COOKING UP FUN

Wood Hill Middle School welcomes new students with cook-out, game day

By TERRY DATE

It's a big jump to go from being a little fifth grader to a big sixth grader, from an elementary kid to a middle schooler, from childhood to almost-teen-hood. Sarah LaPointe, 11 — but who will be 12 next week — got a hand with the transition to 6th grade as did fellow classmates last Friday at the new-student cookout at Wood Hill Middle School.

The day was one of eating hot dogs and hamburgers, playing word games and gathering in small groups on the playground's concrete courts to chat about what they did over the summer and what they hope to do this fall.

Most of all it was a chance to get acclimated to their new school in advance of its start this week, said Principal Patrick Bucco. Schools across the district started Wednesday, Sept. 2.

Project OK'd by Planning Board

Neighbors to file appeal of 2-phase elderly housing project

By TERRY DATE

ANDOVER — In its first vote, the Planning Board gave a senior housing development planned for the former Strawberry Hill Farm a thumbs down.

The developer appealed, and the project ended up remanded back to the town for another review. That time, it won approval.

Now neighbors opposed to the development plan to take their objections to court.

The decision in question was a special permit to allow the two-phased project on the 9.2-acre former home of Strawberry Hill Farm, at 254 Lowell St. The permit allows senior housing in an area zoned for single-family homes.

On Aug. 13, project developer National Development picked up the necessary super-majority vote, 4-1, when Planning Board member Jay Doherty voted in the

Neighbors of landfill raise traffic concerns

By TERRY DATE

As it is, Greenwood Road neighbors worry for the welfare of bicyclists, pedestrians and vehicles near the gated entrance to Ledge Road.

Public Works truck drivers negotiate a tight turning radius to enter the open gate, and the department makes an estimated 10 round trips a day there between April and November.

Neighbor Brad Wright told selectmen earlier this summer that the upcoming landfill capping project will spur additional traffic to the intersection. This will imperil lives on the narrow road with its blind curve, he said. The selectmen meeting was on post-cap uses for the former landfill.

During a recent visit to the intersection, Wright said he has seen dump trucks swing wide to make the turn, and he wonders if the operators can see oncoming traffic that approaches from the blind curve.

Merrimack not eyeing real estate College says it isn't in market for neighbor houses

By GARRIN MARCHETTI

Andover residents whose homes border Merrimack College do not need to worry about the college actively buying up homes in their neighborhood, according to a college spokesman.

Such rumors have been swirling among residents of Rockridge and Foxhill roads after Merrimack College acquired a rundown property at 185 Elm St. this summer.

Concerns intensified as homeowners received postcards from Christine Metros Natale, a real estate broker from Lowell, inquiring whether they would be open to selling their homes to "interested developers." Residents assumed Merrimack College was working with Natale to buy the houses and demolish them.

But Jim Chiavelli, Merrimack associate vice president of communications, said the college has no such plans and purchased the 185 Elm St. property only after Natale approached with an offer.

This rundown house at 185 Elm St. in Andover was recently purchased by Merrimack College.

"We are certainly not shopping for houses," Chiavelli said in an interview. "If someone is interested in selling, we'll evaluate any offer that comes to us. But we have not reached out to any homeowners."

Natale said she was "in no way affiliated" with the college.

"I am not working with Merrimack," Natale said. "I had listed (185 Elm St.) through an estate sale, and I called Merrimack to see if they were interested." According to Natale, the 185 Elm St. home had become "really uninhabitable," after part of the roof caved in. The homeowner was an elderly woman, and her family approached Natale about selling.

After posting a notice for the home on her website, Natale said she received five offers from local developers interested in buying and

Remembering the early Andover Day

A pretty Vanna White impersonator was there with a large, eye-catching homemade "Wheel of Fortune" wheel as a five-member volunteer team of downtown business supporters worked tirelessly with the Andover Business Center Association resurrecting "Andover Day" in hopes of getting shoppers downtown.

It was 2006 when Betsy Powers, who then owned a small store on Park Street called Culinary Concepts (where Orange Leaf is today), teamed with Nancy Hargreaves Pierce, Jim Kapelson, Don Robb and Don Schroder.

Kapelson owned the former men's store, KAPS (now Cristina's) on Main Street; Hargreaves Pierce and Schroder are both retired from Enterprise Bank; and Robb was a devoted volunteer as he is today.

of school, a motorist clipped a fire hydrant on the shoulder of the narrow road, just 100 yards from the gate, he said.

"So, it is scary," he said. Marc Fournier, town highway superintendent, says the town could reconfigure the area and post warnings during the capping project's final design phase, scheduled to begin Nov. 1.

"We can change the access to the site during construction," he said. He said the capping project would bring additional traffic to the intersection, though how much and for how long has yet to be determined.

Final design brings together the town, its consultant CDM Smith, the state Department of Environmental Protection, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and others to assemble a construction document to put the project out to bid, Fournier said.

The latest plan calls for having the landfill capped by the end of 2017.

The Ledge Road site was used as a town dump from the 1940s through 1975, when it closed, Fournier said. Andover is required by DEP to cap its landfill and halt the spread of contaminants.

Selectmen have set a goal for Oct. 1, to come up with a recommendation for post-cap uses at the site.

At the selectmen's meeting on the landfill's post-cap uses, neighbor Tom Brady, a Pettengill Road resident, asked for a wholesale change to the Greenwood Road intersection.

"Can you provide alternative access?" he asked.

He reminded the room that a woman walking a dog was seriously injured several years ago when she was struck by a vehicle on Greenwood.

The town highway superintendent said the town could explore a possible alternative during the final design.

DPW drivers use the gated road to haul materials including asphalt millings, catch basin debris and street sweepings to the Ledge Road storage site.

Selectmen Chairwoman Mary O'Donoghue said in an Aug. 27, interview that the neighbors' traffic concerns were legitimate.

"I can see exactly what Brad Wright was referring to," she said.

About 75 of the new 132 sixth-graders came to the cookout.

About 50 Wood Hill student ambassadors, veterans of the middle school scene, took the new students under their wings. They answered questions, helped them feel connected to their new school of 430 students in grades 6-8.

Any help with the transition is good, said the principal.

"Middle school, in general, can be tough," he said.

