RE-ESTABLISHING OF VALPEY PRIZE SPEAKING CONTEST

Matter May be Brought up at Meeting of School Board Tonight

The school committee meets in regular session this evening and it is likely that there will be a discussion relative to a revival of the Valpey prize speaking contest.

Since the contest was discontinued there have been several attempts to revive the practice, but all have come to naught, it being claimed by the High school authorities that under the old system of conducting the contest, there were numberless opportunities for cheating in the preparation of the themes, which it is said were taken advantage of frequently.

It is said that a number of seniors in the High school are urging the re-establishment of the contest and some of the school committee members have become interested.

Other important business will be transacted.

DEWHIRST RELEASED FROM JAIL

Back With Family After Serving Sentence—Health Fairly Good

George Dewhirst, former clerk of the Arlington Co-op association, was released from the county jail in this city at 8 o'clock this morning and was received by Mrs. Dewhirst with open arms.

An American representative called at the home of Mrs. Dewhirst, 124 East Haverhill street, where Mrs. Dewhirst has been living during the confinement of her husband and where Mr. Dewhirst went upon his dismissal, but was not allowed an interview with Mr. Dewhirst. However, he was courteously received by Mrs. Dewhirst. She stated that Mr. Dewhirst did not wish to be disturbed. He was very tired and not in the best of health, she said. However, with the better care which he is given him at his home, it is expected that he will soon be in the best of health.

It will be remembered that Mr. Dewhirst was indicted on a charge of receiving false statements of the accounts of the Arlington Co-op association, of which he was clerk, was sentenced to one year in the local jail. The full sentence would have expired on March 8, but owing to his good behavior while confined he was allowed 36 days which made him a free man this morning.

FIRE BRINGS CUT-DOWN

HOURS OF 2000 COCHeco OPERATIVES REDUCED—IN ADDITION 500 EMPLOYED IN RUINED MILL ARE IDLE.

DOVER, N. H., Jan. 31.—The working hours of 2000 employees of the Cocheco manufacturing company have been cut down as a result of the fire which destroyed the large No. 1 mill of the corporation last Saturday with a loss of five lives. In addition to these nearly 500 hands who worked in the ruined structure are out of work.

The cutting down of the hours of the other employees is due to the damage caused to the lighting plant by the fire in the No. 1 mill.

Manufacturers from other places, who are short-handed, have sent agents to this city to secure help, and already some of the operatives who are thrown out of employment temporarily have taken advantage of the offers.

281 COSTUMES

will be required to stage the "Mocking Bird," February 7th and 8th. T. Ware of Salem, Mass., has a large force of assistants at work preparing costumes and promises many surprises.

HOME GOSSIP

Charles A. Miles, national organizer of the United Textile Workers of America, attended the meeting of the executive council of the United Textile Workers at Fall River last week. General satisfaction was expressed at the work accomplished by Mr. Miles in organizing unions in Lawrence and he was instructed to spend two months here. He will devote his efforts almost exclusively to the textile industries, resuming operations at a meeting to be held next week.

A very pretty whist party and social was held by the Ward 5 Whist club in the rooms of Engine 8 on Ames street last evening. The club assembled early in the evening and the whist tables were at once laid out. The progressive game was indulged in and 30 members of the club sat down. The play continued from 7 o'clock until 9:30, after which a brief social was held and a collation served.

BROUGHT INTO COURT

Those Indicted in Poor Farm Case Did Not Plead, However

District Attorney Peters Failed to Appear—Colonelweeney and J. P. S. Mahoney Retained as Counsel for Defendants

James J. Stanley, superintendent of the local poor farm, and Cornelius L. Mahony, of the D. D. Mahony's Sons' Shoe company, were present at the opening of superior criminal court this morning, having been summoned on a writ by city Marshal John E. Sheehan to answer to charges of conspiracy to defraud the city of Lawrence.

District Attorney Peters was not in court after sending a reasonable time, Col. John P. Sweeney, counsel for Mr. Mahony, declined to wait longer and after a short consultation with Asst.-Dist.-Atty. Attwill, notified his client and his bondsman that they might go and appear tomorrow morning.

J. P. S. Mahoney, counsel for Superintendent Stanley, also notified his client that he would not have to plead today.

Superintendent Stanley was accompanied by his bondsman, Dr. John B. Bain, while Matthew Carney and Robert Smith accompanied Mr. Mahony. Marshal Sheehan was notified yesterday to have the defendants in court this morning.

NEW DYEING PLANT AT THE ARLINGTON

The Wool and Cotton Reporter says: The announcement of another $1,000,000 increase in the capital of the Arlington mills is not particularly surprising, as it was expected that the continual changing and additions going on would result in a call for a large sum of new money. The increase, voted this week, will be used for improvements, among which is believed to be a complete new dyeing plant. Shareholders have rights in the new issue, the plan adopted being a privilege for stockholders with five shares to subscribe for one new share at $100. This would give the value of "rights" about $3.50 at last quoted sales, but a decline in the stock is looked for, as "rights" are selling from $5.50 to $9 at this writing.

It is expected that the large stockholders will take up their part of the new stock, but some feeling by trustees is anticipated, as they can hardly consider Arlington shares a trust investment when the capitalization has been growing so rapidly of late.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT ADVENT CHURCH

The revival services at the Advent Christian church on Lowell street are progressing with increasing interest and are much enjoyed by those in attendance.

Mrs. R. F. Chalk addressed the meeting again Wednesday evening and Mr. Gibson of Haverhill rendered several impressive musical selections which added much to the interest of the meeting. Mr. Gibson will be present this evening and also tomorrow evening.

The speaker this evening will be Mrs. J. P. Longford, a former Salvation Army captain and slum worker of New York. This lady has much to say from personal experience among the lowly.

Rev. A. G. Lyon will speak tomorrow evening.

BUSINESS INCREASES

The first quarterly meeting of the New Arlington Co-operative Association was held in Pemberton hall last evening. The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by President Samuel J. Smith and about 15 stockholders were present.

The quarterly balance sheet of the association was read and accepted. The report showed an increase in business during the last month, and a dividend of six per cent was declared on trade. The dividend is payable on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the central store on Broadway.

A committee on nominations, consisting of Richard Barlow, William S. Ford, F. Haigh, George Smith, David Leslie, were elected to receive nominations for officers. All nominations must be made in writing and must be signed by the nominee. The committee will consider the nominations, and report at the annual meeting which will be held on the last Wednesday in April, at which meeting the officers will be elected.

Frank W. Frisbee of North Andover and William Latham of Methuen were elected to fill vacancies existing in the board of directors.

The meeting was very harmonious and the members were very enthusiastic over the showing under the new management.

SAID HOME CONDITIONS WERE NOT ELEVATING

Young Girl Tells Pitiful Story of Cause of Her Going Astray

Joseph Sevigny was in court on a charge of assault on his wife.

Mrs. Sevigny and her young daughter went home Tuesday night, after having been working all day in the mill and found there her husband, Joseph and a few other men, who were all under the influence of liquor.

Mrs. Sevigny claimed that her husband started in to assault the daughter and she interfered, as she saw no reason why the husband should assault the girl and she took a severe licking. It was also alleged that she was kicked by her husband. On the stand Mrs. Sevigny stated that she had been assaulted by her husband a number of times before when he was drunk.

Sevigny said his wife hit him on the head with a piece of cast iron which she removed from the stove. He said also that his wife, in the company of two other women, were drunk in the house and often when he went home late from his work, he had to get his own supper.

The court thought it advisable to let the matter adjust itself and have the couple go home and make up again, so put Sevigny on probation for two months. Sevigny was warned that if the case should ever come before the court again that he would be sent away.

Adam Venarsky, charged with assault on Rosanna Telich, was discharged.

The couple, who are employed at the Pemberton mills, got into trouble last Friday afternoon.

It seems that Rosanna Telich, who is a carrier, rolled a bobbin along the floor, as the noise in the mill was deafening and she wanted to attract the attention of the bobbin girl to move her can of yarn. Instead of hitting the bobbin girl the missile hit Venarsky on the heel and he in return threw it back at the Telich woman. The bobbin girl, a girl named Rosanna, was in the face, knocking out a tooth.

Emma Berwick, a girl of about 17 years, who saw the whole performance, told the court in a delightful manner that the couple were continually fooling and that it was nothing more than an accident.

Venarsky told the court that he didn't mean any malice but instead thought, as he put it, that the woman was playing a joke on him and he wanted to return the pleasant.

Harry R. Lawrence appeared for the commonwealth and Walter T. Rochfort for the defendant.

Edward Hurzinger was fined $1 for drunkenness.

William Moran, an old offender, was sentenced to Bridgewater for drunkenness.

Nettie M. Pearl, a girl of 16 years, was in court on a charge of stubbornness and disobedience.

Her mother, Mrs. Nelson, told the court that the girl left home last June and went to live with her grandparents in Concord, N. H. She went to the girl many times and tried to get her to return home, but Nettie refused. Mrs. Nelson said that she heard many bad reports of the conduct of the girl and also that she was to be married to a Chinaman. The mother didn't approve of this so tried every means possible to get her to come home and live with her and be a better girl. She also said that the girl, since coming back to Lawrence about three months ago, has been in very bad company and has often been driven out of different hotels and other houses.

The girl, in a straightforward manner, told the court that conditions at her home at the time of her going away were by no means elevating. It is alleged that she was compelled to keep company with men who came to the house to see her mother. On the other hand, Mrs. Nelson firmly denied that she knew anything that was all out of the way or detrimental to the girl.

The case was continued until Monday morning when the girl will probably be sent to the Lancaster school for girls.

"Come, come, sir," And now the our-laws time bore sharp command. He put his horse beside the coach and thrusting an arm through the window, brought the big pistol very close to the bishop's head.

"My lord, we are waiting time."

"Then he who dally kept noblemen in his anteroom begging for some slight and she told me," she said. "A ne-tenant of cavalry rode up after you had started for Sir Harvey's. He brought us the news that French

Percy had been shot by his men on outpost yesterday morn at daybreak and in proof showed a ring, the St.

Croix seal, taken from the clothes of the dead man. I recognized it as the one M. Dubarre had sometimes worn.

See, here it is!" She held the ring toward her father. "I had to keep the horrid big seal in my mouth all during the wedding to change my voice," she ended slyly.

