Hadassah's Woman of Year Award | Participating in People's Climate March

Finegold honored by Merrimack Valley Chapter

Andover's Sondra Finegold received the Hadassah Woman of the Year Award for her service and generosity in the community and beyond during the Merrimack Valley Chapter of Hadassah's Autumn Brunch Fundraiser earlier this month at the Wyndham Andover Finegold has held many official roles in Hadassah. She was the education and public policy vice president, organization vice president, membership vice president, copresident and adviser for the Merrimack Valley Chapter. She then moved on to become vice president of Hadassah's Northern New England Region Area.

When the Merrimack Valley Chapter decided to recognize a Woman of the Year, group members and friends said support for Finegold was unanimous. Calling Finegold a one-woman cheerleader for Hadassah, they said she shares her knowledge, her voice, her time and effort, doing so with a cheerful smile and more energy than most.

Several Andover residents were among the thousands who descended on New York on Sunday for the People's Climate March. The locals were with a group from Massachusetts Interfaith Power and Light representing South Church in Andover and other local congregations. They included Andover residents, from left, Ronald Dann; the Strong family of 10-year-old Eric, Emily and 8-year-old Julia Strong; Fran Fink, and Mark Bohrer, far right; together with Moises Brea of Lawrence, second from right. Julia Strong, a third-grader at West Elementary School, carried a sign that read, "I don't want coal for Christmas." Also participating were Candy Dann of Andover, Susan Almono of North Andover and Mass. Interfaith Power and Light board member Bill Schroeder of Windham, N.H. It was the second climate activist trip for Emily and Eric Strong, who attended an event in Washington, D.C., in February.

High time for action on Town Yard

The picture that a group of town leaders and supporters championing Andover's future is painting for the center of town is certainly an attractive one.

Representatives of the Economic Development Council, Andover Tomorrow, the Green Advisory Board, planning leaders and more envision a major, layered redevelopment initiative that would expand the downtown and draw a diverse crowd to Andover.

Picture visitors arriving by train and spilling into a redeveloped hub extending down to the Shawsheen River. There would be restaurants where people could linger at outdoor cafe tables. There would be music playing in pocket parks that would connect to riverside

New life would be breathed into century-old mills that would support a mix of retail, office and even residential offerings. And a footbridge over the Shawsheen linking Red Spring Road on one side with Dundee Park on the other would encourage even more activity in the area.

But it's also not altogether new. Town officials for years have been eyeing the area around the MBTA station on Railroad Street as prime for redevelopment. But the one stumbling block has been — and remains

It's an exciting prospect, albeit somewhat ambitious.

- the Town Yard. Located between Lewis, Railroad, Pearson and North Main streets, the public works yard has been in dire condition for, many would say, too long. It also occupies what has been called "the golden triangle" because of the redevelopment potential that

Town officials as well as the town's engineering consultants all agree that the current facility, built in 1965, is outdated, overused and, in some ways, unsafe. Efforts to relocate the Town Yard away from the heart of the town to a more suitable location date back years.

Numerous proposals have been brought forward for a new Town Yard — with the Brockway-Smith Building on Dascomb Road, a site on Campanelli Drive and even South Elementary School among the potential locations that have been considered.

But all have been either nixed or gone down to defeat by voters, as recently as last year.

The Board of Selectmen is once again poised to pursue another attempt at developing a new home for the Town Yard, away from the downtown. A workshop is scheduled for next week during which Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski and planners will present their latest

The most recent proposal unveiled this summer looked to spend upwards of $30 million to build a new yard behind West Fire Station. The cost didn't sit well with at least some selectmen who expressed reluctance with asking taxpayers to foot such a steep bill. They have asked officials to come forward with a more realistic proposal. Here's hoping they do.

The Town Yard needs to be rebuilt. It makes sense to move it outside of downtown and to open up the current site to new possibilities for growth. But the cost has to be manageable. And it behooves town officials to make it such.

It is high time for action on the Town Yard. And we encourage officials to bring forth a plan that can win voter support once and for all.

Paul Materazzo, center, director of planning for the town, leads a small walking tour of citizens down Pearson Street on Saturday to highlight one area of potential redevelopment in the area surrounding the Town Yard.

WEB QUESTION

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Editor's Note: With the Town Yard continuing to remain a focal point for Andover officials this week, we're extending our web question for a second week.