The students start to push back and question things, and want to be treated as adults and be given responsibility, even as they look for support and help up when they fall, the principal said.

All over the basketball courts, students gathered in groups of five or more. Some just boys; some just girls; a few with a mix of the genders.

Earlier they played ice-breaker games including one with beach balls. The multi-colored balls had questions printed all over them.

Kids took turns handling the beachballs and where their thumbs landed on a question they read it aloud and answered it: What are your favorite hobbies? What motivates you to work hard? If you were invisible where would you go and why? If you could go back in time what period would you back to?

Later, Sarah and her friend Mariel Taveras, also a new sixth grader, had a question of their own. They wandered over to the principal and asked him how to sign up for a language class.

Real easy, he said. Sign up in the main office.

Sarah said she was nervous, at least a little, about moving up to middle school.

For one thing, she's worried that she will not be able to get her locker open and get to class on time.

Things will be different, she and Mariel said.

"It's different, a bunch of different teachers, it is not just one," Sarah said.

In elementary school each class has one main teacher, the girls said.

Next week they'll have different teachers for different subjects.

And they'll be among a different group of kids in a new building, taking their place as the new Grade 6.

They are last year's fifth graders at High Plain Elementary School, plus 10 or 15 students each from Sanborn and West elementary schools and about five students from out of town.

Things are changing.

affirmative, swayed by a third-party's analysis of the project traffic study.

Town Planner Paul Materazzo said the consultant felt the project would not have a big impact on traffic. The lone dissenting vote came from Steve Pouliot.

Meanwhile, opponents of the project plan to appeal the Planning Board's approval with a court challenge of their own, said neighbor Heather Lauten of 243 Lowell St.

Lauten did not indicate which court they would file in or upon what grounds they would base the appeal. "We feel it violates the Opponents of the project plan to appeal the Planning Board's approval with a court challenge of their own town zoning and would have a significant detrimental impact on our neighborhood and the town as a whole," she said.

The neighbors have until Thursday, Sept 3, to file their case. Opponents previously said the project conflicts with the neighborhood's aesthetics.

Materazzo had yet to hear of an appeal as of Friday morning, Aug. 28.

The project's first phase is a single-story building with 63 assisted-living units for people who need memory care — called Bridges at Andover

The second phase is for 70 independent living apartments for people 55-and-older, so-called congregate housing, in a three-story facility sponsored by B'nai B'rith Housing and called Andover Senior Residences.

Earlier this year, on Feb. 26, National Development's request for a special permit for the project failed to win Planning Board approval, receiving a 3-2 majority — a single vote shy of the necessary super-majority.

The developer challenged the decision in Land Court and the case was remanded back to the board by mutual consent — the town and the developer — for additional review.

The remand was jointly approved by Town Counsel Thomas Urbelis and the developer's attorney, Mark Johnson.

The applicant provided the town with funds to hire a third-party consultant to look at the traffic analysis and report on it.

Opponents cried foul. "The town has given the developer every bite at the apple it could, and has bent over backwards to make sure that they get approval," Lauten said earlier.

tearing down the building. She also called Merrimack on her own thinking the school might be interested since the property was adjacent to campus on the corner of Elm Street and Rockridge Road.

"(The college was) very interested in the home, and we worked quickly to finalize the sale," Natale said. "The final price was $319,900, and Merrimack paid in cash. The deal was settled back in July."

Natale said she realized the Andover neighborhood had the potential to provide even more profitable sales, so she decided to send her own postcards to homes on Rockridge and Foxhill roads. The notes asked residents if they were interested in selling their homes and to call Natale if they were.

"Anytime I can get a good price for a home like (185 Elm St.), it will prompt me to want to get more listings in the area," Natale said.

The decision to mail postcards was Natale's, and she wanted to stress to residents that if they decided to sell their homes, they would be working with her, not with Merrimack.

A landscaping crew was recently working at 185 Elm St., according to Chiavelli, emptying the house and mowing the lawn. A nearly filled Dumpster was outside the house.

Last summer, Merrimack announced its intention to build new residence halls in both Andover and North Andover to accommodate its growing student population. While construction on the North Andover dorms has gone on all summer, there has been no construction on the Andover portion of the project after Merrimack withdrew building permit requests back in January, following months of opposition from Andover neighbors.

Chiavelli said there are no plans to demolish the 185 Elm St. home, and potential expansion has nothing to do with Merrimack's decision to purchase it.

"We (Merrimack) plan on securing the site and cleaning it up," Chiavelli said. "It had been identified at a lot of public meetings; neighbors said it's brought down (the quality of) the neighborhood. We thought it would be a good opportunity to fix something that's been troublesome for everyone."

A few bales of hay and decorative mums dotted Main Street while some shoppers came back then.

"It was a much smaller scale all about sidewalk sales and food from local restaurants, like (the former) Vincenzo's," said Powers, who now works at Enterprise Bank in Andover. "My daughter, Ellen, played Vanna with the 'Wheel of Fortune,' which was a big crowd-pleaser at the time."

But ABCA believed they were on to something and the group has happily watched Andover Day grow enormously over the years.

"The big Andover Day was in 2009 with the 'Welcome Back to Main Street' theme as the Main Street construction was done," she said. "We had live music, a ribbon-cutting ceremony, tents for vendors and everything else."

Now, the vendor list is capped at about 160 for space reasons and fills months before the event. Each vendor is housed under a tent located on both sides of Main Street. Thousands visit the car-free section of Main Street - from Elm Square to Punchard Avenue - as the town hosts its annual blockbuster of a downtown block party.

IF YOU GO

WHEN: Saturday, Sept. 12 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., rain or shine

WHAT: 160 tented business and non-profit groups' booths line sidewalks on both sides of Main Street and some side streets

TRAFFIC NOTES: Main Street is closed to traffic between Elm Square and Punchard Avenue.

WHAT ELSE: The main stage in Elm Square features live music, plenty of food available at the event and carnival rides for kids available in the town-owned parking lot near Andover Bookstore.

TOWN BRIEFS

Pack 79 Cub Scout recruitment

Andover Cub Scouts Pack 79 is hosting its annual recruitment night on Saturday, Sept. 12, at Saint Robert's Bellarmine Parish, 198 Haggetts Pond Road, from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

Cub Scout activities include weekly Den and monthly Pack meetings, Pack sleepover, trips to see battleships and museums, local trail hikes, overnight family camping trips, community service projects, Memorial Day parade, Pinewood Derby and, of course, meeting and making new friends.

