.

Mimi Olney, 17, and also enrolled in the Justice course, agreed.

“It’s nice to take a class when you don’t have to worry about what you’re getting as a grade,” she said. “You want to pass the course, but it’s nice just to take the class to learn.”

While the entire college experience isn’t transferred through the online content, certain aspects of university life are conveyed virtually. Course lectures are streamed as video footage, and students can pause, rewind, even slow down content to complete it at their own pace, the students said.

Self tests are assigned to ensure the students are understanding and completing the content. Reading assignments are set up to align with video lectures, and resource boxes provides other content like programs designed to help reinforce lessons, according to the students.

“It’s like going to class every single day,” said 16-year-old Jordan Janeiro, who is taking the biology course at MIT.

For 16-year-old Grace Anne Castro, edX is providing an opportunity to prepare for college two years in advance.

“You really have to be self-motivated to do the work, and that’s a big thing you need to do in college,” she said.

For school administrators, there’s an even bigger picture to what the online courses provide.

“When you talk about exposure to different ideas and points of view... I just think about the different depths to enter into that college environment,” Duclos said.

The online nature of the program also contributes to a global awareness, as the students collaborate with others around the world, according to Duclos.

“It helps to develop tolerance, understanding, perspective — that cross-cultural piece,” she said.

Only a few colleges were part of edX when the students started their work, they said. Today, the website boasts collaboration with Georgetown University, the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Toronto and McGill University in Canada.

Courses listed for the fall, 2013 semester include “Ideas of the 20th Century” and “Age of Globalization” from the University of Texas at Austin, and “Science & Cooking: From Haute Cuisine to Soft Matter Science” from Harvard.

While there are 13 Andover High students enrolled today, “if the pilot continues to be successful, I envision the number of students at Andover High taking edX courses increasing, and I imagine more of our students being able to get exposure to the online experience moving forward,” Birnbach said.

Top tech school student has scholarship to PA post-grad year

Two weeks ago, Jesenia Interiano was thrilled when she opened her acceptance letter from Phillips Academy in Andover, congratulating her. This office technology senior at the Greater Lawrence Technical School in Andover had applied to the respected private school for additional preparation for college.

When she learned they had awarded her a full scholarship into their post-graduate program, “I started crying, I was so happy,” she said.

Interiano applied because she feels she would benefit from further academic instruction, according to a release from the GLTS. Keeping her goal to apply to Harvard University in sight, she has maintained her grade point average at 4.23 and currently is ranked as No. 1 in her class of 289 students, the school reports. She hopes to major in business.

Information Technology instructor John Mejia introduced her to the idea of applying. She spoke to former classmate Adolfo Acevedo, who had also completed the post-graduate year at Phillips. He told her there were many doors this preparatory time could open for her as he currently attends Brown University, according to the GLTS. Guidance Counselor Christopher Plourde met with Interiano about her plans to apply, describing her as a hard-working and intelligent young woman.

“I am confident that Jesenia will be a great asset to their [Phillips Academy] school community, both now as a student, and surely afterwards as a notable graduate,” reported Plourde. “Just as GLTS alumni Adolfo Acevedo did last year at Phillips Andover, Jesenia will make all of us at GLTS proud.”

Besides spending many hours each day on her studies, Interiano participates in a number of extra-curricular activities, according to the s. She is a student representative for both the School District Committee and the Office Technology Advisory Board. She is the president of both the National Honor Society and the Interact team, was a student reporter for the Reggie News team and, as a junior, participated in both SkillsUSA and DECA, where she placed second in her district competition for accounting.

When she’s not in school, she works part time as a waitress for a local Asian restaurant and relaxes by going to the movies with her friends.

According to a school release, “Jesenia is excited at the opportunity this coming year will give her. Most of her family didn’t finish high school and Jesenia prides herself in her academic accomplishments, saying, ‘I want to do the best I can. I want to be the difference for future generations.’”

Obituaries

Robert E. Earle, 95

January 21, 1918 — February 18, 2013

ANDOVER — Born in Dawson Springs, Ky., to Irbie Earle, a civil engineer who helped design the El in Chicago, and Mary Frances McKenna Earle, who studied voice at the New England Conservatory of Music, Robert Earle came of age in Carbondale, Ill., where he became the first Boy Scout in southern Illinois to achieve the rank of Eagle Scout. During high school he was an athlete, poet, essayist, and saxophonist. At age 13, he formed a jazz band, The Egyptian Ambassadors, performing throughout the Little Egypt region of Illinois for the next five years.

After 11 years in the U.S. Army, including assignments at the Pentagon and at the American Embassy in Copenhagen, he settled his family in Massachusetts, where his career in corporate management included proposing and spearheading a late 1960's Avco Corporation program that employed exclusively minorities to build, staff, and manage a state-of-the-art printing company in the heart of Roxbury.

While attending the College of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn., he met his future wife, Margaret Peck, a student at the St. Paul School of Art. They celebrated 72 years of marriage in September of 2012.

Preceded in death by an infant son, a grown daughter, and a grandson, Robert is survived by his wife, five children, nine grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren. We strive to carry on the legacy of this quiet man of honor, humility, humor, faith, and devotion. Memorial donations may be made to Smile Train (www.smiletrain.org).

Alison Walbridge Hannan, 91

March 12, 1921 — February 27, 2013

ANDOVER — Alison Walbridge Hannan, 92, formerly of Wellesley and Dedham, Mass., and Buffalo, N.Y., passed away on Feb. 27, 2013.

She was the daughter of Alison Mann and George Walbridge of Buffalo, N.Y., and leaves behind her husband of 70 years, William Kelley Hannan; her sister, Emily Elford; and her three children, Alison Hannan Vaill (Lucy) of Andover; William Kelley Hannan, Jr. (Wick) of Langhorne, Pa.; and Sarah Wells Hannan of York, Pa. She also had five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Throughout her lifetime Alison was very involved in community activities, including serving on the St. Andrew's Altar Guild and as a member of The Dedham Exchange.

ARRANGEMENTS: Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend her memorial service at 11 a.m. on Saturday, April 20, 2013, at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, 79 Denton Road, in Wellesley, Mass. There will be a reception in the Parish Hall following the service. Those who wish may make memorial contributions to The Merrimack Valley Hospice, 360 Merrimack Street, Lawrence, MA 01843. Arrangements made by the Conte Funeral Home in North Andover, Mass.

SUPPORT GROUPS

Coping with Loss

"Hope in the Midst of Grief," an eight-week bereavement support group, is held at Saints Medical Center, Lowell, on Wednesdays, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Registration is mandatory. Call Lu Bonanno, Beacon Hospice, at 978-372-4211 for additional information about the next group, and to register. The group is offered as a free community service.

Young Widow and Widowers

The Andover Young Widow and Widowers organization offers support to those dealing with the loss of a spouse. Group discussions are facilitated by a licensed social worker and provide a safe place where young widowed persons, up to the age of 58, can share experiences and mutual support. The meetings are governed by what their needs are at the time.

"Younger widows and widowers are 20 years younger than the traditional widowed population and they have needs that are not addressed in other groups. Many young widows and widowers aren't able to find any place to go for comfort and support," reports the organization. "Each member has a unique story to tell and their losses are deeply personal, but they share a common experience of early widowhood that destroyed their hopes and dreams." Meetings are held on Wednesdays, 7 to 9 p.m., at a site in Andover.

For more information call 978-979-8993 or visit youngwidowsandwidowers.org.

SUPPORT GROUPS

The local area has a wide variety of support groups that people can attend for the short or long term. Information about some of these groups is included below, based on the information sent by group organizers:

e-mail Barbara.Pandolfi@TheArcofGHN.org.

Living with a chronic disease

Chronic disease self-management is for anyone living with an ongoing medical condition such as arthritis, asthma, cancer, chronic back pain, chronic fatigue syndrome, diabetes, fibromyalgia, heart disease, high blood pressure, lupus, Parkinson's disease or stroke. Sponsored by Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley and Lowell General Hospital, the group meets the second and fourth Tuesday of the month from 1 to 2 p.m. in Hanchett Auditorium. Call 978-937-6038.

Caregiver support

On the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month, from 5 to 6:30 p.m., Spectrum Adult Day Health Program at North Andover (located at 1820 Turnpike St., Suite 106 in North Andover) hosts a free support group for caregivers of people with Alzheimer's disease and other memory disorders. Led by a social worker and offering a confidential forum for the sharing of coping techniques and information, free respite care will be made available upon request, according to organizers. For more information and to arrange respite services, contact Susan Harrison at 978-921-1697 ext. 221 or shariso@nhs-healthlink.org

Diabetes support

Diabetes support group meetings are held on the third Wednesday of the month, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. For more information, call Mary Breen 603-898-5023.

Divorced or separated

A support group for anyone separated or divorced has held sessions at the Parish House of Free Christian Church 28 Elm St., Andover. For information, contact John at 978-470-0327.