Once again, the Board of Selectmen is considering whether to move the Town Yard from its current, downtown location. But it could cost up to $30 million. How much should the town spend?

$30 million is fine. Our town workers deserve a state-ofthe-art Town Yard

$20 million seems more in line. It won't raise taxes as much. $10 million is a fair number. It's better for taxpayers and still good for town workers.

I'd spend $0 on a new town yard. Leave it where it is and maintain existing buildings.

Here's a look back at what was happening in town this same week at key points over the last 100 years, exactly as reported in the pages of the Andover

A public rally in the interest of the prohibition amendment to the Constitution of the United States will be held in the South Church this evening, at 7:45 o'clock, under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of Massachusetts. The league has been granted the use of South Church to set forth the noon, a New Jersey salesplea for this new anti-liquor traffic campaign.

There will be an auction sale of household furniture tomorrow afternoon at the residence of Miss Margaret McGuinness at the corner of Essex Street and Brook Street. Sale starts at 3:30 o'clock.

The southern part of the town of Andover is a bad place for jewelry salesmen to stop. Seven and a half years ago, two New York salesmen stopped on the bypass near Stinson Road; later, they reported that their car had been robbed of $15,000 in sample jewels. Monday man, representing a New York house of considerable repute, stopped for a bite at a quarter of one at Howard Johnson's, itself the scene of a midnight hold-up a couple years ago. When the salesman came out from the lunch counter, he found a small, 1 1/2-inch hole in the window of the right door, surrounded by about an 8-inch shattering of glass. What he didn't find was his suitcase with its $10,000 worth of diamond rings.

The town's newest industry, DASA Corp., moved into new quarters at the former Marland Mill Monday, preparatory to establishing production facilities for automatic telephone dialing and data communications equipment.

A lady shopper headed to market at Co-Op prior to noon Wednesday, planning to park on the sloping drive to the right of the store. Instead, Miss Harriett McKee, 36 Central St., lost control of the vehicle. Safely secured by her seat belt, Miss McKee went with her car over the wall that borders Main Street next to the market, through traffic and came to rest in front of the post office. No one was injured.

From a photo: "Obsolete Fire Stations," so says the Fire Insurance Rating Association report received by Town Manager Richard Bowen last week. Both the Central Station and the Balreplaced, in the opinion of the rating group. The report also calls for construction of a second substation in West Andover

For the second time in a month, a popular local restaurant will face the Board of Selectmen for allegedly serving alcohol to underage drinkers. But unlike the previous infraction, in which a 19-year-old bartender at Trader Rick's Restaurant, 63 Park St., was found drinking after closing, the new charges, involving four college students, are far more serious.

The effects of the $570,000 state aid cuts on the school budget will be felt in the classroom. A shuffling of teachers, especially in the four elementary schools, has resulted in a higher studentteacher ratio system-wide.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Vispoli will stand up for taxpayers

Editor, Townsman: On Nov. 4, voters in Andover, Dracut, Lawrence and Tewksbury will finally have the opportunity to elect a candidate to the state Senate who will watch out for taxpayers.

Alex Vispoli is the only candidate with a private sector background, a trait needed on Beacon Hill.

Vispoli has been a selectman for the Town of Andover since 2004. He has a thorough knowledge of the serious financial issues facing municipalities, and the burden on taxpayers caused by decisions made on Beacon Hill.

He's chosen to stand up for the taxpayers.

Please join me in supporting Alex Vispoli for state Senate on Nov. 4.

Shawsheen School, so sad to say good-bye

Editor, Townsman:

As another school year and the final year of the Shawsheen School are under way, I am finding myself nostalgic. Although my girls are now 14 and 10, I still remember their first day of kindergarten and the following three years they each spent at Shawsheen School.

Here are just a few of the things I remember and I know will be missed by future Andover students with the closing of the Shawsheen School:

- 1. Principal Moira O'Brien knowing all the students' names the first week of school.
- 2. Sense of community from all the families who chose to send their children
- 3. Lifelong friends my girls made while attending the school.