"And you got away," questioned Sir

Henry, still angry, but not knowing what to do.

She went on with the utmost meekness: "I had your pet hunter at the lodge gate, sir; a long cloak on the saddle, pistols and a dagger in the holsters—probably believe you promised 'French Percy' those? Cousin

Jack Percy's grandson was waiting in our but for me. And, dad, dad!" she ended it with a tender rush—"we were so afraid we'd miss you and the bishop and after so much trouble I'd had spoliing your pistols too!"

"For the first time since the wedding

St. Croix spoke.

"And had we missed you, Sir Henry,

I should have been forced to go back of mine-own accord to your gallows, for I would not leave her in England except as my wife, and Mistress May would see me married and give consent."

Sir Henry whirled on him.

"And you call what I gave 'consent'?

you impudent scoundrel!"

"The bishop heard you say, 'I do, with all my heart,'" broke in St. Croix accompanying.

"A trick!" roared Sir Henry—"a trick that no one but!"

"Jack Percy's grandson could have executed," snarled May Percy for him.

"Jack Percy's grandson—Jack Per-cyc's grandson," he repeated musingly.

For the first time the phrase seemed to take hold of him.

"And your son now, dad," whispered

May Percy softly.

Her father glanced inquiringly toward the bishop.

"By the law of God and the church they are man and wife, Sir Henry."

With sudden impulsiveness May Latapie, countess St. Croix, threw herself into her father's arms.

"And, dad, you can't hang your own son," she cried. "And he is going to leave me with you until the war is over and he can't come for me again with honor!"

In the clear, revealing moonlight, over the bowed head of the girl in his arms, the chief of the Percys studied the new heir to the line.

"Jack Percy's grandson," he muttered at last in unwilling admiration. Then the two involuntarily looked at the one both loved. The struggling Percy pride died hard. At last Sir Henry opened his arms. "Take her, boy," he said briefly.

THE END.

What she said.

Bride—Oh, John, darling, I'm so glad you've come home! Cook is acting something awful—smashing dishes and tearing around like a lunatic! Do go and soothe her.

Groom—Why, sweetheart, what upset her?

Bride—Nothing at all—except that I told her you said she was a fierce cook.

—Judge.

HOUSE SUMMARY.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The House completed the agricultural appropriation bill after adopting sundry amendments. The feature was a speech made with a view to justifying the present meat inspection law by Representative Woodworth, of New York, who retires from congress with the close of the session. He took the President to task for the latter's letter of last summer in severe criticism of the bill.

The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill was sent to conference, the managers on the part of the House being Messrs. Cousins, of Iowa, C. B.
Lindis, of Indiana, and Howard of Georgia.

The river and harbor appropriation bill, carrying $34,000,000 in new appropriations, was taken up, no time being agreed upon for the close of general debate. At 5:15 p. m. the House adjourned.

BELLMAN DANCE TONIGHT.

The annual ball of the Bellmen will be held this evening in Sanders hall.
Elaborate preparations have been made. Let us have the affair a bigger success than ever.

Do the right thing if you have Nasal Catarrh. Get the Catarrh powder, and snuffs, for they contain cocaine, which inflame the nasal passages and the throat, whereas common "remedies" made with mercury merely drive them out and leave you no better than you were. In a word, Ely's Cream Balm is a real cure, not a delusion. All druggists, 25 cents, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

WILL OUST BRAYTON

legislature measure introduced today ordering George N. Kingsbury, Rhode Island commissioner to the Jamestown exposition, "avoid all further public association with so notorious a character as 'Boss Brayton'" has raised the question of the right of a citizen of the United States to visit the state house. The resolution, which was introduced by Representative Green, of this city, sets forth that "For the maintenance of the dignity and honor of the state in connection with its participation in the Jamestown exposition it is requested to cease the carrying of messengers from Mr. Brayton from members of the general assembly."

FILLED ICE HOUSES GO UP IN SMOKE

Four Buildings Owned by Toye Brothers Consumed By Flames—Spark Caused Fire

A fire, which started from a spark from the boiler falling into sawdust, destroyed four of the six ice houses on the south side of the Merrimac river, Wednesday afternoon and but for heroic work on the part of the fire department under adverse conditions, the other two houses would have been guttered. The ice houses were owned by Toye Brothers.

The fire was discovered burning briskly in the northwest corner of the structure nearest the river and but a short distance from the boiler. Employees at once ran to the corner of Beacon and Andover streets, where box 115 was rung in. By the time the apparatus from Engine 3's house arrived smoke was pouring from the ice house near the river and the flames were beginning to show along the roof.

It was necessary to lay hose for a distance of about 200 yards and by the time the firemen had four streams playing on the blaze the four houses were doomed and efforts were directed towards saving the two houses farthest from the river. In this the firemen were successful.

The houses were nearly filled with the new crop and the ice men had had a run of exceptionally good weather in harvesting recently. Wednesday over 2000 tons of ice were put into the houses. The loss will approximate several thousand dollars.

AWAKENED BY A CAT.

The pet cat of Mrs. Thomas Fox probably saved the lives of both she and her husband, and the family of Alfred Mullen from burning to death in a fire at the home, 146 Prospect street at an early hour this morning.

The property lost was $1500.
Mrs. Fox, who lives on the second floor was awakened by her cat who awoke the smell of smoke almost stifled her. She at once aroused her husband, and he ran down stairs and awakened the Mullen family.

The oldest son of Alfred Mullen dressed quickly and rang in the alarm from box 71. When the firemen arrived a brisk blaze was in progress.
Owing to frozen hydrants, the firemen had to lay over 400 feet of hose, and the fire had gained great headway before a stream was thrown on it.
The fire was caused from an overheated stove in the basement. The flames had slowly eaten their way up between the partitions before it was discovered and the firemen were up against a stubborn proposition throughout.

The interior of the ell was gutted.
The fire was the fiercest in this part of the house and the men had hard work in directing a stream upon the blaze. The smoke was so thick that many of the men who attempted to go inside were forced to go on the outside to the fresh air.

While the men were fighting the fire in the ell, it was slowly eating its way along the main roof between the rafters, and only the most diligent labor prevented further damage. As it was they did excellent work in keeping the fire confined as much as they did.

The men fought almost two hours before the last spark was extinguished.
The house and furniture were damaged to the extent of about $1500.

The occupants of the house were cared for by E. McCraw, at whose house they spent the night.

The chemical wagon from Engine 3's house had considerable difficulty in getting up the hill on Fulton street, and a swarm of men put their shoulders to the wheels before the difficulty was overcome. This slight delay greatly handicapped the men in their work.

An onlooker invoked the wrath of Chief Rutter by continually taunting the chief with remarks of the nature that he was "no good," "didn't know how to fight a fire," "that he was too slow," and "acted like an old woman." The chief and the bystander almost came to blows, but the intervention of the police prevented further trouble.

BURKE BRIBERY CASE

brother. I fully understood that Burke was to make a corrupt proposition.
Did not tell Burke that my brother was not the kind of a man to make such a suggestion, to which I told him that I didn't think it was of any use to try. Never said a word to my brother about Burke coming to see him. Never referred to the case since that time to this with my brother.
We both testified before the grand jury. I work for him every day, but have never mentioned this case to him.

"Don't remember reading newspaper articles hinting at bribery. Never talked of the case in any way. The first I knew of it coming before the grand jury was when I received a summons. Never spoke to my brother of it and he didn't speak to me. My brother and I went to the grand jury sitting together. Never spoke a word in regard to the case. Didn't know my brother was going before the grand jury. Am positive of this.

Alderman Frank B. Goodwin was called.

"An alderman of the city of Haverhill from ward 6. Last year was my first term. Was appointed member of special committee to procure plans for the new high school. Advised meets to plans were printed. A meeting was held soon after and we found that about six plans were submitted.
Among them were plans from C. Williams of Haverhill and John Ashton of Lawrence. Had previously had conversation with the defendant, Burke.

ROUTINE MATTERS DISPOSED OF IN SUPERIOR COURT TODAY.

A number of small cases were disposed of in superior criminal court this morning, previous to the Pat F. Burke bribery trial.

George Holden, of Marblehead, charged with vagrancy, was allowed to go, his case being placed on file.
Peter Walsh, an old offender from Salem, was sentenced to two months in the house of correction.
John Finn, of Salem, was sentenced to two months in the house of correction on a charge of larceny from a building at Salem.

Judge Bell allowed the prisoner to make his argument. Just Asst. Dist.
Att. W. J. decided that he would not close for the prosecution and Judge Bell made his charge to the jury. The panel returned at 12:35 o'clock with a verdict of guilty. Sentence was deferred until later in the day.

SION AT SUPERIOR COURT.

The afternoon session of superior criminal court Wednesday was brief, but two cases being heard before court broke down, nothing further being ready.

Robert D. Hunt and Alexander Kelley, of Lynn pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and entering and larceny in Lynn. Attorney Sisk of Lynn represented them and he questioned the Lynn marshal as to their record. Mr. Sisk sought to bring out that one of the young men really had a very short record and he said that the marshal if it was not a fact that aside from a truancy and a simple assault case, if the young man's record was not clean. After referring to his notes the city marshal smilingly read a charge of malicious mischief in damaging a building owned by Attorney Sisk. Even the charge of the expense of Mr. Sisk.
The case was not disposed of, Judge Bell taking the matter under consideration.

Patrick F. Clancy and Edward Murphy were charged with larceny from the person. They entered a plea of guilty but were not sentenced.

DRAMA WELL RENDERED.

A drama, entitled, "Up to Freddie," was given in the basement of the Theater Wednesday evening. To say that it was a success would be putting it very mildly, each member of the cast performing his and her part most credibly. The embryo actors were greatly applauded.

The program follows:

SLEIGH RIDE PARTY TO HOTEL

A party of popular young Lawrence people enjoyed a sleigh ride party to Hotel Rockingham Wednesday evening.

The party, numbering 25, met at the Public library building, at the corner of Haverhill and Hampshire streets at 7 o'clock and immediately proceeded to Salem where there was a dinner awaiting them in the spacious dining room. The party then returned to the reception room and enjoyed a fine musical program.

The dance hall was then made ready for dancing and the merry couples enjoyed this pastime until midnight, when they left for this city.

street is confined to her home by sickness.