For Alzheimer's caregivers

An Alzheimer's caregivers support group meets on the last Wednesday of each month, at 7 p.m. in Atria Marland Place, 27 Stevens St., Andover; 978-475-4225.

Cognitive disabilities

Self-advocates have been planning a new group in the Greater Andover area. It is an opportunity for people with cognitive disabilities to learn about empowerment, learn about rights, meet new people and get involved in the self-advocacy movement. This movement educates people about working together to make choices that enrich their lives. The meeting will be held Tuesdays at the North Andover/Andover YMCA on Haverhill Street from 6:30 to 8 p.m. The meeting is open to people with disabilities as well as their supporters. Contact Barbara Pandolfi, program manager, The Arc of Greater Haverhill-Newburyport, formerly known as The Arc of Northern Essex County, Inc., 57 Wingate St., Suite 301, Haverhill. Call 978-373-0552, fax 978-373-0552 or

Down syndrome

"Celebrating Our Special Gifts," a Down syndrome Lowell General support group provides support and education for the parents of children with Down syndrome. Parents encourage and strengthen each other, sharing experiences, knowledge and understanding, to enrich the lives of their children so they may reach their fullest potential. Meets the third Monday of each month, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Clark Auditorium at Lowell General Hospital. Parents and children of all ages are welcome. Call group leader Linda at 978-459-6854.

NEWS IN BRIEF

2013 Priceless Prom Gown Program

Teens looking for some help in attending their prom have a local organization to which they can turn: the Priceless Prom Gown Program.

Upcoming boutique dates for the Priceless Prom Gown Program will be held April 6 and 27 from noon to 5 p.m. The program's boutique is located behind the Everett Mill in the historic Stone Mill at 15 Union St. in Lawrence.

The PPGP is a non profit 501(c)3 program that is in its seventh year that helps local high school students to attend their proms who otherwise might not be able to do so due to financial hardship or family circumstances.

"Local financially challenged teenagers are encouraged to come and choose the perfect prom gown and accessories for a nominal donation of $10. We even have a few tuxedos for the boys," the group says in a release. "We are proud to be able to offer this opportunity through the help of private and local business donations and tireless volunteers."

For information about Priceless Prom Gown Program, or to make a donation, visit the website pricelesspromgown-program.com or contact carol@pricelesspromgown-program.com.

GLCAC offers free tax services to low-, moderate-income

Free tax services for low- to moderate-income families and individuals are available from the Greater Lawrence Community Action Council Inc., which is participating in the IRS Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program.

GLCAC Inc.'s volunteers offer free tax help to people earning $51,000 or less and who need assistance in preparing their own tax returns.

The tax preparers also help families file for the Earned Income Tax Credit, which could mean a tax refund for families.

Tax return services are available Tuesdays and Thursdays between 4 and 8 p.m. through April 11.

For more information or to make an appointment, call 978-620-4669. Clients must bring financial records to their appointments, and if filing jointly, both individuals must be present. A full list of required records is available at glcac.org.

Former Andover youth leader honored

Former Andover resident and Youth Services leader Suzie Clarke Allen is being recognized through the Nightingale Awards for Excellence in Nursing program.

Suzie Clarke Allen

Clarke Allen is a Yale University nursing student and will receive a $1,200 scholarship at a special reception this week, according to a release from the Visiting Nurse Association.

The Nightingale Awards for Excellence in Nursing was originally developed by the VNA/SCC to be a collaborative effort to celebrate outstanding nurses and elevate the nursing profession. The goals of the program are to encourage retention, focus public attention, recognize the breadth and scope of nursing practice at the local level, and inspire future nurses. To help achieve these goals, for the past ten years, the Nightingale program has provided scholarships to outstanding students from five local nursing schools: Gateway Community College, Quinipiac, Sacred Heart, and Southern Connecticut State University, and the Yale

School of Nursing.

Suzie Clarke Allen, the recipient from Yale University, graduated from Andover High School in 1998 and served as program coordinator for Andover Youth Services from 1998 to 2010.

"She maintains honor grades at Yale, as well as stellar clinical evaluations while raising two small children and commuting from Rhode Island," according to the release. She has been selected as a student representative to the External Advisory Committee for Yale School of Nursing and also Dean's Advisory Committee Assistant Dean for Student Affairs Frank Grosso said Clarke Allen is "an excellent student and student leader. She is mature, addressing both client concerns and academic concerns with thoughtfulness and the ability to look at the whole picture."

All 2013 scholarship recipients will be honored at a special reception hosted by the VNA/SCC on April 8. In addition, thanks to the generosity of Platinum sponsor Yale-New Haven Hospital, they will be recognized at the Nightingale Awards for Excellence in Nursing, which will be held on Monday, May 13 at Anthony's Ocean View in New Haven.

Cancer fundraiser planned in Boston

Karen Bomberger of Andover has been working with other board members to organize the fifth annual An Evening for Bridget in Boston on April 27. This annual event honors the memory of Bridget (Bomberger) Slotemaker, who lost her life to cancer in 2008.

Bridget Slotemaker was diagnosed with stage IV cancer in May 2008, while pregnant with her second child. Despite painful and exhausting treatment, she delivered her second child prematurely, but died only three months and five days after receiving her diagnosis.

The event will be held Saturday, April 27, at 6:30 p.m. at the Boston Harbor Hotel. Started by friends and co-chaired by Bridget's husband, Steve Slotemaker, and her step-mother, Sara Bomberger, An Evening for Bridget celebrates the life of this Massachusetts native and Boston College graduate who died of cancer at age 35.

This event supports the Program for Young Women with Breast Cancer at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, and has raised more than $310,000 to support women who are young, strong, and bravely fighting cancer.

An Evening for Bridget will include a cocktail reception, silent and live auctions, dancing and a deejay. WCVB-TV reporter and breast-cancer survivor Kelley Tuthill will serve as the evening's emcee. Tickets are $125 per person and can be purchased at evening-4bridget.org.

SALIVA TESTING

In the near future, dentists may be able to perform some screening tests that now require blood samples. Advances in the science of salivary diagnostics have led to the development of a number of tools that help interpret biomarkers (substances used as indicators of a biological state) in saliva, which can be used for the early detection of disease. Biomarkers may also play a role in treatment monitoring, the prediction of recurrences, and other assessments. With this in mind, saliva testing may be used for the early detection of cancers, autoimmune diseases, diabetes, and other disorders. From the patient's standpoint, it certainly is preferable to undergo screening tests that involve spitting into a cup rather than having blood drawn.

For dental professionals, saliva can be a hindrance during examinations and procedures. Recent advances in salivary diagnostic research, however, indicate that saliva holds promise for the screening of oral and general health problems. At DENTISTRY BY DESIGN our priority is to deliver quality care to informed patients in a comfortable and convenient setting. We encourage you to contact us at 978-475-5333 and hope you will be the next new patient who comes into our office located at 19 Barnard St. for a dental visit.

P.S. Saliva is a not only a necessary lubricant, but it also protects teeth from decay and prevents infection by controlling bacteria.

TRUST: Town Meeting may be asked to use fund

Huntress said the other $649,000 going toward the youth center would put a notable dent in the $1.35 million needed to finish the second phase of the project.

The project is being split into two phases. The first phase builds most of the building, with $2.2 million raised by the private Andover Youth Foundation and another $2 million provided by Andover voters at 2011. The as-yet unfunded second phase would add a multipurpose room, extra office space and an additional set of bathrooms.

With so much money coming from the senior community, Robb said the completion of the center "is an opportunity to foster community use within the new youth center, expanding youth and senior collaborations within that building."

Rosalyn Wood said her family, specifically her late husband, the grandson of William Wood, wanted the money to go towards

"a senior center when we thought we were building a senior center uptown."

"That never materialized, but this seems like a wonderful compromise," she said.

If the trust's money is used for a youth center, the current deal between the youth foundation and the town may need to be amended, according to Stapezynski.

"Those are the details that town counsel and I have to work with the selectmen on, in terms of how the $649,000 would fit into the program," he said. "We do have an agreement between the selectmen and the foundation about whose money goes first — theirs goes first and ours goes second. So we would have to amend that to accomplish the additional $649,000."

Annual Town Meeting is slated to begin May 6 and is expected to run all three scheduled nights, through May 8, according to Stapezynski. It will be held at the Andover High School's field house, beginning at 7 p.m. each night.

Hard to justify scrapping current ambulance service

At a time when there is increasing pressure on every public dollar, it is hard to justify a community's abandoning an effective, efficient regional service and striking out on its own.

Fire Chief Michael Mansfield wants to upgrade the town's ambulance services from basic life support to advanced life support, in the process dropping an advanced life support ambulance service provided by Lawrence General Hospital. Selectmen Monday were right to suggest Mansfield should work with the hospital rather than look to create a new taxpayer-funded service.

Emergency medical technicians are trained to provide basic life savings care and transport patients to the hospital as quickly as possible. But when a patient is suffering a more serious medical crisis, he or she needs the services of paramedics, who are trained to provide a higher level of care than EMTs. A paramedic is able to administer intravenous fluids and medications, insert breathing tubes, read electrocardiograms and provide other such advanced treatments.