CHARISSA RIGANO, ANANDA AND

Strawberry Hill Farm project deserves more scrutiny

Editor, Townsman:

All residents of Andover should be concerned about what is going on at the Planning Board meetings, relative to a "change of use" in a residential neighborhood

Would you want a Shawsheen Plaza-size development plopped outside your living room window? Lights on in the parking lot, 24 hours a day, forever? Delivery trucks, cars, ambulances 24/7, along with major water flow problems for the neighborhood? If it outside your living room window, in your "residential" neighborhood. Let me preface this letter by stating I have full appreciation of all the time and effort put forth by all members of the various boards in the Town of Andover. While I have not agreed with all their decisions, over wasting time on this minuthe 44 years I have lived in town, I always felt they were making their decision with the best interests of all the Andover citizens until now.

ning Board must think he is Judge Judy the way he has been handling the gavel at the meetings concerning changes at the old Strawberry Hill Farm. Every meeting has ended with several neighborhood residents raising their hands wanting to speak, only to be says something like this told "the meeting was over, sit down. And down goes the gavel.

All residents should be able to speak at the meetings, especially on a subject that is going to change their neighborhood for the rest of their lives. The impact of this devel-ZEENA KAO opment is immense for a 18 Lincoln St. residential neighborhood. Time allowed for asking questions should be of no concern. If the project was going across the street from their house, members of the isn't town counsel at the Planning Board would want to speak; that same courtesy should be extended to the neighbors of this development.

Wasn't it just a few years ago we rezoned land near the IRS because we didn't want big-box stores going in and causing all these types of problems? Add to that all the additional traffic brought about by the new medical center and 200-plus rental units going in across from the IRS.

But oddly enough, those are not the major concerns. The major concerns, for happens here, it can happen some reason, are not being addressed. Residents have had great questions and the Planning Board seems to be ignoring them. At the last meeting, I felt like an interior designer as the developer showed us bedspreads, colors of the walls, designs of the furniture and color of the roof. Why are we tia when there are more important questions to be answered and the residents are being shut off when they raise their hands?

I get the impression this The chairman of the Plan- is a done deal and we are all going through the motions. As a matter of fact, the only person in town who says anything, Director of Planning Paul Materazzo, sounds like a shill for the developer. Nothing negative has come out of his mouth.

> The town master plan should go downtown so the people who live in the rental units can use the downtown stores. Board has said nothing. The plan doesn't seem to qualify according to zoning requirements, because there are two different developers on one lot. Board has said nothing. People have said it doesn't meet the definition of "congregate housing." Board has said nothing. And it goes on and on.

Another thought. Why meetings helping the neighbors on such an important matter? Don't our tax dollars give us representation?

The nub of the problem is this, folks; it doesn't belong in this location. I've heard no one say the project isn't needed, someplace; it just doesn't belong in this place. And, there are many more questions that go unanswered because they can't be asked. The neighbors deserve the respect of the board and answers to their questions, not the gavel.

Last taste awaits

Season's final harvest set for Andover Farmers Market

at the Andover Farmers Mar- ers brimming with selecket this year. But the fresh flavors are fading fast. The final trip to the market is this Saturday.

The Andover Historical Society, which hosts the market, has welcomed more vendors than ever before to its grounds at 97 Main St.

It's been a bountiful season this year. And not just farmtions of freshly picked fruits, vegetables and bouquets of flowers.

> The offerings have included everything from breads, sweet treats and honey to wine and cheese to all-natural beauty products and even some children's clothing. And there's been live entertainment, some kids' activities and educational programming, too.

Since its launch in 2007, the Andover Farmers Market has been a seasonal, weekly outdoor gathering of farmers, food vendors, artisans, families and foodies. Its mission is to promote healthy eating, local economies, sustainability and community spirit by providing fresh, local produce; baked and prepared foods, as well as hand-crafted goods. And so the market goes for 2014. But not before one last harvest on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

For more details on the Andover Farmers Market, visit www.andoverhistorical. org/market/.

Colin Leland of Andover stocks up on some fresh peaches from Boston Hill Farm in North Andover.

Adam Dole of aster b. flowers readies a bouquet of fresh blooms for sale. The Essex business that grows dozens of varieties of cut flowers has been a perennial favorite at the farmers market this season.

Bob Hughes and his mother, Peg, pick out some carrots at Boston Hill Farm's booth. The North Andover farm will be making an appearance at the market for closing day on Saturday.