The Pack meets Thursday nights from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at Saint Robert's Bellarmine Parish on Haggetts Pond Road.

Troop 76 to start weekly meetings

Ballardvale's Boy Scout Troop 76 will be starting its weekly meetings on Friday, Sept. 4 at the Ballardvale United Church. Scouts assemble at 7 p.m. and opening ceremonies will follow.

Troop 76 is one of the most active troops in Andover. This past summer troop members attended several campouts, including a week at Summer Camp. Troop members also worked on two Eagle Scout Service Projects.

Troop 76 is a diverse group of Scouts. While most are from Andover, the troop has members from 5 towns and two states at this time. If your son is aged 10-1/2 years, or has completed the fifth grade, and you are looking for a family-oriented way to enjoy the outdoors, and learn leadership and life skills at the same time, please visit us at one of our Friday night meetings.

Troop 76 is part of the new Spirit of Adventure Council, Boy Scouts of America. It meets Friday nights, 7 to 9 p.m. during the school year at the Ballard Vale United Church, 23 Clark Road, Andover. Scoutmaster Don Milligan can be reached at (978) 475-9525.

Large crowds gathered along Main Street for Andover Day last year. This year's event is Sept. 12.

STANDING HED

Leo F. Griffin, 79

November 4, 1935 — August 25, 2015

ANDOVER — Leo Francis Griffin of Andover, loving husband and best friend to Nancy (Corey) Griffin, passed away Tuesday, August 25, after a courageous battle with cancer. Leo lived optimistically through the end and will always be cherished in our hearts.

Leo was born in Boston on November 4, 1935, a native son of Charlestown, the third oldest of nine children born to Joseph and Anna (Lyons) Griffin. Leo was educated in the Boston public school system and joined the U.S. Air Force in 1953. He served on active duty until 1957, stationed in various locations throughout Germany, Libya, Turkey and France. Following his service to his country, he returned to finish his education under the GI bill at Boston University, where he achieved a B.S. and B.A. He later completed an M.B.A. at Northeastern University.

Leo was a professional auditor and accountant, employed by the Army Audit Agency and the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority, wrapping his successful career serving as Director of Audit for Marshalls, Inc. Leo also gave generously of his time to town affairs, including the Finance Committee, the Computer Advisory Committee, the Climate for Learning Committee, the West Elementary PTO. He also enthusiastically coached his children's soccer teams in Andover.

Following retirement, he enjoyed traveling with his wife and special needs daughter, Amy. Leo visited Bermuda, Spain, France, Germany, Italy, England, Ireland, Canada and his favorite spot of all—Hawaii. He also spent plenty of time visiting his children scattered throughout the United States, with frequent visits to Virginia, New Mexico and California to share in holidays, special occasions, or simple, quiet family time.

Leo was an avid reader and writer. He could always be found with a book nearby, and even authored two of his own, "Retail Auditing: A Practitioner's Guide" in 1998 and "Bunker Hill Day" in 2014. His greatest passion, however, was his family. He was a devoted husband, a caring father, and he excelled in the role of grandfather to his eight grandchildren.

He is survived by his five children as well, Michael and Amy (Curtin) Griffin of Chico, Calif. and their two daughters, Kallie and Aisling, Kathleen (Griffin) and David Myers of Suwanee, Ga. and their two sons, Kevin and Connor; Mary Beth Griffin of Corrales, N.M. and her two children, Emily and Maxwell Macy, Daniel and Melanie (Thurston) Griffin of Tewksbury, and their two sons, Jack and William; and Amy Griffin of Andover. He is also survived by his siblings, his brothers, William Griffin and his wife, Anne; Stephen Griffin, Paul Griffin and his wife, Mary, all of Charlestown; by Peter Griffin and his wife, Charlene of Tiburon, Del., Ellen (Griffin) and Bob Atkinson of Northbridge, Mass. He was predeceased by his brother, Joseph Griffin and his sisters, Anne and Mary Griffin. Leo also leaves many nieces and nephews.

ARRANGEMENTS: A Funeral Mass was celebrated on Friday, August 28, 2015 at 11 a.m. in St. Robert Bellarmine Church, 198 Haggetts Pond Road, Andover. Burial will follow in St. Mary's Cemetery in North Tewksbury. Family and friends attended calling hours at the John Breen Memorial Funeral Home, Inc., 122 Amesbury St., Lawrence. Police warn against electric company scam

Police are warning residents against a phone scam offering lower electric rates.

Police Chief Patrick Keefe said recently that his department has received numerous reports over the last couple days from residents stating a representative from their electric company called to ask if they'd like to reduce their bill or get solar panels.

Residents from Andover, Westford and Lancaster have been affected by the calls.

To make the call seem legitimate, the number appears as if it's coming from the Town of Andover. The fake number is 978-475-1212. The Federal Communications Commission describes this as caller ID spoofing. This allows people to deliberately falsify a telephone number and/or name relayed on someone's caller ID to disguise the true identity of the caller.

"Do not respond to these fraudulent calls," Keefe said in a press release. "Your electric company would not be calling you to make changes to your bill. Immediately hang up and report the incident."

Police report that Verizon is aware of the situation and they advise residents to contact the Federal Trade Commission to report these calls. Any residents with concerns or questions should call the Andover Police Department at 978-475-0411.

Jean Foster, 96

March 24, 1919 — August 27, 2015

EXETER, N.H. — Jean Davis Foster, 96, died at her home at Riverwoods in Exeter, N.H. on August 27, 2015. Born on March 24, 1919 in Waltham.