In a presentation to selectmen, Mansfield has said having its own advanced life support ambulance service would allow Andover to cut response times by 20 to 25 percent over ALS crews dispatched from Lawrence General.

Mansfield asked selectmen to fund the first-year start-up cost of just under $146,000. Mansfield said the cost would increase slightly year by year, but the revenue generated by the service each year through 2017 would cover the full cost of the program.

The ALS service provided by Lawrence General comes at no cost to the community, and their greater number of patient interactions leads to great experience and better outcomes for patients, hospital representatives countered.

If public safety officials in town have concerns with LGH's handling of town cases it should work with the hospital to improve the service. The hospital is planning a multi-million-dollar medical center on Route 133 in Andover and is trying to entice residents to return to using LGH rather than travelling to Boston for non-emergency medical needs. LGH has every reason to listen and respond to any legitimate concerns town safety officials may have about all its services.

But we are not aware of any great volume of complaints from Andover or anywhere else about the quality of Lawrence General's ALS service. The service has a track record of exceptional clinical results, performing successful intubations 98 percent of the time, compared to a national average of less than 80 percent. The LGH crews arrived on the scene in Andover in an average of less than 8.5 minutes.

It seems to us that starting a new ambulance service at a time when health-care reimbursements to providers are being ratcheted down by national legislation is an unnecessary risk for taxpayers, particularly when a no-cost regional service already serves the community well.

It's worth reconsidering when people should be tried as adults

The state legislature's joint Judiciary Committee has two bills before it that would raise from 17 to 18 the age where young offenders could be prosecuted as adults.

While no one wants to be seen as being "soft" on crime, a persuasive argument can be made that treating 17-year-olds as full-grown adult criminals leaves them vulnerable to abuse and more likely to re-offend.

Rep. Brad Hill, who sponsors one of the bills, has cited a Northeastern University study that showed youth placed in the adult system are 34 percent more likely to be re-arrested for a violent offense than those placed in the juvenile system.

"The juvenile system is designed to get at the root causes of delinquency," Hill argues. "Risks such as gang influence, family problems and school issues often contribute to delinquent behavior. These youth-specific issues are recognized more quickly and addressed more skillfully in the juvenile justice system."

It should be noted that we're not talking about major crimes here. Local district attorneys would still be able to seek adult charges in serious crimes, especially those involving violence. And youthful offenders would still answer for their transgressions; they would just do it in a more appropriate setting.

In Massachusetts, all 17-year-olds accused of crimes are prosecuted as adults (meaning no one is required to contact their parents when they are arrested) and can be sent to adult jails and prisons, often putting them at high risk of sexual assault and suicide. District attorneys do, however, have the option to charge first-time offenders between 17 and 21 as "youthful offenders," keeping them out of the adult detention system. To its credit, the Essex County district attorney's office makes liberal use of the first-time offender program.

It's worth noting that 38 states and the U.S. Supreme Court consider 18 to be the proper age of adult criminal responsibility. It's time for Massachusetts to give the issue a long look.

FULL HOUSE OF WORSHIP

There was quite a crowd at South Church enjoying choir music from the balcony.

Important to focus on behavior, not weight

On Fitness

Question: How do you encourage young women to be healthy and strong without 'waking up' any compulsive obsession with weight and body? What kind of language do you use?

Expert: Jamey Lachiana
 Exercise physiologist,
 Yang's Fitness Center

Answer: I find the best way to teach a young lady or man (or adult), is to educate them to the point that they realize it would be reckless to continue down the same path of harmful eating. Typically, most young ladies and men enjoying learning new methods to better themselves. When they can also share what they have been empowered with to their friends, it makes it that much more exciting to learn.

Use empowering language like; "It can be important to remember...," "One of the best things you can do is..."

or "I find, what works for me and many others is...". This kind of communication gives the person a choice, and not a command. No one enjoys being told what to do, especially if they don't want to make changes to begin with.

This method gives the person a chance to make up their own mind. They are given knowledge to do what works, or they can continue to follow the path that hasn't worked for them.

I can't over stress how important is it to start educating, at a young age, the benefits of healthy eating, and exercise. Habits are so difficult to change the older you get and also the busier you become with work, education, relationships, and so on. So get them started sooner rather than later.

Expert: Art McDermott
 Owner, Matrix Strength & Fitness

Answer: I believe the conversation should be about body composition and never body weight. There is no such thing as an "ideal weight."

Let me explain. Would you rather have a body weight of 120 pounds with a body fat percentage of 33 or a bodyweight of 145 pounds with a body fat percentage of 18? The later profile is far healthier. Once young women understand that the numbers on the scale are not a good measure of health, well-being or even physical appearance, they can move forward.

The language also needs to focus on behaviors, and not physical appearance. This is easier said than done, of course. However, once a young woman understands and sees for herself that an increase in muscle mass moves her in the right direction, the conversation becomes easier. Fitness fosters confidence as well, which lies at the foundation of self-esteem.

All women need to understand they will not end up with grotesque levels of muscle mass either. They are just not designed that way.

Question on nutrition: What if I'm starved at bedtime? What are your favorite bedtime snack ideas?

Expert: Art McDermott
 Owner, Matrix Strength & Fitness

Answer: This common problem stems from poor choices earlier in the day. If blood-sugar levels have been on a roller coaster ride all day long as a result of high glycemic food choices and insulin release, bedtime becomes a problem.

If you can keep the blood sugar steady by opting for fewer processed carbs during the daytime, you can avoid the blood-sugar drop later on.

If you MUST eat after 7 or 8 p.m., it is key to stick with protein and low-sugar foods. Protein will keep you fuller longer and keep insulin levels from spiking. I like mixed nuts or something like celery and peanut butter.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Town must be willing to pay for high quality schools

Editor, Townsman:

We are embarking on another challenging municipal budget year for Andover. While the intent of budgeting for fiscal year 2014 has been to provide level services for all departments, it seems that our public schools are coming up short. This is not the first time that our schools have felt the pinch. Painful cuts have been the hallmark for several prior school budget years.

I believe that it is fair to say that the strains of trying to provide high quality education for Andover students with fewer and fewer resources are clearly evident. Unfunded and underfunded government mandates are a significant part of the current deficit identified in the proposed school budget for 2014. In my view, the town is obligated to find the resources necessary to cover all the costs for mandates imposed on our schools.

The time is way overdue for the town come to grips with its need to dedicate sufficient resources in our public schools to level fund our schools. To that end, our leaders must aggressively seek out the funds needed to help our schools begin to dig out of a cumulative resource deficit that gets bigger and bigger with each passing year.

Here are some ways in which the town can pursue this recovery effort.

Our town leaders need to meet with our Congressional delegation and find ways to fully fund the federal IDEA law that mandates a good education for all of our special needs students. At present, the federal government provides about 20 percent of the resources needed to meet requirements specified under federal law. As a community, we need to do better than that.

When state and federal funds dedicated to our public schools are received, the town must dedicate 100 percent of those funds to our schools. The town has traditionally redirected some of those resources to non-school purposes. It is time for that practice to stop. The town has an obligation to see that our schools receive all the resources that funding agencies have allocated to public education in Andover.

The town is obligated to educate students whose parents are teachers and residents at Phillips Academy. While there is a continuing agreement that the town maintains with the academy, the financial resources received vastly underfund the value of the services rendered. The town should amend the existing agreement to require Phillips Academy to finance the full cost of educating Phillips based students in the Andover Public Schools. In addition, there should be a negotiated settlement regarding the value of other municipal services provided to the academy.

We all seek to showcase our schools as some of the best in Massachusetts. That prestige comes with a cost. If Andover wishes to continue to tout its hard earned reputation for high quality schools, then it is high time that Andover be willing to pay for it.

Memories of a legend

Editor, Townsman:

A few weeks ago I read some real sad news about the loss of an Andover legend. It made me sad for sure, but at the same time it brought back childhood memories that made me smile.

Frank Pelletier — or just plain Frank to those of us 9-year-old kids playing against 12-year-old men (when it was allowed back in the day) — passed away at the young age of 52. Just to hear you would be playing against Frank's team and he would be pitching was enough to make a young boy come up with a cough and sore throat that morning.

Frank threw the ball faster than seemed humanly possible. He would never throw at anyone so there was no need to be scared but, trust me, every 9-, 10- and most 11- and 12-year-olds were thinking the same thing: I hope one doesn't slip out of his hand. Well, three called strikes later and you were heading back to the bench thankful your at bat was over. The next batter up would pass by and you would say "Go get him," even though you knew he had no chance.

Shaking hands after the game was like shaking the hand of Nolan Ryan. He was the type of person from what I know and what I have heard made the world a better place, which to me is the ultimate ideal of what life is all about.

We never know when someone will leave us. We always think we will have the time or chance to bump into that person and say what we feel. Too often, we never get that chance. Hopefully Frank knew he was thought of as not only a great person but a legend.