Many Matters of Local Interest Dis- cussed in An Intelligent Manner Last Night

The Board of Trade held an interesting meeting last evening, at their rooms in the Bay State building, and many matters of great importance to this city were discussed.

Governor Proctor's letter was read.
The chief executive of the Pine Tree state said he wouldn't go back to annual elections. That the present system gave perfect satisfaction.

Dr. Sullivan proposed at this point that the discussion be deferred. Senator Donovan was in attendance by invitation of the board, and as there was two immediate matters of importance to Lawrence now pending in the legislature, and the senator's time was limited he thought they should invite him to speak right away.

The insurance and the corporate tax measures were alluded to by the president. He would like to hear from the senator as to whether the board could in any way promote the passage of those laws by any action properly within their province.

Senator Donovan said that he came to listen rather than to speak. He was more or less familiar with the bills mentioned, but he was very busy with the water supply, and three other bills of vital interest to Lawrence, which were to come up for a hearing this morning at the State House.

As to the corporate tax bill, he had talked with members of the committee that reported favorably upon it, and he had no doubt that it would become a law.

The proposed insurance law he was not so familiar with. But he would attend the hearing at the State House next Tuesday and he would vote and work for its passage.

He would suggest that a vote in favor of the passage of the bill, by the Board of Trade would have weight with the legislative committee.

Tuesday morning, there were to be hearings on two bills—that placing sanitors of schools under the supervision of school boards, and that providing that all city supplies should be bought by a purchasing agent.

He believed that any expression of the board, for or against these measures, would be carefully considered at the State House.

Dr. Sullivan said that the matter had already been voted upon several times.

"Take the Central bridge bill. Why not have a hearing on that?" asked Senator Donovan.

"We voted in favor of the Cox bill last year," answered Secretary Littlefield. "That practically covers the present measure."

Senator Donovan then spoke of the bill introduced by John P. S. Mahoney, providing for an $80,000 loan for the extension of a trunk sewer.

There isn't any bill before the legislature for furnishing the physicians of Lawrence with a medical library,

A SCHOOL TEACHER.
Taught a Good Food Lesson.

It is a strain on nerves and patience for a teacher, not only to curb the andacity of forty or fifty youngsters six to eight hours each day, but also to insert into their minds a mass of knowledge, including the three famous R's.

A teacher, living in Taunton, England, writes of the benefits she derived from Grape-Nuts food after the exhausting work in the schoolroom had almost ruined her health. She says:

"When I first began taking Grape-Nuts food, I was a teacher worn out in body and mind, and used to suffer very much from brain-fag.

"It was also a martyr to indigestion.
"It is now plain that I lacked the power to digest and get value from my food."

"My brain became clearer, and the powers of concentration much greater. I gained steadily in weight, my flesh becoming hard and firm. The sense of continual weariness vanished like magic, and I have not had a bad attack of indigestion since I first used Grape-Nuts.

"I have become so fond of the food that I look forward to my plate of Grape-Nuts with a little cream more than to the most costly dishes."

"There's a reason," as trial proves.

is there?" blandly inquired Dr. Sullivan.

At this point Senator Donovan was obliged to withdraw, and the matter of elections was taken up again.

Mr. Donigan said that he wasn't going to throw it all over again. But if 51 sovereign states had adopted the biennial plan, there must be some good in it. For Mr. Scanlon's benefit, he quoted the judge who refused to listen to a citation from Daniel Webster, even for the satisfaction of proving Webster an eternally lost soul.

L. E. Bennink said: "The closer you keep to your legislators, the safer you are. The genius of New England was fostered and developed by the old town meeting. There was no discussible reason of them. It might be true that annual elections cost more, but they were worth the money.

Biennial elections are best for the corporations, he concluded; the present plan is best for the people."

Mr. Donigan said he seemed to occupy the position of the stubborn jurymen. He had no desire to influence the action of the board against their convictions.

There was some further discussion in which Messrs. Scanlon and James took part, and then Mr. Donigan moved that consideration on the matter be postponed.

This was seconded and the board then voted in favor of annual elections, with only the voice of Mr. Don-igan in dissent.

The chair called for the report of Chairman Bennink of the insurance committee, and the latter advanced to the table with a portentous roll of documents.

He said he wasn't going to occupy much time, nor to read the letters he had with him.

Mr. Bennink then said: "At the trade meeting of the associate boards and councils of trade held at the American house, in Boston, last November, about 150 members were present from all over the state.

The Lawrence delegation had made themselves felt, and they were at vote to ask the legislature to investigate fire insurance matters, and report on the practicability of supervising and regulating rates.

State and municipal insurance had been considered and voted down. A committee of 25 were appointed which drafted the present bill and petitioned for its passage.

Mr. Bennink then sketched a few of the things uncovered in the course of his investigation, and pointed out the glaring discrepancy in rates.

Large corporations got a rate of 17c on mill property, while a small speaker paid $1.44. And they were paying 90c per cent.

"What we're after," he said, "is to make them disgorge. We don't want to drive them out of business; we are willing they should make a fair profit."

He then gave facts and figures touching a company that settled its losses on a 30c basis, giving stock for the residue after the San Francisco earthquake, and showed a profit of $200,000 a month for the first six months thereafter.

"The profits made are simply astounding," declared the speaker. "We give our money as premiums, and they gamble with it."

It was unfair that a man who took every precaution should be made to pay a rate based on the carelessness of his next-door neighbor.

He asked a committee be appointed to appear at the state house next Tuesday, when a hearing will be held on the Dalling bill.

A. B. Sutherland advised that the committee be made up of large and possible. The insurance companies and their lobby were busy, and it would be a very hard fight.

It was moved that the president and secretary appoint a committee to attend the hearing and this committee will be found below.

Secretary Littlefield announced the death of an old and valued member of the board, Samuel Smith, whose funeral is to be held on Friday.

Messrs. Sutherland, James and Don-igan, appointed by the chair-committee to draft resolutions and attend the obsequies.

Mr. Donigan thought Wednesday wasn't a good day for the meetings.
He believed a larger attendance would be had by changing to Tuesday, and on motion, the change was accordingly made.

Communications were received from the Foxboro and the Somerville boards of trade; the first asked help in getting a law through to saddle the cost of removing grade crossings upon the railroads. The kind of help it wanted was primary. Action deferred. Somerville was interested in the Luce law, but as the measure is similar to the Gilling act, the secretary was directed to acquaint the Somerville board with the fact and invite their co-operation in turn toward getting the latter through.

Mr. Bennink then got after the express companies, who recently raised their employees' salaries and as a member declared, got the outlay back thereof by putting a charge of five cents each on return of empty cases.
Referred to committee on transportation.

Two local newspapers were arranged next for advertising Fall River, in plate matter, on their inside pages. But as the board concluded they didn't influence anybody, there was no use in getting worked up over it.

Mr. Bennink thought all members of the board should advertise this city by printing its prospectus on the back of their envelopes. It was agreed to ask members to do this.

The sub-committee of the insurance committee, which will present the Dalling bill at the state house next Tuesday, is made up as follows:

L. E. Bennink, chairman; Dr. M. F.
Sullivan, secretary; A. B. Sutherland, all of Lawrence; Hugh McLean, Holyoke; Hon. Fred W. Dalling, Cambridge.

Following are the standing and special committees of the board:

PRIVATE DANIEL H. DUGAN OF MANILA SEEKS RELATIVES HERE.

Private Daniel H. Dugan, Troop L, 3rd Cavalry, formerly of this city, now stationed at Manila, P. I., writes to commander of Troop 29, G. A. B. A.
H. Gilman, requesting information as to the whereabouts of his father or other relatives.

Past Commander George W. Smith has taken up the matter in hand and will write the young man whatever information can be gleaned.

Mr. Smith has ascertained that Mr.
Dugan's father was a member of Post No. 3, G. A. B. A. He died several years ago and was buried in this city.
He was an upholsterer by trade and probably worked for Mr. Marland when the latter conducted business opposite the police station. The present site of the Bay State building.

Other relatives that Private Dugan seeks are two sisters, and a brother, Fred, one sister married Evan Snow, a young man of this city, who was any one having knowledge of Mr.
Dugan's relatives will confer a favor by notifying Mr. Smith or Mr. Gilman.

PLEASANT OUTING.

What was a very merry gathering occurred Wednesday evening when a party of about 40 well known people in this vicinity including representatives from the several Methodist churches boarded the 7.30 electric car bound for Salem, N. H.

The party was greeted upon its arrival in Salem by the Methodists of that town and escorted to the Town hall where a fair and turkey supper was in progress. Tables were reserved for the Lawrence party and by this time the appetites of the different members were well sharpened, the members doing full justice to one of those turkey suppers for the fame of which the good people of Salem are so well noted.

After making merry for about two hours the party, with many expressions of surprise that the time had gone so quickly, very unwillingly left on the 10.15 electric car for home, arriving in this city about 11.30.

Among the many that attended were Rev. William Warren of the Haverhill street M. E. church, Mr. and Mrs.
Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. James S.
Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiswall, Mr. and Mrs. Irish, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Vatter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Kelsey, Mr. and

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

AMUSEMENTS

NEXT WEEK—"QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER" WITH FIVE SOUVENIR MATINEES.

In presenting the beautiful New England play, "Quincy Adams Sawyer" at the Lawrence Opera House for a term of six nights and five matinees, commencing next Monday evening, February 11, the management of that playhouse feel sure they are offering their numerous patrons one of the finest productions and best acting companies ever seen in this city. The extended engagement permits the introduction of every little detail that marked the immense success of the play at the Boston theatre and also at the Academy of Music in New York. The play "Quincy Adams Sawyer" is a dramatization of the widely read story of the same name. It typifies incidents of plain New England life in a manner that pleases everyone. Its simple story is made up of little things that one might meet anywhere in New England, where there is a farm with bright, happy people and the pleasing scent of new mown hay. The big barn scene in the third act is a triumph for its producers. In this scene are introduced a flock of sheep, that have many times grazed right on the spot selected by the author for the location of his story. Horses, cows, chickens, farm implements are to be seen just as one would find them, were they really on an old fashioned country farm. At this point the singing of the village choir is introduced and adds greatly to the effectiveness of the scene. The attraction generally can be said to rank right at the top of the leading American productions and its week at the Lawrence Opera House will no doubt attract a series of crowded houses. The daily matinees which begin Tuesday at 2:15 have been arranged owing to the drawing power of the play among those who live in the outlying districts and who find it difficult to attend at night. These matinees are given at reduced prices, the best orchestra and balcony seats selling for 50 cents. The sale of seats for the entire engagement is now progressing. Mail orders accompanied by checks or money order will be received.