She was the daughter of Harold and Lila (Anwyl) Davis. Jean lived for many years in Andover, Mass. and in Long Boat Key, Fla. As an undergraduate at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst she earned her private pilot's license at the age of 19 under the Civilian Pilot Training Program, which trained fliers some of whom later served in World War II. Also in college, she was the captain of the women's field hockey team and an avid tennis player. A lifelong sports fan, she was as easily enthralled by a Bruins game or a Wimbledon final. When raising her children in Andover, Jean managed the Christ Episcopal Church thrift shop and taught dyslexic children in the Andover public schools. Jean always enjoyed being with young people and was a leader in the Campfire Girls. In recent years she formed lasting attachments with nurses, aides and other young women working in her retirement community. An English major and music minor in college, Jean devoured novels throughout her life at a torrid pace of three or four a month. She had opinions about many classic and contemporary novelists but generally favored women writers. She was the widow of Robert M. Foster and Albert D. Foster, and is survived by her children, Richard W. Foster and his wife, Etna Cavalcante, of Gaithersburg, Md., Jo-Anwyl F. Keefe of Portsmouth, N.H., Stephen M. Foster of Washington, D.C., Laurellen Foster and her husband, Roger Wardwell of Sarasota, Fla., and nine grandchildren, (Heath Trombold, Sarah Rhea, Lila Foster, Nastassia Siqueira, Nana Foster, Ariel Foster, Reid Myers, Evan Myers, and Olivia Keefe) and 10 great-grandchildren.

ARRANGEMENTS: There are no calling hours. Private burial will be at Pine Grove Cemetery, Topsfield. Arrangements by Brewitt Funeral Home, Exeter, N.H. For more information, visit www.brewittfuneralhome.com.

Cops release images in home invasion case

By Terry Date
tdate@andovertownsm.com

Police are looking for the public's help identifying a man they say is connected to a July home invasion on North Main Street in which a 16-year-old girl was taped to a chair.

Police describe the man in the surveillance photographs as a person of interest in the 275 North Main St. breaking and entering.

Anyone who recognizes or can identify the man is asked to call the Andover Police Detective Division, 978-475-0411, or leave a message on the Andover Police tip line, 978-470-3864.

Andover police Commander Charles Heseltine released no information on where or when the photographs were taken. He confirmed, however, that the person of interest was related to the breaking and entering at 275 North Main St.

The home invasion took place at noon July 31, and was reported in a 911 call by the victim.

In her 911 call, the victim said the man had a red bandana over his face and was wearing aviator sunglasses and a gray shirt.

She also said the man took $250, which he said he needed for his mom.

The girl later told reporters that she struggled with the intruder. Aside from being "banged up" and having a sore neck, she was not injured, she said.

The intruder is described as being between 5 feet, 7 inches, and 5 feet, 10 inches tall and of medium build, police said earlier.

The intruder, believed to be between 20 and 30 years old, entered through an unlocked garage door about noon, police said.

The girl's mother and brother then arrived home and the man fled through the front door, the girl said. The girl's brother found her taped to the chair, the girl said.

The fleeing man went undetected by the mother and brother.

The man is also suspected of breaking into a house on Harding Street, less than a half-mile away, police said earlier.

Police found evidence at the Harding Street home that tied the break-in to the earlier home invasion on North Main Street, police said.

Items stolen from the Harding Street location included clothing, police said.

Report sheds light on Taser, stun-gun use in Mass.

By COLIN A. YOUNG
Statehouse News Service

BOSTON — Police officers in Massachusetts used or threatened to use a Taser or stun gun more than a thousand times last year, a slight increase from 2013.

And this week, Andover police assisted North Reading police by Tasing a man who was threatening "suicide by cop."

In 2014, police departments reported 1,037 Taser or stun gun contacts -- defined as an individual officer issuing a warning, displaying the weapon or deploying the weapon toward a single subject. That was a 3.7 percent increase over the total contacts reported in 2013 and a .17 percent increase over the total reported in 2012, according to a newly filed state report.

The report, presented to the Legislature by the Executive Office of Public Safety and Security, tracks each use of an electronic control weapon (ECW) -- a term that encompasses Tasers and stun guns -- by police officers around the state.

A vast majority of subjects involved in ECW contacts were male (88.5 percent), about 69 percent were white, 16.8 percent were black, 11.9 percent were Hispanic and 1.6 percent were labeled as "other."

Among municipal police departments, New Bedford reported the greatest number of incidents -- 105, down from 125 in 2013 and 145 in 2012 -- followed by Lawrence (57), Brockton (30), Fall River (29), and Holyoke, Taunton and Wareham (27 each).

Of the five non-municipal departments authorized to carry ECWs, including the Massachusetts State Police, only the Northeast Massachusetts Law Enforcement Council reported any ECW-involved incidents last year (2).

The state does not have readily-available data on deaths associated with ECW use, but a list of 2014 police-involved deaths compiled by WGBH reported a Chelsea man died after police used a Taser three times to subdue him.

Proponents say ECWs are less lethal alternatives to firearms that still allow officers to protect themselves and the public during potentially violent situations.

On Monday, Andover and North Reading police used a Taser to subdue a man who was allegedly trying to commit "suicide by cop" at a busy intersection in North Reading, the police department said.

The man waved a knife at officers and repeatedly asked the officers to shoot him, according to police. North Reading requested assistance from the Andover department, which equips its officers with Tasers, and the man was safely subdued with a Taser, police said.

North Reading currently does not arm its officers with Tasers, but has plans to deploy them later this year once all of its officers undergo training, chief Michael Murphy said in a statement.

As of Dec. 31, 2014, 190 municipal police departments and five non-municipal agencies had approval from the Secretary of Public Safety and Security to train and arm officers with ECWs. At the end of 2013, 172 departments had been authorized to use such weapons.

Nationwide, the number of local police departments that use Tasers or stun guns increased more than 10 times between 2000 and 2013, up from 7 percent to 81 percent, according to a 2013 report from the U.S. Bureau of Justice Statistics.

In 2004, former Gov. Mitt Romney signed a law making Massachusetts the 49th state to allow police officers to carry ECWs, which Romney equated to a "modern billy club."

Massachusetts law requires departments to receive approval from EOPSS before it buys ECWs or begins to train its officers in their use, but each department is responsible for setting its own policies for the use of ECWs.

"EOPSS approves department training programs," EOPSS spokesman Felix Browne told the News Service. "Departments are generally responsible for their own procedures, provided their training has been approved by EOPSS."

The law also mandates that ECWs contain a mechanism in order to track each time the weapon is deployed, and that EOPSS compile an annual report for the Legislature on the use of ECWs.

Police chief offers back-to-school safety tips

STAFF REPORT

With school starting this week, Andover Police chief Patrick Keefe and the Andover Police Department issued a reminder about several important safety tips for the coming school year.