WEB QUESTION

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Should a town-controlled trust be used to finance a portion of the youth center?

YES: The contribution will make the building a true community center for all ages to use.

YES: The Wood Trust should better the community, and many would benefit from this.

YES, but for another reason.

NO: The Andover Youth Foundation said it would raise the money it needs, so it should live up to its word.

NO: The Wood Trust money should be used only for senior programming and a senior facility.

NO, but for another reason.

I don't know, or I have no opinion.

LAST WEEK'S QUESTION

Last week's question was, "School Superintendent Marinel McGrath has a new, five-year contract. Is that amount of time appropriate for the schools system's leader? Too long? Not enough?" With 31 votes, the answers were: TOO LONG: Most unions and employees get less than five years and go to negotiations faster. That should be the case here: 15 votes, 48.39 percent.

JUST RIGHT: McGrath needs time to enact her strategic plan, and five years gives her a chance to dig into it substantially: 13 votes, 41.94 percent.

NOT ENOUGH: The maximum allowed is six years. The School Committee should have offered that to maximize McGrath's potential: three votes, 10 percent.

I don't know, or I have no opinion: zero votes.

Pops conductor Lockhart to appear in town

Fall event at Collins Center

Boston Pops conductor Keith Lockhart and some musical friends will perform in Andover this coming fall. On Saturday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the Collins Center for the Performing Arts at Andover High School in Andover, Lockhart will present a talk on composer Igor Stravinsky's "The Soldier's Tale," illustrated by periodic interludes of music performed by a group of seven musicians. This event is presented by the Northern Essex Community College Foundation Inc., the Women of NECC, and the NECC Alumni Association. Proceeds will benefit NECC's Endowment Fund.

The 1918 theatrical Russian parable "The Soldier's Tale" is meant to be "read, played, and danced" and tells the tale of a soldier who trades his fiddle to the devil for a book that predicts the future of the economy. Lockhart, a 53-year-old New York native, became the 20th conductor of the Boston Pops in 1995, adding his artistic vision to the Pops tradition established by his predecessors John Williams and Arthur Fiedler. The Boston Pops played opening night, Sept. 25, 1983 at the Collins Center for the Performing Arts, but such well known performers appear at the facility infrequently today.

People can purchase tickets at $35 each by calling the NECC Institutional Advancement events line at 978-556-3870 or visiting mvarts.info.

Flocking together for a day

Animal lovers gathered at Massachusetts School of Law on Federal Street in Andover for its annual Animal Rights Day. The day features a variety of events each year, from information on the latest animal-rights law cases to animal demonstrations geared toward children. This year's event was held last Saturday, the day before Easter, and included an egg hunt and visit by the Easter Bunny.

Summer camp rivalry stars in show

BY JUDY WAKEFIELD

With a summer-camp rivalry at its center, a middle school show this weekend seems perfect for its age group. Doherty Middle School is set to perform Disney's Camp Rock. It's a classic story of rivalry and power from the show's opening scene. "This high-energy musical will be directed and performed by a large ensemble cast - over 60 students across all three grades," said Doherty Middle's Samantha LaDuc. "We are looking very forward to the show." There will be singing and dancing as part of the Doherty Middle School Drama Club's spring show. Camp Rock will be performed by the Doherty Middle students on Friday, April 5 and Saturday, April 6, 7 p.m.; and on Sunday, April 7 at 1 p.m. In the musical, Mitchie and her friends arrive at Camp Rock, ready to spend another summer jamming out and having the time of their lives. But the new, flashy Camp Star across the lake now threatens Camp Rock's very existence. To keep the doors open, Mitchie steps up, rallies her fellow Camp Rockers, and gets them into top shape for the ultimate showdown. Tickets for the Doherty Middle production in Memorial Auditorium, which is used as the school's auditorium, cost $10 and are available at the door or at Learning Express.

The Gelb Exhibition Gallery is focusing this month on the work of two pairs of local artists. The art exhibition "Full Circle: A Mentor-Mentee Exhibition - Two Generations of Teaching" is on view in the Gelb Exhibition Gallery at Phillips Academy, from April 1 through April 30. On exhibit is the work of retired Phillips Academy art faculty members Frances McCormick and Audrey Bensley and current art department faculty Emily Trespas and Thayer Zaeder. Andover residents Zaeder and Trespas honor their creative mentors in a collaborative exhibition with more than 70 pieces on display. The installation celebrates their strong mentor-mentee relationships that developed over years of mutual learning, making and sharing, according to a release from the school. Bensley and Zaeder present a variety of their ceramic techniques and firing processes showing salmon, white and salt fire stoneware, raku, terracotta and porcelain. McCormick and Trespas feature a range of drawings and paintings—both from observation and imagination—in charcoal, graphite, ink and oil. The opening reception is Friday April 5 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. in the Gelb Exhibition Gallery in George Washington Hall off Chapel Avenue on the Phillips Academy campus. All are welcome. The gallery is open during school business hours and is handicapped accessible.

TOWN TALK

Time for food truck in Andover?

With Hometown Seafoods set to close this month, one of its workers is looking to the future. And what she sees is a food truck.

Kristine Dancause proposes an idea that we suspect foodies — and business people looking for a tasty lunch — would embrace. She'd like to partner with an investor, buy an old ice-cream truck or something similar and sell lunch items and desserts out of it.

"I've thought about the idea of a food truck for awhile because you're seeing them sprout up all over the place and it's something the town doesn't have," said Dancause.

She would sell to the business lunch crowd Monday through Fridays, she said.

Food trucks have been around for many years, with even Zagat's restaurant guide adding a food truck category back in January 2011. But, except for a cupcake truck, we're not aware of any food truck in Andover.

Dancause has worked at the fish market and restaurant since it was operating on Barnard Street, leaving while she attended college at the University of Massachusetts Lowell.

Take that, big-shot types

In reaction to a new website that digs into town spending, an anonymous person or people have started a site of their own.

Called "VillageofAndover.net," the new, anonymous site pokes fun at townofandover.com. Townofandover.com was started by three Andover residents, Bob Pokress, Greg Rigby and Bob Landry. It includes information such as the income paid to every town employee.

VillageofAndover.net acts as if it is a similar site. There are only five paragraphs on the site.

As an example of the tone of the spoof site, one paragraph reads: "As big-shot executive types, we are appalled that many of our public sector employees make a decent living. Even though $75,000 is barely half the media family income in Andover, we are still offended that some employees make that much. Some of them might even be able to afford to live in the town they serve! Perish the thought. What would the guys at the club say if they heard our neighbors might be teachers and firefighters?"

Kids with cancer. That's probably one of the saddest phrases in the world.

But students at Andover's three middle schools are working to bring smiles to the faces of those battling the disease, by selling T-shirts and socks to raise money for The Jimmy Fund. The Jimmy Fund solely supports Boston's Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, raising funds for adult and pediatric cancer care and research to improve the chances of survival for cancer patients around the world.

"Our friend has leukemia - he's in remission - and we wanted to do something for him," said Ben Andresen, 14, and an eighth-grader at West Middle School.

That friend and classmate does not want to go public with his story, so his friends are happy to handle the publicity and fundraising for the Jimmy Fund.

Recent school dances at West, Doherty and Wood Hill middle schools kicked off the local Rally Against Cancer campaign off as Team Andover's fundraising total is already at $1,500.

The team designed red, white and blue Rally Against Cancer T-shirts and got matching navy crew socks. The items are now on sale at all three schools. Proceeds will be added to that $1,500 account.

"Our schools have been really supportive," said Kevin LaBrie, 13, another West Middle School eighth-grader.

This is the third consecutive year that Andover's trio of middle schools is involved with the Rally Against Cancer project.

The Andover team has raised $15,000 over those years, according to WMS parent volunteer Karen Wiley. There have been lollipop sales in the past and the popular coin wars between the schools is back, where students can donate by dropping coins in jugs. The Andover team is also raffling off an I-Pad this year.

To purchase T-shirts and socks, go to sites.google.com/site/westmiddlepac/jimmy-fund-rally. To make a donation to the Jimmy Fund for "Team Andover" go to rallyagainstcancer.org/2013/teamandover.

Team Andover and Team Sanborn Bulldogs, of Sanborn Elementary School, led by Principal Patricia Barrett, are also involved in a chance to meet Red Sox players Will Middlebrooks or Jarrod Saltalamacchia, according to the Jimmy Fund.

"When the Red Sox suit up against the Baltimore Orioles on Opening Day at Fenway Park Monday, April 8, Red Sox Nation is encouraged to Rally Against Cancer. By contributing $5 or more to the Jimmy Fund, participants have the opportunity to "Dress for Sox-cess" and wear Boston Red Sox gear to work or school," according to a release. "The top fundraising workplace and school (K-12, college, or university) are each eligible for a visit from Middlebrooks or Saltalamacchia, who are also Jimmy Fund co-captains for the 2013 season."

Andover High graduate sworn in to Supreme Court Bar

Alyssa Saunders, Esq., joined 14 colleagues from Hadassah's National Center for Attorneys Councils as they were sworn in to the United States Supreme Court Bar.