MR. NADEAU'S REGITAL

Large Number of Musical Critics at Lawrence Piano Store Enthusiastic Over Program

A large, enthusiastic and representative audience greeted the first annual bow of the Lawrence Piano Company, through Mr. Oscar Nadeau, pianist, formerly of New York City, and Miss Teresa Mahoney, the popular local soprano, at the former's warerooms, Bay State building, last evening.

Those who have heard Mr. Nadeau before, and who are fully competent to judge, stated that he was at his best throughout the performance of last evening, and everyone present, with one acclaim, agreed that they had never listened to finer technique, more sublime climaxes, nor more scholarly interpretation than he displayed last night.

Mr. Nadeau was splendidly augmented in range and volume by the use of a fine Everett concert grand piano and this instrument responded beautifully to every demand made by the artist. In Etude, Henselt, opus 2, Mr. Nadeau made what many considered his best effort of the evening, and the applause that he won at the closing of this number, was hearty and richly merited.

Miss Mahoney, as usual, was in fine voice, and each of her numbers were sung with a charm and interpretation that added scores of admirers to her already large list.

PASSENGERS LEFT TO SHIFT FOR THEMSELVES

Captain of Larchmont Left Sinking Vessel in First Boat

McVey Admits Truth of Story Told by Survivor—Now Known That 138 Lives Were Lost in Disaster

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 14.—An element of horror attending the loss of the steamboat Larchmont in Block Island sound, Monday night, through a collision with the coal-laden schooner Harry Knowlton, received new attention, when Capt. McVey of the steamboat, early today, admitted that his lifeboat was "one of the first, if not the first to leave the sinking ship."

This statement was made in reply to charges by Fred Hiersell, an 18-year-old lad of Brooklyn, one of the survivors, Hiersell alleged that the passengers were left to shift for themselves, that the ship's crew crowded the boats without attempting to provide for the passengers, and that Capt. McVey was the first to desert the ship.

The statement of young Hiersell created a sensation in view of the fact that 16 of the 19 survivors were employees of the ship, or in other words, that while approximately 20 per cent of the vessel's crew was saved, only 8 per cent of the passengers survived.

Capt. McVey explained that while his boat may have been the first in the water, it was because he had a good crew, and despite the fact that he was among the first off the deck, he remained by his ship until she went down. He said that he had made no move to get into his boat until he had given orders to his men to lower all boats and clear away the rafts. While his boat was in the water, it was fastened to the ship by a rope in the running gear that had become caught, and this was cut by Boat-swain Andrew Tobeson, who saw that, with this ship settling rapidly, the boat and its occupants would be caught in the whirlpool and sucked down beneath the surface. The captain's boat was on the windward side, and he said he called to the passengers to jump into his boat, which would hold about 22 people in all, but the electric lights had been extinguished in the collision, and in the darkness and confusion no one heeded his summons.

Everybody was on the leeward side of the ship and he ordered his men to row around there, he claims, but the gale balked his plan, and as the boat was driven away from the stricken steamboat his men had to strike up their task and crouch down in the bottom of the boat out of the way of the piercing wind. At 8 this morning the number of known lost in the frightful calamity stood at 138. At least 157 persons were known to be on the steamboat, and there is every indication that the number was nearer 200. Seventy-one bodies had been recovered up to 8 a. m. and 49 of these lie in the morgue in this city, awaiting identification.

DOG MUZZLING ORDER TOO DRASTIC

Members of Governor's Council Ask Dr. Peters of Cattle Bureau to Explain

Many local dog owners will view with favor the action of certain members of the Governor's council, headed by Lieut.-Gov. Draper in objection to the enforcement, or in many instances, lack of enforcement of the dog muzzling order. In the council session yesterday Lieut.-Gov. Draper asked that Dr. Peters, of the state bureau of cattle inspection, be sent for and asked to explain to the council just how the law is being enforced.

The matter came up through a reported statement attributed to Dr. Peters, that he had the right to kill at once any dog within the confines of the commonwealth, detected outside the confines of his home and without a muzzle. This license is supposed to exist during the period of six months, which had been stipulated as a period for all dogs to be muzzled throughout the state, in fear of an epidemic of rabies.

This means six months of perpetual vigilance on the part of an owner of a dog and the new council feels that the council of last year had no right to pass such a drastic measure without feeling its full import.

It was an innocent order that was passed by the council of 1905, just before the new council was sworn in, but a reading of the order would make it appear that the State has the right to kill any dog upon the instant that he is found without a leash or without a muzzle.

From the statement made yesterday in the meeting it would seem that complaints have been pouring in from all over the state at the manner in which the dog question is being handled.

According to reports, complaints that the law cannot be strictly lived up to are general, and it is also said that valuable dogs have been shot by state inspectors who claim that the law is being violated.

Authority was given to Dr. Peters to deal with the dog question when the alleged rabies scare was at its height. He claimed that cities and towns outside of Boston did not order their dogs

CONNECTION COMPLETED

North Andover Water Turned into Local Mains This Morning

The water from the North Andover system was started through the recently laid pipes into the Lawrence mains at 9 o'clock this morning. When the water started to pour through the pipes, there were present Supt. M. F. Collins, of the Lawrence Water Department; Peter J. H. of the North Andover Board of Selectmen; and Herbert W. Field, and Capt. Andrew Reeves, members of the board of water commissioners of the town.

The new supply comes just in time as this morning the water at the reservoir registered 4.57. This does not mean that this water could all be used, as the outlet pipe is two feet above the bottom of the reservoir and accordingly but 2.57 feet remained to be utilized for the consumption by the city.

The quantity of water taken from North Andover will be about the same as that contracted for with the town of Andover.

muzzled at the request of the cattle bureau, and asked the council to extend to the bureau all the law there was on the statute books.

At the time the order was issued he claimed that six months was not too long a period for such drastic enforcement as he proposed.

The order passed Jan. 3 was as follows:

"In any city or town within the limits of this commonwealth (except the city of Boston) where, in the opinion of the chief of the cattle bureau, there is danger of an outbreak of rabies, if the local authority, after being notified of such danger, and advised by the chief of the cattle bureau to order all dogs in said city or town properly and securely muzzled, or restrained from running at large, under the authority given in Section 153 of Chapter 102 of the Revised Laws, refuses or neglects to do so for seven days after such notice, all dogs in any such city or town shall be securely muzzled or restrained from running at large for a period of six months from the date of notice to the local authority.

"Dogs running at large, unmuzzled, contrary to the provisions of this order, shall be killed.

INSPECTION TO INCLUDE PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Hearing Tomorrow on Amendment to School Physician Act

(Special to The American.)

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—Representative Graham, of Lawrence, today introduced an amendment to Chapter 502, Acts of 1906, the so-called school physician statute inserting the words "and private" so that the section will provide for the inspection by school physicians of private as well as public schools.

A hearing will be held at 10.30 o'clock Friday morning in Room 41 at the state house before the committee on education. Such an amendment would make the inspection of parochial schools come under the duties of the school physician.

At the last meeting of the board of aldermen a request was received from Rev. James T. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Mary's and head of St. Mary's and St. Rita's parochial schools, to the effect that the school inspection be enlarged in scope to take in private schools as well as public.

On motion of Alderman Garvey the request was tabled as he claimed that an amendment, such as that just made by Representative Graham, was pending and upon his motion Mayor Kane and City Solicitor Murphy were instructed to appear in behalf of the bill when it came up in committee. Accordingly they will attend the hearing tomorrow.

FIRE NOT INCENDIARY

The fire which occurred in the plant of J. H. Horne & Sons Co., shortly after 12 o'clock Wednesday night was reported as having been caused by a spark ignited from the drying of the waste paper in the drying room. The report that the fire was of an incendiary nature has no foundation as a thorough examination of the premises revealed.

The fire department must be complimented on their quick and effective work which saved the house of Rev. E. A. Whittier which was directly in the path of the flames.

Had it not been for their quick action this house might have been completely destroyed.

SAID HE TRIED TO SUFFOCATE HER

Woman Told Court That She Was Afraid to Live With Her Husband

A small docket confronted Judge Mahoney at this morning's session of police court.

Roseco Brigham was in court on a charge of non-support, entered by his wife.

Mrs. Brigham told the court that her husband made no provision, whatever for his family. She also told the court that she wouldn't live with him any longer because she was afraid of him as he had on two occasions threatened to kill her, and once he tried to carry out the threat by suffocation.

Brigham said that he has been out of the hospital but three weeks and since then has tried every possible means to obtain work.

The court found Brigham guilty of the charge of non-support and imposed a fine of $20 to be given to aid his wife and family.

Brigham was also charged with drunkenness and was fined $3. Alfred Berg-ron pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny of $5.50 from the room of Piffamene Dayon on Broadway some time Wednesday.

The case was continued until next

Thursday morning and Bergeron was held in $50 bonds.

John Brennan, charged with statutory offence, Susan Foster being the complainant, was bound over to the superior court in the sum of $400. Eugene Sullivan, who was only let out Wednesday after serving a 30 days' sentence, was again in court for drunkenness and was given 30 days. Ellen Holmes and James White were each fined $1 for a like offense.

CIVIL SESSION.

Edward Parent vs. Emma Shaddin in an action of tort. Ad damnum $300. Matthew Cross appeared for the defendant and John Sanborn, Jr. for the complainant.

The complainant, who was a tenant at 401 Broadway, Parent claimed that he was financially embarrassed and had to go out of business. He then gave the key to Mrs. Shaddin, who, in return, it is alleged, sold the contents of the store to obtain money which was due her for rent from the plaintiff. Parent is now trying to recover the money obtained by the sale of the goods.

RACING COURSE TO BE LAID OUT

Preparations for Big Canoe Meet Up-river Next June Will be Started in Few Days

Within a few days officials of the Lawrence Canoe club will go up the Merrimack river on the ice and measure the course for the meet of the Eastern division of the American Canoe association, which will be held on the stream, June 17. Canoeists will gather from all over New England and as far west as Worcester and Springfield in this state and it is estimated that there will be at least 200 participants.