Dave Crow of Andover picks out a ripe apple from Gaouette Farm in North Andover. The farm has had a regular presence at the Andover market this year.

Teddy Crow, 3, of Andover has his eyes on the fresh ears of corn offered by Gaouette Farm in North Andover, which is known for its organic vegetables.

Treasure trove

Attractions unite for Trails & Sails weekend

A handful of Andover's prized historic, cultural and natural resources will take the spotlight on Sunday as part of Essex National Heritage Commission's Trails & Sails: Two Weekends of Walks & Water.

This year, four Andover organizations — the Addison Gallery of American Art at Phillips Academy, Andover Historical Society, Andover Village Improvement Society and West

Parish Garden Cemetery — are teaming up to offer back-to-back events on Sunday during the final Trails & Sails weekend.

At 10 a.m., West Parish Garden Cemetery is holding a tour of its historic and beautifully landscaped grounds and on-site chapel.

At noon, AVIS will lead a hike through the meadows River and Vale reservations. From 2 to 3 p.m., Addison Gallery will host a gallery talk and tour of its new exhibition, "Dwight Tryon and American Tonalism," with guest curator Keith Kauppila.

The Andover Historical Society wraps things up with a costumed walking tour of 1820s Andover, highlighting the places where Andover's prominent, 19th and woods of the Shawsheen century citizens once lived,

Pre-Turkey Day tilt

Andover faces major task in Central Catholic, after rolling past Methuen

By David Willis dwillis@andovertownsman.com

andovertownsman.com

The sour taste remains in the Andover High football team's mouths, the memories of not one, but two losses to their archrival Central Catholic.

"Losing to them twice last year was awful," senior captain Brian Duffy said. "We want redemption this season. We are pumped to play them again.3

This Friday night, the Golden Warriors face their toughest opponent of the season in defending Division 1 Super Bowl champion Central Catholic — a team that defeated them in the regular season, then again in their traditional Thanksgiving Day matchup.

"Central is always a huge, important game for us," said star running back Kevin Chen. "We know that Central "Last season certainly did is a great team, but we want to go out and beat them."

The two teams will meet on 7 p.m. Friday at Lawrence make something happen."

"It is definitely the biggest game of our regular season,' captain Chris Tully said. not go as planned against Central. So we know that we have to come out flying and

Last season brought the first meeting of the two teams outside of Thanksgiving Day since 1972, an occurrence that resulted due to the realignment of the Massachusetts football playoff system. The Raiders defeated the Golden Warriors 26-7.

In their more traditional holiday meeting, Central again topped Andover, that time 44-18, earning revenge of its own after the Warriors beat them on Thanksgiving Day 2012 to earn the MVC Division 1 title.

"We know how big a game this is," senior receiver/ defensive back Zach Walker said. "It is always huge to take on Central."

Win vs. loss

Central Catholic enters the contest on a down note, falling to rival St. John's Prep 27-12 after rolling over Lawrence (40-3) and Haverhill (40-0).

The Golden Warriors, on the other hand, head into Friday night's Thanksgiving preview coming off their best win of the season, as a huge three-touchdown day for Chen led Andover to a 41-7 victory over Methuen last Friday.

"This was a must-win game for us even this early in the season," Tully said after the Methuen win. "Nothing could stop us in this game."

Tully said the loss the previous week against North downs, QB E.J. Perry IV Andover "was brutal. We went full-tilt all week getting ready (for Methuen).'

Chen started the game off in style, picking up a fumble and running it back 22 yards for a score.

"There was no way I was going to dive on the fumble, the Andover running back/ defensive back said. "I knew I was going to scoop it up and score.'

That was Chen's first of three scores on the day. First, he ran in a short 2-yard score; then on the first play of the second half, he broke a 65-yard touchdown.

'On the (65-yard) touchdown, I saw a huge hole and ran for it," said Chen, who also made eight tackles and caused an apparent fumble that was ruled down. "I hit the hole and used my track speed.

"We really wanted this one after last week's heartbreak, and I was glad to perform better."

Between Chen's touchstruck for his first touchdown of the day late in the first quarter when he hooked up with speedy Walker on a 23-yard score.

"I was one-on-one with the corner," Walker said. "I made a move, beat the guy and E.J. threw me a nice ball."