Saunders, a 2000 graduate of Andover High School, is an attorney for Dow Lohnes in Washington, D.C.

Hadassah's Supreme Court Swearing In program commenced with dinner and a presentation by Nan Aron, founder and president of Alliance for Justice, a public interest and civil rights advocate. Founded in 1979, AFJ is a premier source of information on federal judicial nominations and campaigns to confirm Supreme Court and federal judges who uphold the core constitutional values of justice and equality.

The following day at the Supreme Court, the admittees participated in the official swearing in ceremony before the entire Court and heard the reading of Court decisions and oral arguments in the two cases on the docket: Millbrook v. United States and Bowman v. Monsanto Co.

A highlight of the day was when the admittees and their guests had the distinct privilege of a personal meeting and conversation with Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg.

"The swearing in was a once-in-a-lifetime experience," Saunders said in a release. "I greatly enjoyed the opportunity to meet fellow Hadassah women and men who came from all over the country to participate in this program."

Saunders now lives in Washington, D.C. Her mother, Rhonda Saunders of Andover, was her guest at the Supreme Court Swearing In program.

Posing in the Supreme Court are Rhonda Saunders, Alyssa Saunders and Beth Aaronson, chairwoman of the National Attorneys Council.

Scouts will showcase conservation land Saturday

Boy Scouts of Ballard Vale Troop 76 will be camping and holding an open house at the Andover Conservation Commission's Pole Hill Reservation. Visiting hours are noon to 5 p.m. this Saturday, April 6.

The Troop, sponsored by the Ballard Vale United Church, was recognized as stewards of the reservation by the ACC as part of its efforts to get local Scouts to help spread the word about Andover's green spaces. Part of the agreement is that each year they host an event open to the public.

The Scouts will be displaying pioneering projects, and Dutch-oven cooking. The troop will also have an orienteering scavenger hunt that visitors are welcome to try. There will also be demonstrations and information on geocaching, which has gained popularity in the area and become a new merit badge offered by the Boy Scouts of America.

Access to the area can be gained by land or water. Trailheads are located at the end of Marland Street and Pole Hill Drive. Those wishing to paddle can put in a canoe on the Shawshen River at the Ballard Andover is looking for residents who would like to volunteer for the town's Retirement Board and Information Technology Advisory Committee.

The Retirement Board, with one vacancy, provides retirement benefits to Andover employees under Massachusetts General Laws.

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski said ideal candidates would carry an understanding of retirement and human resource laws, and be familiar with the state's contributory retirement system.

Stapczynski also needs to appoint the entire IT Advisory Committee. Stapczynski said he has a number of applications for those interested in joining the board, but more candidates would be appreciated.

The committee will provide advice on technology to town Chief Information Officer Paul Puzanghera, according to Stapczynski.

The ideal candidate for the committee would be someone who works with technology for a living, and who can weigh in on how the town can improve how it uses technology in its offices and schools, according to Stapczynski.

Those interested in applying for either board can download the town's talent bank form at andoverma.gov/publish/talentbank.pdf and follow the on-form instructions to submit it.

Wedding

Cerniglia - Eickhoff

~ 09/02/2012 ~

Carolyn and Peter Cerniglia of Andover, Massachusetts are pleased to announce the marriage of their daughter, Andrea Lauren, to Timothy Eickhoff of Chicago Illinois, son of Helen and William Eickhoff of Elburn, Illinois. The ceremony was held at sundown in the Harborside Salon followed by cocktails in Cityside and a reception overlooking the harbor on Sunday, September 2, 2012 at the State Room on the 33rd floor of 60 State Street, Boston, Massachusetts. A close friend of the groom officiated an intimate ceremony which included a moving vocal performance by the bride's uncle. The bride is a professional dance artist and instructor in Chicago. She is an Associate Artist at Zephyr Dance, the creator and artistic director of dropshift dance, and teaches at various venues in the greater metropolitan area of Chicago. The groom is a Director at a financial consulting firm in Chicago. The couple has just returned from a three week honeymoon in Australia and New Zealand. They will make their home in Wicker Park, located outside of the city center of Chicago.

Mark Twain poet to read works

An American poet acclaimed for his writing and sense of humor will give a free reading of his work in Andover on Friday, April 12.

Tony Hoagland will read his poetry on Friday, April 12, at 7 p.m., in Phillips Academy's Kemper Auditorium, on 5 Chapel Ave. in Andover. This event is free and open to the public.

Winner of the Poetry Foundation's 2005 Mark Twain Award, given in recognition of a poet's contribution to humor in American poetry, Hoagland also received the 2008 Jackson Poetry Prize, awarded by Poets & Writers. The magazine described Hoagland as "a poet of risk:

he risks will laughter in poems that are totally heart-felt, poems you want to read out loud..."

Hoagland is a professor of creative writing at the University of Houston and this year's Isham Fellow. He is the author of four volumes of poetry, "Unincorporated Persons in the Late Honda Dynasty," "Sweet Ruin," "Donkey Gospel," and "What Narcissism Means to Me." He also has authored a collection of essays about poetry entitled "Real Sofistikashun."

This event is sponsored by Phillips Academy's Department of English and the Sandra Isham Vreeland Fund.

Guest artists bring unusual music to Phillips campus

The Phillips Academy Music Department will present Kayden Guest Artists during two consecutive Wednesdays.

Tickets for each event are $5 for students and seniors, $10 for adults and will be available at the door. There are no advance ticket sales. The events are free for the Phillips Academy community, with ID.

Former Kayden Guest Artists have included Bobby McFerrin, Wynton Marsalis and Denyse Graves.

The department will present Cantus on Wednesday, April 17 at 6:30 p.m. in Cochran Chapel on Chapel Avenue.

Acclaimed as "the premier men's vocal ensemble in the United States" (Fanfare), Cantus is committed to inspiring audiences with music performed at the highest level, according to the school. Rehearsing and performing without a conductor or music director, the nine members of Cantus are renowned for adventurous programming spanning many periods and genres, including work commissioned specifically for the group.

Cochran Chapel is handicapped accessible. For more information, contact the music department at 978-749-4260 or email music@andover.edu.

On Wednesday, April 24,

2013 at 6:30 p.m. the Phillips Academy Music Department will present Kayden Guest Artist Time for Three. This event also will take place in Cochran Chapel located on the Phillips Academy campus.

The world's first classically-trained garage band, Time for Three - Zachary (Zach) De Pue, violin; Nicolas (Nick) Kendall, violin; and Ranaan Meyer, double bass - defies traditional classification. Performing music from Bach and Brahms to their own arrangements of The Beatles, Katy Perry, Kanye West and Justin Timberlake, they have performed everywhere from Carnegie Hall to Jazz clubs, European festivals, NFL games and the Indy 500. Their hit YouTube anti-bullying video Stronger, featured on CNN and the Huffington Post, has inspired students around the globe.

Their packed 2012-13 season will include the release of their second album, a return to Carnegie Hall, their first tour of Asia, and the world premiere of a new concerto by William Bolcom, in addition to their continuing residency with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Bothevents are made possible by the Bernard & Mildred Kayden Fund, established by the Kayden Family to bring distinguished artists to Phillips Academy.

'Paradox' show at Loading Dock Gallery in Lowell

This April, the Loading Dock Gallery is featuring "Forms in Paradox," a collection of drawing, painting, and mixed media artwork by Nikki Giraffo that focuses on perceived contradictions in women's lives.

The exhibit is at the Loading Dock Gallery, Western Avenue Studios, 122 Western Ave. in Lowell.

"Explore the metaphors that Giraffo has chosen to represent the contradictions that occur in women's lives as she draws you into her own nostalgic and dramatic world using images of struggle, search or discovery. Many of her stories unfold in an abandoned amusement park and Giraffo's alter ego is often featured as the heroine of the story," according to a release from the gallery. "The carousel horse is a recurring character in Giraffo's paintings and is a paradox similar to those that exist in the lives of women."

Giraffo says, "The carousel horse is an object used for amusement...very ornate and beautiful, however no one pays mind to the pole piercing its torso, the anger in its face, or the fact that it is stuck in this cyclical contraption."

People can meet the artist at the opening reception on April 6, from 5 to 7 p.m.

According to the release, "Giraffo is intentional in creating metaphors in her artwork, but ultimately she wants you to discover what the mystery in her artwork means to you."

Forms in Paradox will run at the Loading Dock Gallery from April 3 to 28. Regular gallery hours are Wednesday through Sunday, 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. For more information, visit theloadingdockgallery.com, email info@theloaingdockgallery.com or call 978-656-1687.

Speeding stop ends in five arrests

A police officer on River Road at Riverside Drive got more than he bargained for after pulling over a vehicle driving above the speed limit early Easter morning.

After the officer first pulled over the car at 2:24 a.m. Sunday, March 31, he smelled marijuana coming from the vehicle, according to Andover Police Lt. William Ouellette. After searching the vehicle, five Lawrence youth were arrested.