The course to be laid out is just above Pine Island and on the wooded shores the members of the many clubs will camp for two or three days previous to the great day of racing. To get the necessary straight-away mile course, it was necessary to go up to this comparatively straight stretch, but spectators may visit the scene of the races on that day and witness the races from the banks. The camp will be laid out on the south side of the river.

Arrangements for the coming meet will be made at a banquet, which will be held in the American house, Boston, Saturday evening, Feb. 23, and many canoeists from this city will attend. Capt. Fred Houston of the Lawrence Canoe club is arranging for the trip of the Lawrence boys.

OUR ANNIVERSARY SALE

FOR THE PAST THIRTY-TWO YEARS under different managements this store has catered progressively and successfully to the patronage of Lawrence and vicinity, and this date marks the second anniversary of the present management. Within this time remarkable has been the growth of our city; equally remarkable and noteworthy have been the progressiveness, growth and improvements in this popular shopping resort. For the past two years improvements looking to the convenience and comfort of visitors to our store have been continuous; and even to-day the ring of the carpenters' hammers and the buzz of saws resound in the reconstruction and improvements on our second and third floors.

We have moved our Rug Department to the third floor, thereby enlarging our former splendid departments of Women's and Misses' Outer Apparel, Muslin Wear, Corsets, Infants' wear and draperies, and it's the second anniversary of the present firm of REID & HUGHES and we propose to celebrate. The past two years have been busy years, a period of earnest striving and endeavor to make this good store always better and a greater center of shopping interests. We have prepared a festival to commemorate our Second Anniversary—a sale to make it memorable to which all departments will contribute. With thankful appreciation of the favors and the friendships and the patronage that have made possible the wonderful growth of this store we extend to all our greetings on this happy occasion and bid you welcome to our Anniversary Sale Offerings commencing tomorrow at 9 A. M.

ARLINGTON DISTRICT

VALENTINE SOCIAL.

A pleasant Valentine social was held at the parsonage of St. George's P. M. church on Centre street Wednesday evening. The event which was well attended, was held under the auspices of the Young People's society of the Christian Endeavor. The committee in charge of the affair had spared no efforts to make the event eclipse all previous affairs of this kind held by the society and that their untiring efforts had been amply rewarded goes without saying. The entire proceeds of the social will be donated to the mission work of the church.

ELECTED OFFICERS.

The Arlington Athletic association has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Michael Dwyer, president; Mark Gallagher, vice-president; John Kane, secretary; William Byrne, treasurer. The board of directors will be composed of Alfred Walker, Frederick Reardon, Alexander Del-rich, William Carroll, Alfred Beavers; auditing committee, Richard Nevins and Frank Lyons.

Plans are under way to conduct a smoke talk for the purpose of increasing the membership of the club.

WILL BE A CANDIDATE.

Thomas Hardy, the popular American newsdealer of Tenney street will be a candidate for selectman at the coming caucus in Methuen.

VALENTINE SOCIAL AT ST. PAUL'S.

A Valentine social held by the ladies of St. Paul's M. E. church, Wednesday evening, was well attended and a most pleasant time was spent. Supper was served from 4.30 to 6.30 o'clock. The affair was a decided success and the credit is due to the following committee: Mrs. Lyman, chairman; Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. McKay.

HELD MEETING.

The members of the Mendelssohn club held an enthusiastic meeting recently at the home of Miss Mamie Walsh, a member of the club.
After the regular routine of business, a pleasant social was held. Miss Walsh proved to be a most admirable entertainer and hostess. Many in-door games and other pleasing pastimes were included in the happy gathering. A dainty collation was served by Miss Walsh, assisted by the Misses Logan.
Many of the members rendered musical and vocal selections which were very well received.

The program consisted of the following numbers:

Song, ..... Eva Cookson Piano selections, ..... Dina Roy Duet, ..... Helen Lott Green Specialty, ..... Agnes Manderson Scottish dance, ..... Agnes Logan Song, ..... Margaret Pratt Whistling solo, ..... Miss Mamie Walsh Alman clock selection, ..... Lott Green Duet, ..... Miss Cora Crombie and Miss Margaret Pratt.

Among those present were: Misses Margaret Pratt, Fannie Logan, Helen Green, Lott Green, Catherine Crombie, Mamie Walsh, Cora Crombie, Agnes Manderson, Loretta Lawson, Margaret Lott, Eva Cookson, Rena Voyce, Clara Farren, Emma Blamire, Agnes Logan, Dina Roy.

To Extract Essence From Flowers.

Procure a quantity of the petals of any flowers that smell sweet and fragrant. Take thin pieces of muslin or fine linen and after having dipped them in good Lucca oil or Florence oil place them as layers between the petals.
Sprinkle a small quantity of fine salt on the flowers and put a layer of linen and a layer of flowers alternately until an earthen vessel or well mouthed glass bottle is full. Tie the top over with oil silk or parchment, then lay the vessel in a south aspect in the heat of the sun, and in fifteen days, when uncovered, a fragrant oil may be squeezed away from the whole mass.

Stage Dressmaking.

Our plays are for the most part overdressed, with extravagance, vulgarity and inappropriateness obtaining in place of artistic fitness. The new costumes have to some extent frequently undone the results of undress rehearsals, the actresses no longer representing the drama as they did before the dressmaker sent home their gowns, while the variety of their personifica-tions is swamped by the uniformity of their fashions.—A. W. Pinero in Costume.

Inconsistency.

"What is inconsistency?" asked the curious one.
"Well," responded the wise one, "it is that spirit which moves a woman whose sleeves stop at the elbow to accol her husband because he hasn't any cuffs on."—Chicago News.

Fortune gives many too much, but no one enough.—Labeirus.

William A. Bower of Methuen, for several years overseer in the twisting department of the Arlington mills, has resigned to accept a position as overseer in the Wood mill.

years held a responsible position in the cepted a position as overseer in the

"AUNT SALLY."

A Game For Boys With Plenty of Fun For the Players.

If you are a boy and have never met "Aunt Sally," you will be glad to be introduced to her now, as she allows you to have lots of fun at her expense.
"Aunt Sally" is a game that can be played by any number of persons. She herself is a block of wood made in the shape of an old colored woman's head and painted black. She is placed on the top of a pole set in the ground, and her head is decorated with a ruffled cap.
You can also dress her with a cape and a ruff, as the picture shows, and do not forget "Aunt Sally's" pipe. In fact, you may stick several pipes in her mouth and also in her ears, if you wish, for that is part of the game.

OLD "AUNT SALLY."

The players stand off about twenty feet and throw sticks from twenty inches to two feet in length, trying to break the pipes. Each player throws in turn, and each side pipe broken scores one point, each front pipe two points.

You can form two sides, making it a match game, determining beforehand how many points shall win. A referee may be appointed, who may be one of the players, and the score is easily kept by calling aloud, as when you play teams.

When you start to play this game you will be likely to have an attack of "Aunt Sally" fever, as it is such good pastime that you will not want to stop.
If breaking clay pipes is too expensive, you can substitute imitation pipes, which you can make of wood or cardboard.

INDIAN "WIRELESS."

The Smoke Signals and Fire Arrows of the Red Men.

Ages before Marconi invented wireless telegraphy the Indians of North America had a system of "wireless" communication of their own by means of smoke signals and fire arrows.

The settler's wife, looking out from her lonely cabin on the prairie at the band of roving Indians, learned to note and understand the Indian smoke signals puffing lightly into the clear blue of the prairie sky. These smoke signals were sent up in puffs or rings, so that there was no chance of mistaking them for a campfire. The puffs were made by covering a fire with a blanket for a minute. Then the blanket was lifted quickly, and the smoke ascended.
The blanketing process was repeated until a column of rings warned the Indians far and near to "look out" or "be on the watch." Two smoke-built close together meant "Camp here."

Signaling at night was carried on by means of fire arrows. Their meaning was like that of the smoke. The fiery trail left by the arrow in its flight through the darkness was the same signal as one smoke. The others followed, and a flight of several fiery arrows said, "The enemy is too strong for us."

How Plants Travel.

The dandelion, with its parachute, has gone with Peary within the arctic circle and has also made its appearance in the southern hemisphere. The rose of Jericho curls up in a ball, with the seed pod inside and the wind rolls it over the deserts of Syria and Egypt.
The seed pods of the furze and broom are like little guns. In August and September you may hear them crack, crack, as they burst, scattering the seeds like bullets.

The cranberry, or wild geranium, has its seeds arranged so that five arms are thrown out like a ship, throwing the seeds with considerable force. The margrove grows in salt water swamps and shallow sea water. The plants require to be rooted in the mud.

The Parrot Tongue.

A little girl had been in the habit for a long time of saying a prayer every morning in which were the two lines:
"All through the day, I humbly pray, Be thou my guard and guide."

One day when she had finished she electrified her aunt by saying:
"Aunt Emma, that is the most foolish prayer I ever heard. What do I want with a garden guide?"

Estelle's Astronomy.

Our little Estelle Was perplexed when she found That this wonderful world That we live on is round.

How 'tis held in its place,
In its orbit so true,
Was a puzzle to her,
With no answer in view.

"It must be," said Estelle,
"Like a ball in the air That is hung by a string, But the string isn't there!"

Steamship Berlin Wrecked Off the Hook of Holland

Driven on Sand Bar by Terrific Gale and Pounded to Pieces by Seas—140 Went Down With Wreck—Vessel Split in Two

LONDON, Feb. 21.—The Rotterdam alarm was first sounded promptly at 11 o'clock, when the steamship Berlin, from Harwich, Eng., with 141 persons on board, was wrecked off the Hook of Holland at the entrance of the river Maas, leading to Rotterdam, shortly before 6 this morning, and with the exception of one person all on board perished.

A terrific southwest gale was blowing right in shore, and drove the steamship on a sand bank close to the northern jetty, as she was trying to enter the new waterway. Heavy seas quickly pounded the vessel to pieces. She broke in two, her fore part sinking immediately while the downed passengers and crew could be seen for a brief space clustered on the after part.