“We hope to assist families transition into the new school year safely,” Keefe said. “Parents and guardians, please review these key tips to help your children avoid danger while traveling to and from school.”

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health reports that approximately 400,000 students in the state are taken to and from school by bus every year. While school bus travel is generally very safe, the majority of related injuries occur when boarding or exiting a bus because of passing traffic or due to walking in one of the bus driver’s blind spots. Children ages 4 to 7 are at the highest risk of injury.

Keefe recommends parents follow safety procedures outlined by the state agency to prevent accidents this school season:

- Educate children on safe bus riding and walking behaviors when getting on Kirsten Prinn, a first-grade teacher at the Bancroft School in Andover, works on connecting devices to her computer as teachers get ready for the first day of school.

- Teach young children to take five giant steps (10 feet) in front of the bus and to wait for the driver’s signal before crossing.
- Develop appropriate bus pick-up/drop-off policies.

- Closely supervise children under age 10 who must cross the street after exiting the bus.

- The fine for illegally passing a school bus in another motor vehicle is $200, and repeat offenders may have their licenses suspended.

Additionally, before sending your child off to school in the morning, Andover Police suggest checking backpacks to make sure they are a tolerable weight. The American Chiropractic Association advises that backpacks should weigh no more than 10 percent of a student’s body weight, as heavy pressure can negatively affect the skeletal and muscular development in children.

TOWN BRIEFS

WHAT'S HAPPENING AT THE CENTER AT PUNCHARD

The Center at Punchard (The Center), 30 Whittier Court, Andover, has lots of activities and programs on tap.

Here are some of the highlights:

BoomerVenture Screening Room: Thursdays, 6:30 p.m.; free.

Mindfulness Meditation: Fridays, 3 to 3:30 p.m. Increase mental clarity, calmness, happiness and health through meditation in these sessions aimed at learning/practicing mindfulness. Beginners welcome; by donation.

The National Council on Aging has designated September as Senior Center Month. Programs at The Center at Punchard will reflect this year's theme "LIFE: Learning, Independence, Friends, Energy." The Center's aim is to embrace active, positive aging by engaging physically, emotionally, intellectually, socially and spiritually – a truly holistic approach to aging and wellness. Highlights include:

Visit to the Edward M. Kennedy Institute for the U.S. Senate: Friday, Sept. 4, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Enjoy an interactive experience as a "Senator-in-Training," in a full replica of the U.S. Senate; includes a stop at Quincy Market for lunch (on one's own) and browsing time; $38.

Breath, Balance and Bodywork: Tuesdays, Sept. 8 through Nov. 10, 2 p.m. Improve oxygen to the body and find a balance between the mind and body; increase bone density and strength through the use of props and one's own body weight; $40.

Stretch, Release and Relax: Wednesdays, Sept. 9 through Nov. 4, 2 p.m. Improve flexibility, balance and stability with a series of simple exercises to release tight spots and reduce muscle pain; start by standing then finish the class on the floor with meditation; limited to two chair participants; $36.

Generations in Action: Beams Dreams: Wednesday, Sept. 9, 1:30 p.m. Meet with Barbara McGovern to learn and participate in a mission to deliver books, toys, bikes and school supplies to a very needy Appalachian school; bring donations that day or Friday, Sept. 4, 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Art of Energy Balancing: Wednesdays, Sept. 9 and 16, 10 a.m. to noon. Drawn from the ancient Indian healing art of Ayurveda, this workshop combines simple Polarity techniques, self-care and relaxation which sets the mood for creating a work of visual art; $14.

Memory Café: Thursday, Sept. 10, 1 to 3 p.m. Join a welcoming place for people living with memory changes (and their friends and loved ones) due to Alzheimer's, vascular disease, Parkinson's, dementia, or any other related conditions.

Grill Night "Farewell to Summer": Thursday, Sept. 10, 5 to 7 p.m. (seatings at 5, 5:30, 6 and 6:30 p.m.). Enjoy a full meal and a performance by The Jazz Disciples; menu includes a main course, salads, drink, and dessert, starting at $5; steak tips are on special for $8; the feature film starts at 6:30 p.m.; all are welcome; advance payment is required.

Opioid Forum: Friday, Sept. 11, 10 a.m. Hear from a panel of participants from the Board of Health, and Andover Police Department Det. Delaney in the first of a two-part examination of the severe Opioid problem that plagues the country and the community.

Andover Days honors The Center at Punchard: Saturday, Sept. 12, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Center will be the "guest of honor" at the town-wide outdoor celebration; visit the booth in front of the Townhouse for giveaways, information about services and the fall schedule.

BoomerVenture: Belly Dancing: Thursdays, Sept. 17 through Nov. 12, 6 p.m. Learn basic dance moves to improve flexibility, and increase self-confidence; suitable for women of all body types and fitness levels; $54.

Friday Speaker Series: U.S. Coins - History and Facts: Friday, Sept. 18, 8:30 a.m. Joe Andrews has been collecting, appraising and speaking on U.S. coins for more than 30 years and is a member of the Numismatic Guaranty Corporation Collectors' Society; coins appraised - one each free of charge; $4 admission includes breakfast.

Free Senior IDs: Friday, Sept. 18, 10:30 a.m. These photo IDs provide seniors with a secondary form of identification but does not replace a driver's license; proof of ID is required for this identification.

Community Drum Circle: Saturday, Sept. 19, 7 p.m. at the Andover Townhouse. Members of Genki Spark, a Boston-based Asian women's arts and advocacy group, will kick off the evening; some folks will get a chance to play their Japanese drums; this program is supported in part by a grant from the Andover Cultural Council, which is supported by the Mass. Cultural Council; tickets are $15 and available at The Center and Andover Bookstore.

Wail with your harmonica: Wednesdays, Sept. 23 through Oct. 21, 9 a.m. Led by Dave Cook, teacher and performer; expand the lungs, pucker up and have fun learning to play the harmonica; $20.

The Sights and Surprises Along Route 133: Thursday, Sept. 24, 1:30 p.m. Join Joan Patrakis, local author and historian, on a virtual drive; farms, ice cream stands, historic buildings, an airport and flea market are just some of the sites to see on one of the state's oldest country roads; learn the stories behind these landmarks and explore a few surprises along the way; $3.