Arrested were: Albert Peguero, 17, of 54 Bennington St. in Lawrence; Kiara Rodriguez, 18, of 37 East Dalton St. in Lawrence; Gabriel Torres, 18, of 32 Berkeley St. in Lawrence; Jewell Torres, 17, of 51 Portland St. in Lawrence; and a 16-year-old male from Lawrence.

All five were charged with possession of a class D drug with intent to distribute after marijuana packaged in small bags was found in the car, Ouellette said.

All five were also charged with possession of ammunition without a permit after police found a handgun that fired blanks and a magazine containing seven rounds that didn't go to a real handgun but still requires a permit to carry it, according to Ouellette.

The handgun and magazine were found in a bag together under one of the seats, Ouellette said.

Gabriel Torres, the driver of the vehicle, was also charged with speeding, according to Ouellette.

The following items were recorded in Andover police logs from Tuesday, March 26 to Monday, April 1:

ARRESTS

Tuesday, March 26 - At 1:54 p.m., Mark Gauthier, 40, of 100 Main St. in Andover, was arrested on Stevens Street and charged with breaking and entering during the daytime with intent to commit a felony, larceny of a controlled substance and larceny of $250 or less involving property belonging to a person 30 or over.

At 2:38 p.m., Kayla McManus, 25, of 4 Walnut Knoll in Canton, was arrested on River Road and charged with sexual conduct for a fee and on a warrant.

Thursday, March 28 - At 8:11 a.m., a 14-year-old male from Andover was arrested and charged with assault and battery on a household member.

Friday, March 29 - At 1:57 p.m., Nelson Palma, 25, of 273 South Broadway in Lawrence, was arrested on River Road and charged with operating a motor vehicle while unlicensed, attaching the wrong plates to a motor vehicle, driving an uninsured motor vehicle or trailer, and driving an unregistered motor vehicle.

At 2:35 p.m., Kevin Sennott, 22, of 54 Wing Blvd. in Sandwich, was arrested on Elm Street and charged on two warrants.

At 4:19 p.m., Carlos Gonzalez, 35, of 4 Inman St. in Lawrence, was arrested on Haverhill Street and charged with driving a motor vehicle with a revoked registration, operating a motor vehicle with a revoked license, subsequent offense, and driving an uninsured motor vehicle.

Saturday, March 30 - At 2:30 a.m., Kristen Abdulla, 26, of 51 Osgood St. in Methuen, was arrested on River Road and charged with operating under the influence of liquor and a miscellaneous motor vehicle equipment violation.

BREAKS

Tuesday, March 26 - At 4:24 p.m., a house break was reported on Clark Road.

Thursday, March 28 - At 2:31 p.m., a house break was reported on Dascomb Road.

Monday, April 1 - At 8:27 p.m., a house break was reported on Dove Lane.

THEFTS

Saturday, March 30 - At 12:38 p.m., a theft was reported on Elm Street.

At 1:13 p.m., a theft was reported on Haverhill Street.

Monday, April 1 - At 1:32 p.m., a theft was reported on Andover Street. At 1:34 p.m., a theft was reported at Elm Square.

INCIDENTS

Tuesday, March 26 - At 1:03 a.m., a Henderson Avenue resident reported that "an animal is in her house." A responding officer reported "removing one mouse from the house."

At 11:51 a.m., a report of real-estate fraud was made on Stouffer Circle.

Wednesday, March 27 - At 9:37 a.m., a Glenwood Road resident reported that people were walking around his neighbor's house, and that he thought they were from the gas company but "they had 'beer cans' and no company [logo] was visible," according to the log. Four officers responding to the scene reported that the people were employees of an area gas company and they were "checking the area for leaks and they have spray paint cans in their hands and meters... There is no issue."

At 10:31 a.m., police received a 911 call from Central Street after the caller "saw a young girl, approximately 3- to 4-years-old cross the road and walk down Central Street." Police on the scene uncovered "a case of mistaken identity" involving a person who "is short in stature."

At 1:47 p.m., a Cherokee Circle resident reported that "someone has been leaving items on and in her mailbox."

At 4:49 p.m., fraud was reported on Standish Circle.

Thursday, March 28 - At 7:06 p.m., an assault was reported on River Road.

Friday, March 29 - At 7:56 p.m., police were notified of a domestic incident, where the caller's husband "is out of control and has broken windows in the car. He is diabetic but she is not sure that is the problem tonight."

Saturday, March 30 - At 11:57 a.m., a domestic incident was reported on Wellington Circle.

At 4:06 p.m., a resident called police via 911 to say "she is receiving no help from the Andover PD." While the woman declined to give her name, State Police provided her identity to Andover police and it was noted that "the department has been dealing with [the person] for several days." The caller said she "has been in contact with the attorney general's office since she feels the Andover police are not helping her." She also complained about "a lack of police service she received including not getting fingerprints taken." The caller was told she could leave a message with a superior officer and the call was transferred to that officer's extension to do so. The caller then called back and "stated that the call went to voicemail." She then "stated again that she is not crazy, went into details again about the services she received." The caller was advised she was being sent back to the superior officer's voicemail. Moments later, she called back and "restated her issues with the previous police response." She reminded police that "she would be contacting the attorney general" and again raised frustration about the police response. She was transferred back to the superior officer's voicemail, and the entry was recorded as a "disturbed person."

At 9:31 p.m., a Yardley Road resident called police and requested that he be connected to Poison Control "because his wife drank from a glass that earlier held daffodils." Poison Control responded and assured the man "that his wife was in no danger."

Monday, April 1 - At 11:49 p.m., vandalism to a motor vehicle was reported on Bullfinch Drive.

ACCIDENTS

Wednesday, March 27 - At 12:51 p.m., a hit-and-run crash was reported on Railroad Street.

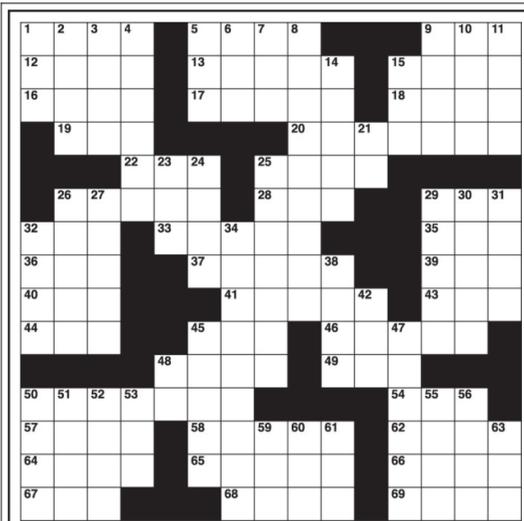

At 7:15 p.m., a crash between a vehicle and bicyclist was reported on Central Street. The bicyclist was transported to an area hospital to be treated for a minor injury.

Sunday, March 31 - At 7:16 a.m., a crash was reported on Cardinal Lane. One car was towed, but there were no reported injuries.

Monday, April 1 - At 7:07 p.m., a crash involving one car and two pedestrians was reported on Elm Street. A medical transport to an area hospital was needed for reported back pain.

BUSINESS IN BRIEF

Start Group named as 'Pacesetter'

The Start Group, a specialized consulting firm located in Andover, was named to Boston Business Journals 2013 Pacesetters list. This list represents the fastest growing private companies in Massachusetts.

This is The Start Group's second award recognizing its revenue growth. The other was being named to the INC. 500 Fastest Growing Private Companies in America.

The 2013 Pacesetters will be honored during breakfast event on April 25, where the rankings of these companies will be presented.

"Our hard-working employees have allowed us the honor of being included on this list. To be included with such other well-known, high-performing companies is humbling," Start Group CEO, Mark Eldridge said in a release.

Fanikos named Senior VP of Salem Five Bank Counsel

David Fanikos of Andover was appointed to the position of Salem Five Senior Vice President, Bank Counsel.

In this role, Fanikos will be the primary contact for management and staff on all legal matters, responsible for assuring the maintenance of an effective compliance system and overseeing regulatory and security matters.

Fanikos joins Salem Five from Coady Law Firm, where he was a trial attorney and advised commercial and individual clients on a wide variety of matters. Additional prior legal experience includes employment with Boston-based firms, Demeo & Associates, P.C., Riemer & Braunstein LLP, Goulston & Storrs, and Peabody & Arnold.

Fanikos received his juris doctor cum laude from Suffolk Law School, where he was the editor-in-chief of the Suffolk Transnational Law Review. He holds a bachelor's degree in economics from Harvard University, where he also was a member of the varsity football team.

Fanikos served in the United States Marine Corps as an infantry officer and served at various military posts in the United States and abroad.

Firm tops in JHFN leadership, client service excellence

Boston Partners Financial Group of Andover, led by Managing Partner Mark Marroni, JD, LLM, CLU, ChFC, was named the recipient of the Leading with Excellence - President's Trophy from John Hancock Financial Network.

This is the highest honor JHFN bestows upon one of its independent firms nationwide, according to a company release.