Then the latter slipped off the bank and disappeared in the mounting waves. Tugs and lifeboats, when this

Sewer Appropriation Measure Given Leave to Withdraw—Legislative Committee Considers Important Matters of Local Interest

(Special to The American.) BOSTON, Feb. 21.—The committee on cities held an executive session this morning at room 444, state house, and took up several important matters pertaining to Lawrence, Lowell and Haverhill. In the matter of Lawrence placing the school janitors under the jurisdiction of the school committee, the committee reported in favor of the bill, and this practically means that the matter will pass both branches and become law. The school board, consequently, will have charge of all school janitors. In the matter of a purchasing agent for Lawrence, the bill was acted favorably upon, and a sub-committee, consisting of Representative Graham and House Chairman Brigham, was appointed by the chair to bring in some necessary amendments to the bill. In reference to the bill of J. F. S. Mahoney and others asking permission for Lawrence to negotiate a loan of $80,000 beyond the debt limit for the construction of a sewer in ward one, the committee voted "leave to withdraw." In the matter of a change in the board of police commissioners of Lowell, the committee voted on this petition "leave to withdraw." On the petition to abolish the board of license commissioners in Haverhill, and elect the members by popular vote, the committee voted "leave to withdraw."

PROSPECT HILL IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.

The weekly meeting of the Prospect Hill Improvement society was held Wednesday evening with Pres. George Mowatt in the chair. There was a discussion on the condition the park has been kept in this winter, many of the members admitting that possibly it was not altogether the fault of the park commissioners, the appropriation being too small for the needs of the park. A committee was appointed to wait on the city government in regard to the matter.

A MYSTERIOUS ISLAND

San Nicolas Was Once Peopled by a Race of Indians.

AN ENIGMA OF THE PACIFIC.

On This Barren, Wave Swept Sand Dune Are Mounds of Shells and Bones and Stone Implements, Monuments of a Lost Race of Ancient People.

About eighty miles due northwest of San Pedro, in California, lies a desert island that has all the combined romance of the ages in its history. It is rarely visited and has but a single inhabitant, yet it has a peculiar fascination for many people. The very elements seem to conspire to make the place forbidden, as it almost invariably blows a gale of wind in the vicinity, and when one reaches the inhospitable island there is no bay or harbor for a craft much larger than a rowboat.

The island is about seven miles long by two or three in width and rises to a height of 800 to 1,000 feet in the center. Wind swept, forbidding, haunted by the spirits of storms, it does not invite inspection and appears to have been cursed by the elements, yet despite this the island was at one time the home of a numerous people, a race that has been lost sight of. The writer made several attempts to reach the island in a sixty ton yacht and was literally blown off, finally making it one day about noon, coming to anchor near a long, spear-like tongue of land that extends out into the ocean, where the tide ran like a mill race and a heavy ground swell swept around the point from the windward side. The island of San Nicolas appears like a sand dune. The landing was a wave swept beach that received a high swell from three points, and it was evident that skill in landing alone would make it possible.

The boat lay off, waiting for a low sea, and finally went sailing in upon one of less size, and the crew jumped overboard and held on to the boat that the undertow and back rush attempted to claim. In this manner the entire party landed, and an investigation of the island was begun. The one inhabitant, a Basque, came down to the beach. He had not heard the news of the world for a year and did not display any disposition to learn it, but he was not happy too many dead people, too many bones that make wind spirits blow, he said, and when he heard that the party was after the remains of these dead people he showed his inclination to leave. In all probability there is not in any land a more remarkable mound to be seen. About five feet in height and nearly a mile in length, it was at this time a veritable Golgotha, a collection of bones and implements of the lost people, ever changing, ever shifting, today exposing numbers of skeletons, tomorrow covering them up in sheets of sand.

The mound was a town site upon which hundreds of people had lived for untold ages. They had brought in their shells and fish bones, piling them up at the doors of their huts, slowly building themselves up higher and higher, until in time they came to live on the top of a vast shell mound. Here they buried their dead, concealed their household goods, and when a man or woman died his or her possessions were buried with them, and so the big mounds were made up of shells, stone implements, fish and human bones—a monument of this lost race.

Where the original islanders came from, who they were or why they lived on such a waste, nearly waterless island is one of the mysteries, but it is known that the mission fathers visited San Nicolas years ago and took off the few survivors found there and divided them up among the various mainland tribes. When this human lot was being carried into execution, a storm came up, and in the hurry of departure it was found that a woman had left her baby on the beach.

It was impossible to land, so the captain sailed away, but not with the mother. She had plunged into the waves and swum a long distance to the shore and with her child was deserted, the captain intending to return later for her. San Nicolas, however, was not visited for many years. The vessel was wrecked, but the legend lived, and many years after a priest decided to visit the island and learn if the woman had survived. An expedition was got up in 1850, the party making a safe landing. They formed a line across the island in order not to miss any signs of human habitation and began a slow search from the south point north. They soon found evidence of ancient occupation and in a deep canyon discovered a hut and a woman, the mother who had been deserted years before. She was living in the hut, which was made of whale ribs and sea lion hair, her sole companions being several wild dogs that savagely charged the strangers.

The woman could not make herself understood, and singularly enough, no one in all the Indian tribes in southern California could be found who understood her. She told her discoverers by signs that the wild dogs had killed her child long ago and that she killed sea lions and sea birds with stones and lived on them.

At first she appeared to be afraid of the men, but finding that they treated her kindly, she consented to go with them. She took all the rude articles she had used during the years of her solitude, her skin dresses, made mostly from the skins of sea lions, and so interesting were the costumes that they were sent to Rome to the pope by the priest who instigated the rescue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Keavony of Avon street and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sands of Oak street, attended the performance of "Glorious Boston" at the Tremont theatre, Boston, Monday evening.

The woman was taken to Santa Barbara and named Maris, after the little vessel which accomplished her rescue. She was placed in care of a family, who did everything possible for her. She was bright and vivacious in disposition, learned some Spanish, danced and sang for her friends and was visited by Indians from various parts of California in an effort to find some one who could understand her. But civilization proved too much for her, and she died in three months, one of the most remarkable cruises known, as her story is based on actual facts and in its details is much stronger than fiction.

The interesting mound which the writer examined on San Nicolas was formed during past centuries by the ancestors of this woman and possesses an intense interest on this account. The island near the landing was twenty or thirty feet higher than the shore and reached through singular wind worn passes, wind being the sculptor here. Once on the heights a broad mesa was seen, as level as a floor and marked with lines which resembled ancient plowing or something of the kind. The mesa was covered with fine flinty stones about the size of peas, which the herder says were picked up by the wind and blown through the air at times. They were arranged like chaff on a beach. The writer followed this mesa for several miles, and that the island had had a large and vigorous population at some distant time was evident. Every short distance some object was found, now a pipe made from the vertebrae of a fish, a needle of fish bone or a dish made from a shell, the holes plugged with asphaltum. Here would be a stone club or mortar of steatite, a spearhead or a sinker and shell hooks that some fisherman centuries ago perhaps had dropped and forgot.

Everywhere piles of big pebbly shells of a size unknown here were found, telling of the lives and work of these people. One mound was found covered by the ribs of whales and beneath them a flat rock bearing marks of various kinds, and then the owner, a skeleton in perfect preservation, and all about it in the sand vessels of stone, flutes of bird bones and the various objects which went to make up the home of this unknown. In one spot six layers of skeletons were found, the lowest apparently very old. The question of age is always very interesting, but no one in contemplating these great shell deposits can form an adequate idea of their age.

The island evidently has been inhabited since the earliest times. But the elements have conspired against it, and it is doomed to be swept and covered with sand. The island is now frequented by the professional collectors, who go over from the mainland and live here for weeks and months, camping out on the sand dunes, weighting their tents down with rocks to prevent being blown into the sea. Every morning they go out, with their hooks and poles, hunting for the spoils which have been uncovered by the wind in the night. In this way tons of material have been collected here and sent all over the world.—Chicago Chronicle.

"Toffee" as Made in England. It may be possible that there are some persons who grow old so thoroughly that they actually forget that they ever were children, says a writer in the Bohemian, but I can't help wondering if any man or woman ever lived to such an age as to become immune to the delights of "toffee," or buttered, that has made Don Quixote a household word to every civilized nation under the sun. Of course you have eaten it—to the joy of your soul and to the detriment of your teeth—and if you will promise not to repeat it, I will give you the secret recipe for this candy, for it is made nowhere as in England. Take three pounds of "coffe" or "C" sugar, butter to the amount of a pound and a quarter, with half a teaspoonful of cream of tartar. First dissolve the sugar in just as much cold water as may be required for that purpose, then mix all the ingredients together and boil them, without stirring the mixture, until it will snap when dropped into cold water. At this moment remove it from the fire, add eight or ten drops of lemon extract, according to its strength, and pour the mixture into well greased pans, to be cut into squares as it cools.

Patti's Burning Admirer. Once in Italy a card was brought to Mme. Patti from a man whose name she did not know, but who was so very anxious to see her that she allowed him to be shown into her room. When the unknown came in he proved to be a little old man who was quite red and speechless with nervousness. Suddenly Patti noticed smoke coming out of his coat, so without saying a word she seized a glass of water and threw it over him. It turned out that the old man had put his lighted cigar into his pocket when he entered the room and so had set fire to his coat. "Sir," said Mme. Patti, "I have had many admirers who professed themselves burning with admiration for me, but I have never before met one who went so far as to set himself on fire to prove it."

The First State. A colored man entered an office in Washington and asked for a job. "Where do you come from?" the man was asked. "I'm from the first state in the Union, boss; dat's where I'm from," the negro said haughtily. "Oh, you're from New York, are you?" "No, sah, I'm not; I'm from Alabama, sah."

"But Alabama is not the first state in the Union." "Alphabetically speaking, it is, boss; alphabetically speaking, it is."—Kansas City Star.

A VALENTINE PARTY.
The home of the Misses Blanche and Edith Cross, 43 Elm street, was the scene of a very pleasant Valentine party on Tuesday evening.

The rooms were prettily decorated with streamers of crepe paper and paper and hued balloons. Games were played and a musical program rendered after which refreshments were served.

The party broke up at a seasonable hour and all voted it the event of the season.

Among those present were: Misses Lida Hill, Esther Kimball, Grace Burke, Katie Barrett, Florence Burke, Margaret Sullivan, May Flanagan, Sarah Wrigley, Blanche Cross, Edith Cross, Messrs. William Anderson, Newton Halnaworth, James Ireland, Bert Wiswall, Cutler Foster, Edward Riggemann, Thomas Chadwick and Harold Buckley.