Perry added another score through the air late in the third on a 27-yard pass to Brandon Marti, and closed out the scoring with a 5-yard touchdown run with 3:18 left.

"Methuen is always a really intense game," Duffy said. "It is a heated rivalry with a lot at stake with the (Larry Klimas-Dick Collins) Cup trophy on the line. We wanted this more than anything."

Tully led the Warriors with 12 tackles and Duffy added 10 stops.

Tori Roche scored a hat trick and two assists to pace Andover in a 6-0 win over Haverhill last Wednesday. Jillian Hughes, Darsie Peterson and Kate Gregory each added single goals and Georgina Christopolus had two assists for the winners.

GIRLS SOCCER

Veronica Alois netted two goals and track star Hannah Ameen added the third score as Andover bested Tewksbury 3-0 last Thursday. Lydia Rankin and Courtney Grygiel chipped in with an assist each and Emily Hespeler made four saves for the shutout.

A battle of early-season unbeatens ended in both teams remaining undefeated as Andover played powerhouse Central Catholic to a 1-1 tie on Saturday. Veronica Alois scored the Warrior goal off an assist from Lily Puccia and Emily Hespeler made five saves.

Andover's Lydia Rankin scored a secondhalf goal as the Golden Warriors played Dracut to a 1-1 tie last Tuesday.

Rachel Landry won the 500 freestyle in 5:30.58 and took the 100 breaststroke in 1:17.65 to help Andover beat Central Catholic 99-82 last Friday. Stas Curreri's first-period goal proved to be the difference as short-handed Andover rallied to upset Newton North 2-1 on Saturday. Victor Guery, primarily a defender, stepped up with a goal, while Alex Gray and Demetri Kostakis each had an assist and Mike Weber made six saves for the winners.

Demetri Kostakis tallied a pair of goals as Andover knocked Dracut from the ranks of the unbeaten with a 3-1 win last Tuesday, Sept. 16. Jeremy Chan added the third goal, Jack Moffitt had an assist and Mike Weber made seven saves for the winners.

Like so many who have grown up in Andover, dreams of beating Central Catholic on Thanksgiving morning were as common for Oliver Eberth as dry turkey that afternoon.

Last Saturday may not have been Turkey Day, but defeating the rival Raiders still tasted pretty darn good.

A year after twice losing to Central Catholic as quarterback for Andover High, Eberth — the new QB for St. John's Prep in Danvers — threw for 123 yards to lead his Eagles to a 27-12 victory over the Raiders.

It was the latest win in a hot early start for the former Golden Warrior.

"He's been a great addition; he doesn't get rattled," said firstyear St. John's Prep coach and former NFL QB Brian St. Pierre. "I mean, he wasn't perfect (against Central), but he keeps playing and keeps leading.

"Right away this summer, I saw that he had a little bit of that 'It' factor. As a quarterback, I could identify that."

Eberth made the bold move to transfer to St. John's after splitting time behind center with current Andover QB E.J. Perry IV last fall.

Right after last season, I thought about leaving Andover," said Eberth, who hit nine of 16 passes against Central last Saturday. "I saw that (2013 QB Mike) Geaslen (also of Andover) had come here in a similar situation, and he had done very well. "I knew this was the perfect school for me, a perfect fit. I couldn't ask for anything better." Eberth had to prove himself, first and foremost, to his teammates.

As luck would have it, he stepped into a program under a new head coach who is one of the most legendary high school football players in state history, a guy who went on to play three years at Boston College and then soak up eight more in the pros. "He's helped me tremendously," the 6-foot-3 Eberth said of St. Pierre. "Look at my film from last year to this year, he's made a huge difference."

Eberth found himself engrossed in a fierce preseason battle for the top QB spot. The job wasn't "supposed" to be his. But he grew immediately on St. Pierre.

"We tried to find what his strengths were, and we're trying to apply that. (I love) his demeanor.'

With the entire state, at least its football heavy-hitters, watching, Eberth showed he can make all the throws in the game against Central Catholic. His touch pass, an 11-yarder down the middle to Jake Burt on second-and-goal, had eyes as it eluded a couple of Central defenders and found the feathery soft fingertips of BC-bound tight end Jake Burt.

"This is what big-time football in Massachusetts is all about. He was cool, cool under the pressure, and he made the plays," St.