As recipient of JHFN's top award, the firm, its management team and financial representatives have demonstrated that they consistently deliver a personalized, high-touch approach to helping their clients achieve their financial goals.

Boston Financial Partners

Group is focused on ensuring clients' financial well-being through client-centric comprehensive planning. The firm has 19 offices in seven states including Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Oregon and Washington.

"We are honored to be part of such a powerful, national network of professional financial firms and representatives," said Marroni. "It's always a team effort when you achieve this kind of recognition. We're proud of our strong, market focused organization. We put clients first and that in turn delivers the freedom, flexibility and support to attract and keep exceptional financial professionals to our Boston Partners family."

Events at North Shore Business Forum

The North Shore Business Forum will offer the following events during April. NSBF meets at 7:30 a.m. at the Danversport Yacht Club, Route 62 East in Danvers. The $11 admission fee includes a continental breakfast. Preregistration is not required.

The events are: "Networking On and Off Line" on April 5 with speaker Charlene St. Jean of Beverly's Purple Diamond.

Lions Club collects over 1 million pairs of eyeglasses

The North Andover Lions Club has collected over one million pairs of eyeglasses, thanks to donation boxes placed at several IRS locations including the Andover facility, and a recent IRS donation.

The North Andover Lions club provides a wide array of services to residents in the community, including eye examinations, eyeglasses, visual aid equipment, leader/guide dogs, youth scholarships and more for North Andover citizens.

By conducting vision screenings, equipping hospitals and clinics, and raising awareness of eye disease, Lions work toward their mission of providing vision for all. "It costs Lions less than eight cents to provide a pair of recycled eyeglasses and change someone's life," according to the organization.

Throughout the year, the North Andover Lions collect used eyeglasses and deliver them to regional Lions Eyeglass Recycling Centers. LERC volunteers clean, sort by prescription strength and package the glasses. Most of the recycled glasses are distributed to people in need in developing countries where they will have the greatest impact.

Hometown Seafoods owners Gene and Deborah Marshall are closing their Chestnut Street fish market and restaurant, but they expect to continue home delivery for those who sign up through the store. They show the form that customers can fill out.

Downtown fish market to close Hometown Seafoods casting itself as online business

JUDY WAKEFIELD
STAFF WRITER

A customer comes in and asks for a three-quarters-of-a-pound of salmon. A near perfect piece is placed on the scale, weighing in at .8 of a pound.

It used to be that such a piece would be fine for customers who would pay for the fresh fish and be on their way. But not today, says the owner of Hometown Seafoods, a staple in the downtown for the past two decades. It's OK to buy a smaller piece, but not a larger one.

"Fish is expensive, I know that," said Gene Marshall, owner. "But it's so different today. My customers will not buy more than they say. It's expensive for them."

Marshall said it's for "economic" reasons that he is closing his 20-year business in Andover. Hometown Seafoods, located at 28 Chestnut St. since 2000 and on Barnard Street for seven years before that, will close May 1. It has established itself as a market with high quality fish, and it has a small restaurant section, too, that does a healthy fried fish takeout business.

There is no rent increase forcing the closure, as has happened with some other downtown businesses. Rather, it's the overall cost of running his seafood business that has forced this decision. Paying for things like rent, utilities and gas are just too costly, Marshall said.

"Today's economic conditions have driven our overhead costs to a point where we can no longer continue to operate," Marshall wrote in a closing announcement to customers.

"I don't even want to close. I just have to. I have great customers, but I have to close," he said. "I won't lose my house...I just won't do that."

But there is some good news swimming around the closure announcement. Marshall is taking his fresh fish business online and plans to deliver fish to Andover residents twice a week. Wrapped to stay fresh in a returnable cooler, the fish will be delivered to doorsteps on Tuesdays and Fridays. Orders can be placed online on Mondays and Thursdays.

"I'm not really technical. At this point, this is a work in progress," he said. "But I'm doing this for customers. I have such great customers in Andover, North Andover and North Reading."

Marshall, who runs the store with his wife, Debbie, and son, Gene Jr., guarantees freshness. He operates a fish stall in Gloucester where he cuts the fish. He will continue to run the stall and plans to cut fish to fill an order (like two pounds of haddock, wrap the fish order and then make his Andover deliveries. Customers will pay for their online orders with credit cards.

Details of his new online fresh fish business are available at his store.

Prospective home owners take advantage of free seminar

The Savings Bank recently sponsored a free, first time homebuyer seminar at its Andover office for approximately 30 area residents who are preparing for the purchase of their first home.

The seminar included presentations by several local professionals, including representatives from The Savings Bank, "who discussed their areas of expertise in the home-buying process to help potential buyers make informed decisions," according to the bank.

Among the area residents who attended the seminar were Leah and William Morasse of Andover.

The panel of speakers included Kathleen Beaulieu, senior vice president, senior retail loan officer, The Savings Bank; Linda Joaquin, loan originator for the Merrimack Valley area, The Savings Bank; and Joanne Catanzano, insurance agent, TSB Insurance Services; Ray Jackson, of Jackson Home Inspection Inc.; Mark Simeola, an attorney with Simeola & Simeola of Wakefield; and Tyler Richards, real estate broker with Lillian Montalto Signature Properties of Andover.

Andover advisor given Five Star Wealth Manager Award

Ronald Hill

Financial advisor Ronald R. Hill has been named a recipient of Boston's 2013 Five Star Wealth Manager Award, according to his company, Baystate Financial.

This is the third consecutive year he has received this honor, which is presented to less than 3 percent of the advisors in the Boston area.

The selection process is based on a survey administered to more than 3,000 registered financial services professionals and local financial services companies. Survey recipients were asked to nominate wealth managers they believe are worthy of consideration for the award. Those who satisfied objective eligibility and evaluation criteria were named 2013

Five Star Wealth Managers, according to a release.

Hill has had a Baystate Financial office at 10 Essex St. in Andover since 1986. He has been a financial services leader for 29 years, helping individuals and small business owners achieve their financial goals.

"On behalf of Baystate Financial, I am very proud of the hard work and dedication that Ronald Hill brings to the company," David C. Porter, managing partner of Baystate Financial, said in a release. "I want to thank Boston Magazine for recognizing him and the dedication and passion he brings to his clients."

Hill has resided in Andover with his wife, Janis, and their two children since 1981.

ANDOVER ACE

Former Warrior Farrell now starring in college

By HECTOR LONGO
STAFF WRITER

A funny thing happened to national power Clemson University on its way to a sweep of little, old William & Mary.

"You know the last couple years we've gone to LSU and Florida and Oklahoma, and I always felt I could beat those teams," said Andover's John Farrell.

Of course, for the last three years, Farrell has occupied the closer's role for the Tribe, and there wasn't much of a chance to show it against the big boys.

Now a senior, Farrell wasn't about to let the opportunity slip by this time around.

In the fall, he talked with coach Jamie Pinzino.

"I wanted to have a bigger impact with this team. I wanted a bigger role," said the right-hander. "Not for me, but for the team. I didn't have to sell him on it, but I did have to earn it."

Fast forward to the season-opening, mid-February series at Clemson.

The Tigers rolled up 16 hits and 11 runs in Game 1, and in Game 3 they bashed the Tribe for 12 more runs on 15 hits.

But that Saturday, and the five Saturdays since,

Former Andover star John Farrell is now dominating for William & Mary.

belonged to Farrell.

"I wasn't nervous, I was more excited. I had been waiting for that moment for a long, long time," said Farrell, who went seven innings, allowing two earned runs, scattering nine hits and a walk while striking out four in an 11-2 win. "I've always been confident in myself that I could beat anyone in the country. I just went out and showed it."

Now 6-foot-2 and 210 pounds, the former MVC All-Star has hardly slowed down. As the Tribe strides into the heart of the Colonial Athletic Association schedule, he sits at 5-0 with a 34 strikeouts in a team-best 47.2 innings.

A 9-inning, 1-0 shutout in 30-degree temperature at Northeastern two weeks ago lowered his ERA to 1.51. "I've had six starts, and only one of them would I consider a nice day," said Farrell. "I like pitching in the cold. Playing in Andover, I'm used to that."

Farrell, a neuroscience major, has always been confident in his 90 mph fast-ball. The addition of a nasty slider that he can throw for strikes has been a big plus.

As a junior, Farrell drew attention by the major league teams but he wasn't drafted.

He went to the Cape Cod League and dominated out of the bullpen for the Bourne Braves (15 appearances, 24 innings, 27 Ks, team-best 2.25 ERA).

"There was no problem last year, the numbers just didn't match up and it didn't work out," he said. "Pro ball would have been nice, but I love playing in college. I love being here. And if I continue to do well this year, it should happen."

Before it does, Farrell and the Tribe have some loose ends to tie up.

In the three previous seasons, William & Mary hasn't so much as sniffed the conference playoffs. Farrell is hoping this is the year.

Both he and the team are off to super starts.