Open House: Friday, Sept. 25, all day event. Town departments and their resources will be highlighted, as well as special afternoon programs; breakfast with the COA Advisory Board, 8 a.m.; Community Resources, 9:30 a.m.; buffet luncheon, noon, $3, advance registration required; Bill Fahey, Andover Youth Services, will show "The Other Side of Andover," a student-made film about the heroin crisis in town, 1:30 p.m.

Memo to the next town manager

Barry Finegold

Andover is truly at a crossroads in terms of what type of town it wants to be.

1) We need to focus on technology.

Residents should be able to access everything they need for government services from their smart phone. We need to build a truly virtual town hall.

2) Andover High needs to regain its status as an elite high school. Today, we have a very good high school, but when we did the renovation in 1995, the school was never meant for 1800 students, and as a result we are no longer able to provide that elite kind of education and experience for our children. It's time to be bold. Pull the 9th grade to the Middle School, and move the 6th graders back to the Elementary School. Bottom line, we do need to build a new school somewhere. We in Andover invest in our kids and cannot short change them. Yes, this is a town project. Lead the way for the town to stop thinking of town side or school side in terms of budgeting. There is only one side. The people of Andover.

3) Our town employees are what make Andover great. Any businessman knows that the most important thing about their company is talent. Do benefits have to change with the times? Absolutely. But we should not make teachers, firemen or police apologize if they make six figure salaries. If you work in this town, you should be able to live here as well. Public safety, public education and a strong infrastructure are the backbone of any great society.

4) Andover needs to get its Mojo back in terms of economic development and the downtown. We have had 3 stores go out of business in the last month. If we do not start to market or put more emphasis on the downtown, it will continue to struggle. Yes, we need a parking solution and yes, we need a garage. The town manager should take the lead and spearhead organizing the local business community. It is also too hard and too slow to get permits in this town. Go around to any business owner who had to go through the process and they will tell you where the changes have to be made

5) Be bold in planning. Finding solutions for the town yard and the Ballardvale Fire Station are not easy. Whatever you decide on these projects, some people will not be happy. If you look at the town's history, some of the best decisions were the most controversial. Can you imagine trying to get a company like Raytheon approved today? People thought back then that there would be smoke stacks and toxins. In actuality, it has been an economic powerhouse that has been so helpful to the Andover tax base.

6) Be open and upfront about the seriousness of the heroin problem in Andover. Way too many able young people have lost their lives to this drug. Between Bill Fahey and the police department we can help the young people win the battle.

7) Don't be afraid to make mistakes or take unpopular positions if you feel long term it is in the best interest of the town. I know there were times that I made unpopular decisions. But at the end of the day, I knew that my constituents believed that I was doing what I thought was right, and that I had the town's best interest in mind.

Andover is wonderful community made up of caring, involved and insightful people. The sky is the limit. Welcome to Andover.

BARRY FINEGOLD

Editor's note: Finegold is a former member of the Board of Selectmen and the state Legislature, where he served as a state Representative and a state Senator representing Andover and other communities. He now works in his law practice in downtown Andover.

Article on bike routes showcased Andover outdoors

Editor, Townsman:

Thanks for the great coverage of the newly marked Andover bike routes. Andover is great place for close-to-home biking, hiking and paddling.

The Andover Trails Committee has posted maps of the bike routes and detailed cue sheets with mileage at our website: www.andover-trails.org. Please visit our site for the more information and to learn more about local trails, volunteer opportunities and more.

Also, the brand new 5th edition of The Andover Trails Guide is now available in local stores including Whole Foods, The Greater Boston Running Company, Rocky's Ace Hardware, and direct from the Andover Trails Committee via our website. The guidebook includes introductions to several organizations which preserve and protect our open spaces, trailways, and other environmental and cultural treasures, along with extensive maps, trail descriptions, and other useful information on more than 30 publicly accessible properties.

Thank you again for showcasing the new bike routes!

Art in the Park returns Sept. 19 after a one-year hiatus

By JUDY WAKEFIELD
jwakefield@andovertownsmen.com

After a one-year hiatus, the popular Art in the Park event returns this month to The Park featuring works by local artists who offer various artistic genres from weaving and pottery to photography and sophisticated oil paintings.

"We're back and we're so excited. It's going to be a great event," said artist Ulrike "Uli" Kapp of Andover, a member of the Andover Artists Guild, which hosts the event.

The group took a year off from the event to get better organized and to work on getting more artists involved with the event. The strategy worked out as more than 25 artists are taking part in the Sept. 19 event. Each will be selling an array of artwork including pen and ink drawings, photography, pastels, oils, acrylics, mixed media, watercolors and more.

She said the group heard from many residents who missed the art festival very much last year. For more than 40 years, it was a must-go as people enjoyed the event held every September.

awards and other educational programs, according to its website.

Andovers Artists Guild has a long local history that dates back to 1970 with nine members. It included artists and craftspeople. Its first arts festival was in a barn in North Andover.

That arts festival has grown into Art in the Park attracting hundreds of visitors each year and a membership not only including artists/arts patrons from Andover and North Andover, but also artists/arts patrons from surrounding towns as well as New Hampshire and Maine.

WHAT'S HAPPENING: HAROLD PARKER STATE FOREST

Harold Parker State Forest in Andover has plenty of activities in store this summer, from nature walks to quarry hikes.

All programs are free and open to the public. Here is what's on tap:

Soapstone Quarry Ramble: Thursdays, Sept. 3, 10 and 17, 3 to 5:15 p.m. Tour the site of the old Jenkins blue soapstone quarry, the Skug River mill site and a glacial erratic with the park interpreter. Appropriate for all ages. Meet at the campground nature center, 133 Jenkins Road, Andover.

Animal Tracking: Fridays, Sept. 4 and 18, 3 to 4 p.m. Bring your family to learn about animal tracking. Get a glimpse of the process and do some animal tracking yourself. All ages are welcome. Meet at the campground nature center, 133 Jenkins Road, Andover.

Tandem Bike Ride: Fridays, Sept. 4, 11, 18 and 25, 5 to 6 p.m. Bring your significant other and experience this ride back in time. The tandem is a nostalgic bicycle that was very common years ago and is now finding a rebirth. The casual paced ride through the campground, on pavement, is great for families as well as those new to bike riding. Helmets are required. Appropriate for children 8 and up. Meet at the campground nature center, 133 Jenkins Road, Andover. Call ahead to preregister for a bike.