Mr. Nowell had loaded his pung and was driving across the South, when a New Hampshire truck, when a Centre street the pung directly in the way of the truck, could not be avoided. Mr. Nowell jumped a few seconds before the car struck. Luckily neither the horse nor driver was injured, the only damage being the loss of the pung which was demolished.

CHARMING WEDDING.
A charming pre-Lenten wedding occurred in St. Michael's church, Tuesday afternoon.

The contracting parties were two well known young people—Miss Maud Josephine Murphy, a most estimable lady, daughter of Michael P. Murphy, a brave naval veteran of the civil war, and Mrs. Murphy, and William Louis Smith, the popular baritone soloist, son of Mrs. Ann M. Smith.

Rev. Fr. John M. Gallagher, pastor of the church, officiated at 4 o'clock, a large number of relatives and friends witnessing the impressive ceremony.

The strains of Lohengrin's bridal march, played by J. Henry Lynch, organist, announced the arrival of the bride party.

As they proceeded to leave the edifice, Mendelssohn's wedding march was rendered.

Both selections were given in a finished style.

The bride was handsomely veiled in a white silk creation, carrying a bouquet of white roses.

Her sister, Miss Annie J. Murphy, the bridesmaid, appeared in a very attractive gown of steel colored handkerchief, having white valchiciana trimmings. She carried pink roses and similar blossoms were entwined in her hair.

Thomas A. Morrissey was best man, and Joseph Lawler, a former member of the church, was the officiating minister.

Following the rites a particularly merry reception took place at the home of the bride, 216 Stevens street.

The guests, relatives of the immediate families, were from Boston, Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Andover, North Andover and other places.

The reception hours were delightful, fully devoted to the entertainment of numbers and social converse.

B. H. Humphrey, violin, and Miss Julia A. McDonald, piano, rendered a number of selections for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were heartily congratulated by the company, and wished many, many years of bliss and prosperity.

A first class wedding breakfast was served by Caterer F. E. Rhodes of Andover.

A large array of valuable and elegant presents, tokens of esteem, were bestowed, reminders of the high regard entertained for the happy couple by relatives and a host of friends.

When Mr. and Mrs. Smith departed from the house to entrain for a wedding trip they were showered with confetti and rice.

The bride wore a dark garnet broadcloth for a going-away suit, with a hat to match.

After a honeymoon trip the newly wedded couple are to reside at 104 Main street, in a nicely furnished home.

They will be at home after March 1.

FIGHTS ANY CHANGE IN MILK STANDARD.
The committee on agriculture, which has devoted five days to the consideration of the petition for a reduction in the winter standard of milk so that it shall be the same the year around, has given another hearing on the subject.

Those heard were opposed to the proposed change.

Ex-Representative Frank B. Nett, Jr., of Saugus said there was no reason for making a lower standard in the summer except to allow the dealers to sell the cream to the summer hotels and set away with a poorer quality of milk.

Others who opposed the proposed change included ex-Alderman Whipple of Malden, Dr. Hutchins of Concord, Robert M. Burnett and ex-Senator Chandler of Somerville.

MEETING OF THE REGISTRARS OF VOTERS.
The second public meeting this year of the board of registrars of voters took place, Wednesday evening, at the City hall.

Lincoln's Love Affairs

By Ward Hill Lamon, Lincoln's Friend and Biographer

And His Early Experiences as

On the 26th of February, 1846, the Journal contained General Hardin's card declining to be "longer considered a candidate," and in its editorial comments occurred the following: "We have had and now have no doubt that he (Hardin) has been and now is a great favorite with the Whigs of the district. He states in substance that there was never any understanding on his part that his name was not to be presented in the canvasses of 1844 and 1846. This, we believe, is strictly true. Still, the doing of the Pekin convention did seem to point that way, and the general's voluntary declaration as to the canvass of 1844 was by many construed into an acquiescence on his part. These things had led many of his most devoted friends to not expect him to be a candidate at this time. Add to this the relation that Mr. Lincoln bears and has borne to the party, and it is not strange that many of those who are as strongly devoted to General Hardin as they are to Mr. Lincoln should prefer the latter at this time. We do not entertain a doubt that if we could reverse the positions of the two men a very large portion of those who now have supported Mr. Lincoln most warmly would have supported General Hardin quite as warmly." This article was admirably calculated to soothe General Hardin and to win over his friends. It was wise and timely. The editor was Mr. Lincoln's intimate friend. It is marked by Mr. Lincoln's style and has at least one expression which was peculiar to him. In its issue of May 7 the Journal announced the nomination as having been made at Petersburg on the Friday previous and said further: "This nomination was, of course, anticipated, there being no other candidate in the field. Mr. Lincoln, we all know, is a good Whig, a good man, an able speaker, and richly deserves, as he enjoys, the confidence of the Whigs of this district and of the State."

Peter Cartwright, the celebrated pioneer Methodist preacher, noted for his piety and combastiveness, was Mr. Lincoln's competitor before the people. We know already the nature of the principal charges against Mr. Lincoln's personal character, and these, with the usual criticism upon Whig policy, formed the staple topics of the campaign on the Democratic side. But Peter himself did not escape with that impunity which might have been expected in the case of a minister of the gospel. Rough tongues circulated exaggerated stories of his wicked pugacity and his worldly-mindedness while the pretended servant of the Prince of Peace. Many Democrats looked with intense disgust upon his present candidacy and believed that by mingling in politics he was degrading his office and polluting the church. One of these Democrats told Mr. Lincoln what he thought and said that, although it was a hard thing to vote against his party, he would do it if it should be necessary to defeat Cartwright. Mr. Lincoln told him that on the day of the election he would give him a candid opinion as to whether the vote was needed or not. Accordingly on that day he called upon the gentleman and said, "I have got the preacher . . . and don't want your vote."

Clay's majority in this district in 1844 had been but 914, whereas it now gave Mr. Lincoln a majority of 1,511 in a year which had no presidential excitement to bring out electors. In 1848 General Taylor's majority was smaller by ten, and the same year the Whig candidate for congress was defeated by 106.

In the following letter to Mr. Speed he intimates that the first sensations of pleasure attending his new distinction were not of long duration; at least that there were moments in which, if he did not forget his greatness, it afforded him little joy:

Dear Speed—You no doubt assign the suspension of our correspondence to the true philosophic cause, though it must be confessed by both of us that this is rather a cold reason for allowing a friendship such as ours to die out by degrees. I propose now that upon receipt of this you shall be considered in my debt and under obligations to pay soon, and that neither shall remain long in arrears hereafter. Are you agreed?

Being elected to congress though I am very grateful to my friends for having done it, has not pleased me as much as I expected.

order. "Ab" is "short and low" and expects always will be. He talks very plainly, almost as plain as an angel. He is quite smart enough. I sometimes fear he is one of the little rare ripe sort that are smarter at about five than ever after. He has a great deal of that sort of mischief that is the offspring of much animal spirits. Since I began this letter a messenger came to tell me Bob was lost, but by the time I reached the house his mother had found him and had him whipped, and by now very likely he is run away again. Mary has read your letter and wishes to be remembered to Mrs. S. and you, in which I most sincerely join her. As ever yours, A. LINCOLN.

At the meeting of the Thirtieth congress Mr. Lincoln took his seat and went about the business of his office with a strong determination to do something memorable.

Lincoln the Farmer.
Matters soon reached a crisis which drove the junior partner out into the fields again, where he undertook all sorts of rough farm labor, from splitting rails to plowing. As a man of all work, however, Lincoln did not prove altogether satisfactory to his employers. He was too fond of mounting stumps in the field and "practicing polemics" on the other farm hands, and there was something uncomfortable about a plowman who read as he followed the team, no matter how straight his furrows ran. Such practices were irritating, if not presumptuous, and there is a well known story about a farmer who found "the hired man" lying in a field beside the road, dressed in his not too immaculate farm clothes, with a book instead of a pitchfork in his hand.

"What are you reading?" inquired the old gentleman.
"I'm not reading; I'm studying," answered Lincoln, his wonderful eyes still on the pages of his book.
"Studying what?"
"Law, sir."

The old man stared at the speaker for a moment in utter amazement.
"Great—God—Almighty!" he muttered as he passed on, shaking his head.
From Frederick Trevor Hill's "Lincoln the Lawyer," in Century Magazine.

Where Lincoln Put It.
A soldier at whose house when a boy Lincoln paused in his tramps in Illinois and who loaned him a whetstone to sharpen his jackknife met him during the war in Washington. Lincoln remembered the incident and spoke of the use of the whetstone.

"Ya-a-s," drawled out the old soldier.
"Whatever did you do with the whetstone? I never could find it. We 'lowed mebbe you took it along with you."

"No, no. I put it on top of the gate-post—that high one."

"Mebbe you did; nobody else could have reached it, and none of us ever thought to look there for it."

There it was found where it had been placed fifteen years before.—The soldier reported the fact to the president.—Boston Post.

DANO KEEPS ON TAKING PRIZES
Dano, the pointer dog owned by James D. Berry of this city, was awarded second prize in the open class at the Boston show which is being held this week. Dano was beaten by Thebridge Boy, owned by B. E. Lewis of Londondown, Pa.

The contest between the two dogs for first money was the hardest that has been seen for some time by the fanciers of the pointer class, and it took the Judge Mr. Taylor, considerable time to decide between the pair. It looked for a time as if Thebridge Boy, the best lightweight dog in the country, would be defeated by Dano.

Mr. Berry had several good offers for Dano, but refused to accept, and will no doubt again enter Dano feeling confident that he will defeat Thebridge Boy for the title of the best lightweight dog in the country. Dano had a host of admirers.

Dano has been on the bench about a year, competing against all comers, and has won 30 firsts, seconds and specials. He has already scored seven points towards a championship, and needs only three more to be rated in the championship class.

Mr. Berry expects to show Dano in Havrehill next month and he is confident that Dano will be awarded the three points necessary to make him a champion. If he does succeed he will be the first champion pointer dog ever owned in this city.

MRS. FAY AMAZED DEPT. STORE GIRLS

Delegation of 400 of "The Sweetest" Visit Opera House

"THE COMING MAN" IS "COMING" SOON

Most Astounding Exhibit of Esoteric Thaumaturgy Last Night

"Will you please tell me the meaning of those mysterious cards I see about the city?" I mean those "Ark The 243's cards." Thus asked a visitor of a merchant on Essex street yesterday, who looked more than ordinarily intelligent. "Those cards," replied the merchant, stroking his chin reflectively, refer to a couple of mystics who are playing an engagement in the Opera House for the week.—The Esoteric Fays they are styled—and the title is worthily worn. The significance of the card question, "ask the Fays," refers to the fact that, on attending their performance you may ask them any subject under the sun, moon and stars—and they will give you an answer.