"It's our best team so far," he said. "Now, we just have to get it done."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Andover recognizing National Public Health Week

The Andover Health Department has announced activities for the month of April set to bring attention to National Public Health Week. Public Health Week celebrates the work local health departments do on a day-to-day basis to care for the citizens they serve. The theme for 2013 is "Public Health is ROI: Save Lives, Save Money." ROI stands for "Return on Investment." The Public Health Museum in Tewksbury also is holding several events that are free and open to the public. Visit their website for the schedule: publichealthmuseum.org.

As part of the effort, upcoming Andover health events include the following: Adults wishing to be vaccinated against pneumonia and Tdap (tetanus/diphtheria/pertussis) can call for details and appointments. Blood pressure clinics will be conducted every Wednesday at the Andover Senior Center from 2 to 3 p.m. on a walk-in basis.

A Sharps Disposal Day, in conjunction with the Andover Police Department and a DEA Medication Disposal Day, will be held on Saturday, April 27 at the West Middle School from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

A public health display and information table will be set up at the Memorial Hall Library. Residents seeking further information may call the Andover Health Department at 978-623-8295.

Help replace veterans' grave flags

On Sunday, April 14, Andover veterans, cadets, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts and interested citizens will meet at 11 a.m. at Spring Grove Cemetery off Abbot Street to replace 3,600 flags on the graves of deceased Andover veterans.

The process takes about 90 minutes and affords an opportunity to see parts of Andover's history up close, according to the town veterans services office. In case of inclement weather the flags will be placed on graves at 11 a.m. on Sunday, April 21.

For more information, call the Andover Veterans Services Office at 978-623-8218. Volunteers needed for PMC The Pan-Massachusetts Challenge is seeking volunteers to help with registration, medical support, bike repairs, luggage transportation, security, food service, set-up and clean-up during the two-day bike-a-thon that spans 190 miles across the Commonwealth. Volunteer registration is underway for the 34th annual PMC, which is set for Aug. 2 through 4.

Since its inception in 1980, the PMC has raised $375 million to support adult and pediatric patient care and cancer research at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. More than 3,200 volunteers help the PMC keep its operating expenses low, making it possible for 100 percent of every rider-raised dollar to be dedicated to the cause. In 2012, the PMC generated 52 percent of the Jimmy Fund's annual revenue. For more information about the PMC, or to register to volunteer, visit pmc.org.

Greenscapes groups seeks pet-owners' help

Did you know that unscopped dog poop can pollute local waters? This spring, the town of Andover is partnering with the Greenscapes North Shore to make people more aware of the importance of picking up after one's pets. Greenscapes North Shore is made up of three organizations from across the North Shore — Salem Sound Coastwatch, the Ipswich River Watershed Association, the Eight Towns and the Great Marsh Committee. A release from the group says dog waste has twice as much bacteria as human waste and notes that rain washes these bacteria into the nearest bodies of water — untreated. Children are especially vulnerable to the parasites, viruses and bacteria involved. The symptoms are: flu-like, vomiting, diarrhea, ear infections, rashes and fever. To spread the word about the importance of scooping after one's pet, the Greenscapes Program has created an information card for Andover citizens with facts and tips about how to keep dog waste out of our waters. These cards are available at local veterinary offices and at the town clerk's office where dog owners come to purchase dog licenses.

The Greenscapes effort seeks to have pet owners always bring bags and put filled bags in a trash can, never in a recycling bin or a storm drain. Red Cross blood drives in April The American Red Cross will hold a community blood drive on Monday, April 29 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Andover/North Andover YMCA, 165 Haverhill St. All eligible and new blood donors are encouraged to give blood. Blood donors are needed everyday to ensure an adequate blood supply for patients in need. All presenting blood donors will receive a free pair of socks from New Balance. To make an appointment to donate blood, please call 1-800-RED CROSS (733-2767) or redcrossblood.org.

Gently used children's items for sale

Nashoba Valley MoM, a nonprofit organization, will hold a sale of gently used children's items on Saturday, April 6 from 8 a.m. to noon at Central Congregational Church, 1 Worthen St., Chelmsford. Items for sale include baby equipment, toys, clothes, books and more. Only cash accepted. For more information, visit nashobavalleymom.org or call 978-376-2939.

ENHC annual spring meeting

The Essex National Heritage Commission will hold its annual spring meeting on Wednesday, April 10 at Winnekeni Castle, 347 Kenzo Ave., Haverhill. A continental breakfast reception will begin at 8 a.m., followed by a business meeting from 8:30 to 10 a.m. Essex Heritage Partnership Grant recipients will be announced. For more information or to RSVP, call 978-740-0444.

Andover Choral Society seeks new singers

The Andover Choral Society invites new members to join it for its final concert of the group's 83rd season. A gala performance of arias, choruses, and ensembles from favorite operas will be presented on Sunday, April 28, at 3 p.m. at the Rogers Center for the Arts at Merrimack College. Professional Boston-area soloists will add to the festivities. The rehearsals are Mondays at 7:20 to 9:30 p.m. at Christ Church, 25 Central St. in Andover. For more information call 603-893-5636. The Andover Choral Society is sponsored in part by a grant from the Massachusetts Cultural Council.

Mass. boating basics course

The Massachusetts Environmental Police and Andover Sportsman's Club will offer a boating basics course at the Andover Sportsman's Club, 655 Middleton Road, North Andover. Classes are April 30, May 7, 14, 21 and 28 from 7 to 9 p.m. Participants must attend all classes. Students must be at least 12 years of age. Youth 12 through 15 years of age who successfully complete the course will be issued a safety certificate allowing them to operate a motorboat without adult supervision, as required by state law. This course will also satisfy the state requirements for personal watercraft users who are 16 or 17 years of age. All graduates will be issued a safety certificate. Registration is required at mass.gov/ole.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

4 Kenilworth Street, Andover

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage given by Ronald P. Mulcahey, to Century Bank and Trust Company, said Mortgage dated December 18, 2006 and recorded with the Essex County (Northern District) Registry of Deeds, at Book 10549, Page 64, of which Mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of conditions of said Mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, the same will be sold at Public Auction at 11:00 a.m. on the 30th day of April, 2013 on the mortgaged premises, hereinafter described, all and singular the premises described in said Mortgage to wit:

The land with buildings thereon situated in that part of said Andover known as Shawsheen Village on the southerly side of Kenilworth Street and bounded and described as follows:

NORTHERLY by Kenilworth Street one hundred feet; EASTERLY by Lots I, J and K on plan of land in Andover Mass., Shawsheen Village as subdivided by Andover Shawsheen Realty Company, dated May 1951, Recorded in North Essex Registry of Deeds as plan No. 2391, two hundred ten and 38/100 feet;

SOUTHERLY by land now or formerly of Andover Shawsheen Realty Company one hundred eight and 1/100 feet, more or less; and; WESTERLY by land now or formerly of Salvatore A. and Mary N. Tombarelli and Alfred H. Smith, two hundred seventeen and 6/100 feet.

Subject to restrictions contained in deed of Andover Shawsheen Realty Company to Frank Cairns and Cecilia M. Cairns dated July 20, 1951 and recorded with said Registry Book 753, Page 438.

For Title see deed of Ronald P. Mulcahey and Michelle E. Mulcahey dated April 15, 2003, recorded with Essex North Registry of Deeds in Book 7710, Page 30.

The Mortgage being foreclosed upon is subject to a Mortgage from Ronald and Michelle Mulcahey to Countrywide Home Loans Inc., dated December 12, 2002, recorded with said Registry at Book 7387, Page 1 and secures a Promissory Note of that date in the principle sum of $200,000.00.

In the event of any typographical error set forth in the legal descriptions contained above, the legal description of the premises, the descriptions set forth and contained in the Mortgage shall take precedence.

TERMS OF SALE: FIFTEEN THOUSAND ($15,000.00) DOLLARS will be required to be paid in cash, certified check or cashier's check of any bank or trust company doing business in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, by the purchaser, at the time and place of sale as a deposit. A Memorandum of Sale ("Memorandum") shall be executed upon acceptance of the bid and all terms thereunder shall be binding upon the bidder, including the condition that should the high bidder for whatever reason fail to perform under the aforesaid Memorandum, in such event, the bidder shall forfeit the deposit in full which shall become the property of the Mortgagee. Mortgagee reserves the right without further publication, advertisement or notification to offer the property to the second highest bidder under the same conditions set forth herein. The terms of the Memorandum of Sale shall be announced prior to the bid. The balance of the bid price is to be paid in cash, certified check or cashier's check drawn upon any bank or trust company doing business in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts within thirty (30) days after the date of sale to be deposited in escrow with Robert L. Marder, Esquire, attorney for Century Bank and Trust Company. Deed (which shall be in the form of the usual Mortgagee's Deed under the Statutory Power of Sale) to be delivered within three (3) days thereafter at which time it shall be the sole and exclusive responsibility of the successful bidder to cause the same to be recorded with the Essex County Registry (Northern District) of Deeds in accordance with law.

Other terms, if any, to be announced at the sale.