Early Morning Stroll: Saturday, Sept. 5, 8 to 9:30 a.m. Go on a refreshing morning hike and learn a little bit of the history of the park. Appropriate for all ages. Meet at the campground nature center, 133 Jenkins Road, Andover.

"Can You Find Me?": Saturday, Sept. 5, 11 a.m. to noon. Learn about the fascinating and creative ways animals have adapted to hide themselves. Appropriate for all ages; families with children, best for ages 6 and up. Meet at the campground nature center, 133 Jenkins Road, Andover.

Animal Artifact Fun Time: Sunday, Sept. 6, 10 a.m. to noon. Learn about some of the animals found at Harold Parker State Forest through an array of artifacts that will be on display. Appropriate for all ages. Meet at the campground nature center, 133 Jenkins Road, Andover.

We Walk the Woods: Wednesdays, Sept. 9, 16, 23 and 30, 10 a.m. to noon. Join the park interpreter for a slow paced walk through the forest while enjoying nature at its finest. Hike to a different part of the forest each week. Appropriate for children over 6. Meet at the campground nature center, 133 Jenkins Road, Andover.

Explore the Pond: Stearns Pond Edition: Wednesday, Sept. 9, 3 to 4:30 p.m. See what fantastic creatures are in the pond. Nets and buckets will be provided for this fun water-based adventure. Appropriate for all ages; best for children over 5. Meet at headquarters, 305 Middleton Road, North Andover.

Creature Feature: Fridays, Sept. 11 and 25, 4 to 4:30 p.m. Learn about the wildlife that lives in the woods. A different animal will be featured every week. Appropriate for all ages. Meet at the campground nature center, 133 Jenkins Road, Andover.

28th annual Fishing Festival: Saturday, Sept. 12, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Sudden Pond. A license is not required and all equipment and bait will be provided. Co-sponsored by DCR and Mass Wildlife Angler Education program. Instructors will be on-hand to assist. This event will take place rain or shine. For all ages. Signage will be provided from all park entrances.

Evening Stroll: Tuesdays, Sept. 15 and 29, 4 to 6 p.m. The relaxing hike through the park is a great way to wind down after a long day at school, work or activities. The easy hike will vary week to week. Appropriate for children over 5. Meet at headquarters, 305 Middleton Road, North Andover.

SPRING INTO ACTION WITH BOOMERVENTURE

BoomerVenture turns fall inside out

Connect the mind, body and spirit when the BoomerVenture campus convenes this fall. Feeling good, staying fit, both on the inside and out is what it's all about for the coming year. From aerobics, weight training and belly dancing to community drum circles and the spirituality of organizing, there's something to help everyone get more out of life and feel better doing it.

Most of the campus activities fall under either the mind, body, or spirit category. But some span two or even three. The Community Drum Circle with special guests Genki Spark on Saturday, Sept. 19 at The Townhouse, for example, engages them all. Listening to the big Japanese Taiko drums and playing a variety of percussion instruments is certainly physical and mental, but there is a spiritual element that gives the event an extraordinary dimensionality. Living Legacy, a journey to discover and create a personal living legacy, using a variety of media, is another program that engages and inspires on multiple levels. Both of these programs are supported in part by a grant from the Andover Cultural Council which is supported by the Mass. Cultural Council.

BoomerVenture has a variety of programs designed to meet the needs of the broadest possible range of Andover's 50-plus residents. Here are some of the fall offerings in store for the campus at The Center at Punchard, 30 Whittier Court, Andover:

Boomer Blow-out Bash: Thursday, Sept. 10, 5 p.m. Enjoy the sounds of the "Jazz Disciples" during the last grill night of the season; advance purchase required.

Community Drum Circle with special guests Genki Spark: Saturday, Sept. 19, 7 p.m. Experience the power of their big Japanese drums; some folks will even get a chance to play them; $15.

Medicare Count-down: Thursday, Sept. 17, 6:45 to 8:15 p.m. Learn when and how to enroll, even before 65.

The Spirituality of Organizing: Thursdays, Oct. 22 and 29, 6:45 to 8:15 p.m. Discover the internal benefits of de-cluttering; $20.

Living Legacy: How do you want to be remembered?: Thursdays, Oct. 1, 8 and 15, 6:30 to 8 p.m. Join Dr. Susan H. Smith on a journey to discover and create one's "living legacy" by using a variety of media; $20.

Everyday Mindfulness with Chip Carter: Thursdays, 6:30 p.m. Connect mindfulness with one's "everyday life" in a very real and practical way; "Mindfulness and Conversation" on Nov. 5; and "Mindfulness and Exercise" on Nov. 12; $5 each.

Our experience is behind your care

I was recently asked what makes Home Health VNA unique among home health care providers. My answer was actually quite simple – our experience. We have a rich history of commitment to the health care needs of our region that dates back to 1895. Although this alone sets us apart, we're also one of the most clinically advanced agencies. Using innovative technology and the latest medical treatments, we bring care home to patients in more than 110 cities and towns. Our nurses, therapists and other professionals are renowned for providing care that is personalized for exceptional healing and recovery. And, we're a trusted healthcare partner, working closely with hospitals, physicians and others to seamlessly coordinate care across different settings.

So when you need nursing or supportive services after an illness or injury, count on Home Health VNA to put their experience behind your care.

MISSION FULFILLED

AYS' ROAM concludes summer of discovery for local youths

SUBMITTED BY ANDOVER YOUTH SERVICES

"ROAM ... together" was the refrain that echoed through the tennis courts of Andover High School on Friday, Aug. 21, at the conclusion of Andover Youth Services' final summer experience of the summer.

This year marked the 22nd summer of youth development-based programs, which included more than 70 experiences throughout New England for sixth-through ninth-grade students and even a week-long excursion to Colorado for the high school crowd.

"ROAM" was the theme this summer, serving as a reminder for all participants to get outside, wander, search, question and find themselves. Andover Youth Services staff encouraged young people to roam by challenging them to step outside of their comfort zones, to try new things, live in the moment and make some new friends along the way.

Throughout the summer, those involved with AYS could be seen around town and greater New England sporting T-shirts with the head of a buffalo emblazoned on the front.