"And will the answer prove correct?" asked the visitor.
"In 85 times out of a hundred it will," so says Mr. Fay; and I believe him. Mrs. Fay is the oracle who lends the magic of her impressions to the unravelling of knotty points and the solving of a gifted woman, if there ever was one since the prophetic of Salarad.

And this was but one of the many queries made by thousands of interested residents who have seen and wondered over the cards. Apropos: The marvelous Fays are now in the first half week of their engagement here, and their efforts thus far have met with enthusiastic admiration and warmest applause. Last night the big amphitheatre, the Opera house—which has aptly been styled "the theatre of magnificent distances"—was filled to overflowing. Two-thirds of the audience was composed of women, dowagers and builds, not to mention bachelor girls and those sporting spinsterhood, but won't confess it—did they, no?

It was amusing for the indifferent, "blame man, who was so fortunate as to be present, to watch the various expressions on the pretty faces of the anxious females, as they wrote questions of a peculiar nature and awaited breathlessly the answer from the oracle, Mrs. Fay.

The latter lady, besides being a mystic and prophetess, possesses a rarest talent among women, a lively sense of humor. In query cases where the occasion permits for Mrs. Fay is nothing if not tactful and kind—she will flash a witticism at the audience.

At this last triumphant visit of the marvelous Fays to this city, a decided and distinct improvement in their work is very noticeable. Mrs. Fay now does her act without the aid of a card, which formerly detracted from the pleasure on experiences in seeing as well as hearing the beautiful scenes, and which it might have added to the enjoyment.

With experience of thirty weeks on Broadway, N. Y., played last spring and summer, seems to have strengthened the occasion, and she seems to have skill. There is now a celerity, deftness and grace about their work that which will convince them with the heartiest and healthiest kind of laughter, and—better—death—good like a medicine, you know.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20.—The postoffice appropriation bill has passed the House and all the salaries of the postal employees that were ruled out at points of order yesterday have been restored by the committee on rules and the House has adopted the same.

Arthur Favoreau of this city was taken to the superior court at Salem Tuesday by Inspector J. J. Keigher, and Judge Bell sentenced Favoreau to the Concord reformatory. He was one of the youths that broke out of the state house in Concord, N. H., and was placed on probation in this city by Judge Bell last month on condition that he would leave the state. He was arrested in Lowell Monday and he was immediately turned over to the superior court officials.

The public property employees are installing a new book case at the assessors' office in city hall.

AMUSEMENTS

"PIFF PAFF POUF."

"Nothing succeeds like success," and of all the musical comedy successes of the past 25 years no work of this kind has been produced which has equalled the popularity of Stange, Jerome and Schwartz's "Piff Paff Pouf."—G. Whitney's musical comedy, which will be the offering at the Lawrence Opera House on Wednesday, Feb. 27, Matinee and night.
Last year this merry work played nearly all the big cities in the country and everywhere met with the most flattering reception. The reason for "Piff Paff Pouf's" popularity is easily found. In the first place it is genuinely witty. The fun is clean, there is not a line in it which even the most captious could take offense. The other reason is in the music. From the title, "Dare Devil Dorothy," an English lullaby is going down on the final act there is a flow of melody which not only pleases the ear, but also is of the quality which once heard is not easily forgotten.

ELMER STOCK CO.

When a really meritorious article appears on the mercantile market, it is usually recognized and results are quickly apparent. Just so in the theatrical profession. When a stock company of real merit appears upon the stage, the public is quick to put its stamp of approval upon it. Such a company is the Elmer Stock Co., which appears at the Opera House for a five-days' engagement on Monday. Miss DeLacy, the leading woman, and Walter Woods, the leading man, are too well known in the theatrical world at large to need any stamp of approval upon them. Their mere presence with this company is a guarantee of the quality of the Elmer Stock Co.
The list of plays, as a perusal of the titles will show, are of the highest standard. "The Sweetest Sin," and "The Way of the West," especially written for Miss DeLacy by Mr.
Woods, are new, but intensely interesting and thrilling dramas. "Man's Enemy," a great temperance production, "Dare Devil Dorothy," an English musical comedy; "All the Comforts of Home," written by William Gillette and his first great comedy success, "For the Sake of the Cause," a Russian piece of today on the boards and "Under False Colors," an operatic comedy, each—bespeaks for itself, the approbation of the theatregoing public.

AT THE COLONIAL THEATRE.

The public are treated to a treat in the current bill at the Colonial. The program is headed by the Colonial Septette in an exceptionally high-class musical production. The act depicts "Yo Olden Days" in their minute details. Several kinds of brass instruments are introduced in the number including the "witches horn" the largest instrument of its kind ever introduced into a musical extravaganza in this city. The act includes two local girls, Miss Flora Garris, a former vocalist teacher here, and Miss Lillian Garris, a cellist of ability. The reminder of the program is made up of star comedy acts, including Roscoe and Doretto, Hunter, Nessen and Hunter; Ziska and King; Pierce and Mal; Irving Jones; Madden, Fitzpatrick and Company; and the kineto-graph. Reserved seats can be ordered by phones 70 and 5552. Next week Buster and Company. In "Auntie's Visit." Seats are now on sale.

BUSTER AND HIS DOG COMING TO COLONIAL NEXT WEEK.

Oht! Buster and his dog are coming to the Colonial next week the week of Feb. 25th Buster and company will appear at the Colonial. Master Rice, a wee chap will appear as Buster and will be amply supported by Arthur Hill in the part of his dog "Spike." The cast surrounding Buster and dog includes five other people. The farce-let, headed by Buster is entitled "Auntie's Visit," and is a screaming playlet in which all the mischievous-ness of the youngster is fully demonstrated with the assistance of his dog "Spike." Special reception for ladies and children to Buster and the kineto-graph stage every afternoon during the week and souvenirs will be given.
Reserved seats can be ordered by phones 70 and 5552. Seats are now on sale.

F. HOPKINSON SMITH WILL LECTURE TONIGHT

F. Hopkinson Smith, the celebrated lecturer and reader, artist, and author will appear at the city hall this evening in the White Fund course and give a number of his far famed readings. The selection of Mr. Smith to speak in the course is a particularly happy one and many who have read his delightful short stories will eagerly grasp the opportunity of seeing and hearing him. He speaks, lectures and reads after the style in which he writes: with such simplicity, direct-ness, rare insight into character, closeness to nature and appealing humanity. Perhaps the best known of his novels are "Colonel Carter of Cartersville" while "Caib West," "Master Driver" and "Tom Grogan" are also very popular. Well known short stories of his are: "A Water-Logged Town," "Five Meals for A Dollar," "A Kentucky Cinderella," "One of Bob's Tramps," "The Other Fellow," "A Knight of the Legion of Honor" and many others equally fascinating and interesting. He has also written several well-known books of travel, including "Gondola Days," illustrated by himself, "A White Umbrella in Mexico" and "Well-Worn Roads," also illustrated by his own clever pen.

In appearance Mr. Smith is a typical Southerner, in fact, reminds one of a colonel of the old school. Two or three years ago Mr. Smith lectured in Punchard hall, Andover, and many local people were in attendance. He is tall, finely formed and makes a favorable impression instantly. His manner of reading is characterized by a restless energy and an abundance of gesture, which is very captivating.
No one could be more absolutely memorable or versatile than the creator of "Colonel Carter," for he rises early, plans lighthouses and viaducts, until 4 in the afternoon when he is Francis H. Smith and then becomes F. Hopkinson Smith until 7 p. m. and in that time does his literary work, and goes abroad every summer to rest and paint. In public reading he follows no plan but his own and has been instructed by no teacher. His voice is full and pleasant, his manner riveter and there and there is in his way of putting things and interpreting his own books a certain magnetism which never fails to hold and entertain his audience.

In art he is well known for his work in water-colors and charcoal. His taste for art appears to have been inherited, his great-grandfather, Francis Hopkinson, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, was an amateur in water-colors and his granduncle, Judge Joseph Hopkinson, was the first president of the Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia.

Miss Bertha Abercrombie, teacher of mathematics, has returned to her duties after a short illness. Mrs. L. G.
Beeley, formerly Miss S. L. Peckover, substituted.

Arthur Foster of the Arlington district, went to Boston Friday to meet his wife and family who arrived from Bradford, England, on the Saxonia of the Cunard line.

CLERK OF HEALTH BOARD GETS INCREASE IN SALARY

Objection of Syrian Church Pastor Sus- tained and Stable Permit Refused

The board of health met in special session this morning and upon motion of Dr. Eidam it was voted to increase the pay of the clerk of the board, Roscoe Doble, from $1,000 to $1,100 per year. At the last meeting of the board the request for an increase was received from Mr. Doble and after a discussion the application was taken under consideration.
It was voted to order the livery stable at 80 Lawrence street, owned by Patrick Ford and conducted by Ben Kimball, vacated. When permission is sought to conduct a livery stable within 600 feet of a church, the written sanction of the church authorities must be obtained.

The Syrian church pastor refuses to give his sanction and accordingly the board orders the place vacated.
The board refused a stable permit to Mary Richstein, on Broadway, but assents to the erection of a stable by her on Chardon street.
The board also went on a short tour of inspection.

affair, which is in charge of the men's league of the church, will be supervised entirely by the men. In the preparing and serving of the supper the men will hold full sway and if the menu as advertised is a criticism of what is to be provided, the ladies will have to look to their laurels as satisfiers of the inner man. A pleasing entertainment has been arranged and the whole program bespeaks a fitting celebration of the birth of the illustrious George.

LONGFELLOW DAY IN THE SCHOOLS

The 100th anniversary of the birth of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow will be day, the exercises commemorative of Longfellow are to be held today.

At the high school a special Longfellow day program was rendered at 10:45 o'clock. A large number of guests enjoyed the services with the pupils.
The program was as follows:

King Robert of Sicily, .....
Solo, ..... Mrs. Beeley, Violin solo, .....

Different clubs and organizations throughout the city will observe this