In describing the meaning behind the shirt, Tony Lombardi, program coordinator, said, "At AYS, we are like a herd of buffalo. ... We encourage the young people we work with to support each other, while at the same time be powerful and strong on their own. The buffalo is a good representation of that, and a fun way to help kids connect to the message we are trying to convey."

Andover Youth Services staff pride themselves on their commitment to the young people of Andover, and their belief that the youth are the foundation of what makes an amazing community. Andover Youth Services would not exist or work with such passion and purpose without the support of the community.

That support was felt this summer when a parent of a participant emailed Andover Youth Services and said, "For some kids, the programs may just be for fun and something to do, but for others, like my daughter, it is also a place where she always feels acceptance and equality and where I feel she is in good hands."

High school sophomore Payton Heidtke, added, "This summer I learned that each person has an opportunity to be themselves at AYS, but everyone can also work together for a single cause while still having a voice as an individual." These powerful words are what inspire Andover Youth Services to put the youth of Andover first and to always lead with love and kindness.

Youth Services is now preparing for the completion of the Cormier Youth Center this fall. AYS plans to bring the energy and enthusiasm from the "ROAM" summer into the autumn months and make the transition to the youth center a positive and productive one. The expectation is to reach even more young people than the thousands already reached by the group's summer programming.

Andover Youth Services offers a loaded calendar full of fall programs, including middle school sports programs such as golf, field hockey and cross country, and other exciting happenings such as all-girls groups, fun Friday outings, and some art courses, such as creative writing and photography. Check out www.andover-youthservices.com to register or for details about the upcoming fall programs.

All Those Years Ago

100 Years Ago Sept. 3, 1915

The "Beehive," a landmark in Frye Village, has been recently sold by Mrs. John Morgan to George Murray of West Parish. The store has been in existence for about 30 years, the last 20 of which it has been conducted by Mrs. Morgan. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan have purchased a small farm near Haggetts Pond in the Bailey District, and will make their home there in the future.

The Bay State Street Railway Company has petitioned the Board of Selectmen for the right to alter the location of its track on Elm Street and Main Street, as well as for the right to add such switches, curves and cross connections as may be necessary for the operation of its cars. A hearing on the petition will be held in the Town Hall on Saturday evening, Sept. 4, at 7:30 p.m.

75 Years Ago Aug. 29, 1940

A plan to build three apartment houses and a filling station on the Shaw estate at 85 Main St. will be the subject of a hearing next Thursday at 7 p.m. before the Board of Appeals in the Town House. The property, which the town was asked to buy a year ago as a site for a future town hall, has not yet been sold by the estate, but it is understood that if the Board of Appeals does not disapprove, the sale will go through and the development begin.

Last fall, when the American Red Cross first appealed for clothing for the Polish refugees, the Andover Chapter promptly went to work. The work has continued steadily through the winter and spring, and is still going on. The first shipment of finished articles was made last December, and others have followed almost monthly — three went in June. Up to the first of August, the women of Andover, knitting and sewing in what time they could spare from other duties, have made and contributed for the aid of the effort.

50 Years Ago Sept. 2, 1965

Gov. John A. Volpe is expected to head a group of commonwealth officials attending ceremonies here this morning to open the 6-mile section of Interstate Highway 495 between Interstate 93 Andover and Route 110 Methuen.

A photo shows Head Librarian Miriam Putnam, Town Manager Richard Bowen, architect James Clapp Jr., general contractor Donald Manzelli and Library Trustee Chairman Arthur W. Reynolds "heaving the first shovel of dirt" at the groundbreaking for the Memorial Hall Library addition. The work on the $340,000 expansion will be fully underway next week.

The legality of a planned Sept. 25 launching of a hydrogen-oxygen-powered rocket designed and built by eighth-graders Gary A. Townsend, Davis S. Potter and Peter S. Stott has been questioned. Fire Chief Henry Hilton says he will have to refuse the boys a permit if they apply. As he sees it, rockets are covered by the state's no-fireworks law.

Two Andover men will be among nine farmers honored at the Topsfield Fair next week for their long service to agriculture. One of the two, Krikor Loosigian, 249 Haggetts Pond Road, has been farming 50 years and the other, Harry Loosigian, 179 River Road, for 26 years.

25 Years Ago Sept. 6, 1990

After 45 years, Scanlon Hardware closed last Friday, Aug. 31, at 5 p.m. The hardware store located in the Barnard Building at 10 Main St. will re-open at a future date to sell off its remaining inventory before closing its doors for good. "To all our friends and customers," wrote owner William Scanlon in a letter to his customers, "Friday, Aug. 31, 1990 marked the end of the 45-year history of Scanlon Hardware in the Greater Lawrence area. It is with deep regret that I must stand aside at this time, and allow the business to discontinue operations. Due to a combination of problems in both the retail and real estate markets, the hardware business is no longer able to survive."

Five or six developers interested in the former post office building on Main Street have submitted bids to the U.S. Postal Service, according to Stephen Colyer, town planning director.

Andover's public schools open today and administrators are expecting about the same number of students as last year — 4712. But they expect a rise in the number of elementary-school students and a drop in the number of high-school students.

Annual Greek Festival Sept. 12-13 at Saints Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church

Staff report

For over 30 years in Andover, Saints Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Parish at 71 Chandler Road opens its doors wide to the entire community to enjoy its annual Greek Festival.

For two days visitors will enjoy continuous delicious Greek food, pastries and live Greek music under the big tent. There will also be cooking demonstrations, children's activities, Athenian Marketplace and live Greek dancing performances.

A new feature this year will be "The Taste of Greece," including Greek wine tasting from regions across Greece.

In addition to Greek culture, the Orthodox Faith will be on display with church tours of the sanctuary and the 23 new Byzantine icons recently installed.

The entire weekend is free admission, with parking on site and additional parking with a courtesy bus shuttle service from West Elementary School parking lot.

Chris Alexandrou takes cooked potatoes out of the oven as he helps make eggplant and potato moussaka for the Andover Greek Festival.

Katerina Alexandrou, 11, spreads the meat sauce over the noodles as she helps make thousands of servings of pastichio.

Jeanette Alexandrou adds some spice to the top of the pastichio she and volunteers were making for the Andover Greek Festival last weekend.
